MOTHER CONSENTS TO DEFECTIVE CHILD'S DEATH

Physician Refused Operation to Save Little One's Life

DOCTOR DEFENDS HIS ACTION

Conscience Would Not Permit Him to Condemn Child to Life of Imbecility.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Dr. H. J. Haiselden, who refused to perform an operation to prolong the life of the Bollinger baby, a defective infant, was today exonerated of all criminal responsibility by the coroner's physician.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The Bollinger baby, a defective infant, whose mother, on professional advice, decided it should not undergo an operation which probably would save his life, died last night. Dr. H. J. Haiselden, on whose advice the mother acted, was visited by many medical men yesterday and telephone calls alternately accused and praised him.

The principal physical deformities of the baby were the closure of the intestinal tract, paralysis of the nerve of the right side of the face, absence of the right ear, blindness of one eye and malformation of its shoulder.

Dr. Haiselden, who officiated at the birth, noticed the absence of a neck. The brain he found to be only slightly subnormal, but the cranial nerves were absent or undeveloped.

"That I do not know, but the chances are against it," Dr. Haiselden said.

The questioner cited the case of Roswell Smith of Chicago, a supposedly harmless defective who, after reaching the adult stage, killed little Hazel Weinstock, for which he was hanged.

Dr. John B. Murphy, former president of the American medical association, and physicians and professional men and women, including a number of clergymen, generally took sides with Dr. Haiselden.

Dr. Haiselden said: "The baby's life is in the hands of a higher power. Nature will provide the best remedy." Dr. Rosalie M. Ladova commented: "A life is a life and I wish Dr. Haiselden would step out and let someone else operate."

DEER HUNTER SHOT BOY HE MISTOOK FOR RACCOON

Johoseph Fountain of West Warren, Mass., Fatally Wounded

OUNCE SLUG THROUGH HEAD

Victim, with Two Companions, Resting on Rock When Fired Upon By Hunter.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 18.—One fatality marred the deer hunting on the third day of the open season yesterday. Joseph Fountain, 18 years old, was killed by a deer slug discharged from the gun of Wallace Caldwell while both were hunting about three miles west of West Warren village at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

They stopped for a rest and young Fountain was sitting on a rock between Rooney and Howard when Wallace Caldwell and Armorey J. Crossman Jr., came out of the woods in the distance.

The body was brought to West Warren where an examination disclosed the fact that the slug had entered the forehead just at the edge of the hair and had come out through the back of the skull.

Did the submarine cease firing when the Ancona came to a stop? How much time was given passengers and crew to get into the lifeboats?

What were the activities of the submarine while the ship was unloading its passengers? Was a torpedo fired while any of the passengers were aboard?

The statement from the Austrian embassy today is identical with that sent by wireless Monday from Berlin. It says the Ancona was shelled while trying to escape, but that when she stopped forty minutes was allowed for passengers and crew to get into small boats, a torpedo being fired upon when another ship appeared in response to a wireless from the Ancona.

At present the registration is only 70. It would be natural to conclude that as the veterans pass on beyond the span of three scores years and ten and become afflicted with the infirmities of advanced age that the number who would seek admission to the institution would increase yearly.

There was a registration of 116 veterans at the home in December 1909. There were 115 the following winter. In 1911 the highest figures reached were 112. Twelve months later there were at one time 107 on the roll, but in the past two years the number has been steadily declining.

BRITISH HOSPITAL SHIP ANGLIA SUNK BY MINE

Nearly a Hundred Wounded Drown in English Channel

BOUND FROM FRANCE TO DOVER

Collier Lusitania While Hurling to Assistance of Doomed Ship Hit Another Mine and Sank.

Dover, Eng., Nov. 18.—The British hospital ship Anglia was sunk by a mine in the English channel yesterday. Three hundred men were saved out of a total of 385. A statement issued at London by the official press bureau gave the news of the disaster. There were 13 officers and 372 men on board.

The following communication concerning the disaster was made public: "The war office reports that the hospital ship Anglia struck a mine in the channel today and sank. The total number on board was 13 officers and 372 men of other ranks, of whom about 300 were saved by a patrol vessel. Another ship proceeding to the rescue was also sunk by another mine."

Another official communication says: "King George was shocked to hear that the Anglia, which so recently conveyed him across the channel, had been sunk. His majesty is grieved at the loss incurred, but trusts that the survivors have not unduly suffered from their terrible exposure."

The Anglia was a merchantman which was taken over by the British admiralty after the opening of the war, and refitted as a hospital ship. She was commissioned in August of last year. There are four British steamships named Anglia. The one converted into a hospital ship is probably the former London and North-western railway steamer, 1862 tons gross. The other three steamers are small vessels. At the time she was commissioned the Anglia was in charge of Comdr. Oscar V. de Satze, retired.

A dispatch from Dover says that the Anglia, with about 300 wounded men aboard, in addition to the crew, nurses and attendants, was bound from France to Dover, when she struck a mine in mid-channel, sinking in a very short time. Nearly 100 men, most of them seriously wounded and therefore in their cots, lost their lives.

The collier Lusitania, which was near by at the time of the accident immediately went to the assistance of the Anglia and her boats had just been lowered when she also struck a mine and floundered. All her crew were saved.

A patrol vessel succeeded in rescuing 300 of the Anglia's passengers and crew, including some nurses. A number of bodies were recovered.

All men are Architects. of their own lives, but it is a pity there were no building inspectors for those who failed to include life insurance in their specifications.

DUNHAM-MILLINGTON North Bennington Young People Married at Baptist Church

One of the most elaborate weddings which has taken place in North Bennington recently was solemnized in the First Baptist church at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon when Miss Elsie Jane Millington became the bride of Kenneth Herbert Dunham.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. W. Turner. The church was decorated for the occasion with pink flowers and evergreen and the single ring service was used. The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Percy and the best man was Harold Hawkins of South Shaftsbury.

The bride wore white tulle with long white veil caught with white roses and carried a shower bouquet. The ceremony was performed beneath a bridal arch.

Following the ceremony relatives and members of the bridal party attended a reception at the home of the bride where refreshments were served in rooms decorated in evergreen and white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunham were recipients of many gifts including cut glass, silver, linen and money. Both were educated in the village schools and high school and are active in church and social circles.

Following the reception they left on a short wedding trip to Boston, following which they will make their home in North Bennington.

Many guests were present from out of town, among them Frank Dunham of Northfield, Miss Genevieve Stockwell of Rutland, Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson of Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. William Gannon of Hoosick Falls, Charles Cole, Fred Cole, Jacob Cole, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dehoney of Arlington.

Property on County Street Belonging to C. B. Hunt Destroyed. An alarm was rung from box 34 about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning for a fire in a small barn owned by C. B. Hunt and located in the rear of Mr. Hunt's lot on County street.

The structure, which was worth between $600 and $700 dollars was completely destroyed. Recently the barn had been rented to some vegetable and fruit peddlers and Mr. Hunt had no personal property in the building. Mr. Hunt stated that there was insurance of about $200 on the barn.

It is presumed that the fire was accidentally started by tramps who have been in the habit of sleeping in the barn.

All men are Architects. of their own lives, but it is a pity there were no building inspectors for those who failed to include life insurance in their specifications.

BOTH SERB ARMIES IN DESPERATE CONDITION

Must Escape Into Montenegro and Albania to Avoid Capture

BULGARS BATTERING MONASTIR

Collier Lusitania While Hurling to ers Receive Assistance From Allies.

Amsterdam, Nov. 18.—The situation of the Serbs is desperate today. Both the northern and southern armies are in danger of being captured bodily. The best that can be hoped for is that one army may be able to escape into Montenegro and the other into Albania.

Athens, Nov. 18.—The Bulgars are beating down the defence of the Serbs before Monastir today. The capture of Prilep gave the Bulgars an opening to the south toward the Greek frontier. Small bands of Serbs who are engaged in rearward fighting are hoping for assistance from the allies before Monastir falls.

London, Nov. 18.—The military as well as the diplomatic situation of the Allies in the Balkans is disquieting, if not critical. The main Serbian army, under General Putnik, which is operating in the north, is now encompassed on every side but one, and being cut off on the south by the Bulgarian advance beyond Tetovo, must depend upon the rough roads through Montenegro and Albania for supplies from the sea.

In the south the Serbian position is almost as bad. The success of the Bulgarian's flanking attack on Babuna Pass and their advance from Veleh have prevented the hoped-for junction of the Serbian and French forces. This leaves the Serbs only two lines of retreat, one in Albania, where they may be harassed by unfriendly tribes and the other across the Greek border, where they are in danger of being disarmed and interned. It is to prevent the latter eventuality that the Entente Powers are putting forth every effort, and unquestionably this matter has been discussed in Paris by the British and French ministers.

Like Italy and France, England now demands that Greece shall either join the allies or translate her benevolent neutrality toward the Entente into a clear declaration that she will attempt to disarm neither the Serbians nor the allies should they be forced back over her frontier, and that she will afford further facilities for the landing of transport allied troops.

A delayed dispatch from Saloniki says that in addition to the Bulgarian column which turned the Serbian position at Babuna Pass, a second Bulgarian force is advancing on Kpistovo from Kalkedelen.

The Bulgarians, the dispatch also says, are reported to be withdrawing from the Cerna River section, which is held by the French. The French report many desertions from the Bulgarian army.

SANG ACROSS CONTINENT Distinction for Miss Georgine Avery Well-Known in Bennington.

Miss Georgine Avery, the Troy contralto, who has visited frequently in Bennington is receiving congratulations from all parts of the state regarding her singing over the telephone from Troy to San Francisco, a distance of over 3,400 miles. Miss Avery is the first lady in the world to sing across the continent.

At the meeting of the Rotarians in Troy last Wednesday evening she sang "The Rosary" by Nevin, and as an encore "Let Us Have Peace" by Ernest Ball. The officials at the Panama-Pacific exposition wired back that the record was the best yet received, the tone quality being perfect. Miss Avery's numerous friends here are most pleased with her artistic success.
