

Backache, headache,
dragging pains
Nothing relieved me until I took Peruna

Thousands of the best women in the world are bearing the burden of backache, headache, dragging pains, a miserable half-dead, half-alive condition, produced by chronic internal derangements. Mrs. Joseph Lacelle, 124 Glenora Ave., Ottawa East, Ontario, Canada, is one of the fair women of America who has had her experience with this sort of a burden. Her experience is similar to the multitude of other women whose letters are recorded in the "Ills of Life." A copy of this free booklet ought to be in the hands of every housewife in the United States. Read what Mrs. Lacelle says:

"I suffered with backache, headache and dragging pains for over nine months, and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for these troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable half-dead, half-alive condition. I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

What Will STETSON Show This Spring?

Our patrons are always keenly interested in the answer. And here it is:

We now announce Stetsons for Spring 1916—vigorous, well-modeled hats that appeal to masculine ideas of good dress. Shapes and shades personally selected for the men of this town—soft felts and derbies—in the rich textures so intimately associated with a Stetson. As you step into our store, a salesman is ready to help you make a choice. Our service is as prompt as our Stetsons are distinctive.

News of the Town and Village Told Briefly for Busy Readers

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Levin have returned from a trip to New York.

There is to be a meeting of the K of C. ball committee Sunday afternoon and a full attendance is requested.

Edward Eugene Welch and Helen Heinz both of Pittsfield were united in marriage Saturday April 1, 1916, at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. P. L. Dow.

At the Methodist parsonage Saturday April 1, 1916, Waldo Earnest Barnes and May Catherine Welch both of Pittsfield were united in marriage by Rev. P. L. Dow.

About 20 of his friends gave John Friedmann of Putnam street a farewell party Friday evening. The young man soon leaves for Schenectady where he is to become a student in the Alco technical school.

Thoughts are now turning towards the garden. Do you know that the Library has the garden magazine on its reading table? There are also many books in the Library which may be helpful at this season.

SUITS MAY FADE

This Years Dyes Are Not Warranted Perfect.

New York, March 31.—Purchasers of new suits after the present season are warned by the National Association of Clothiers, in a circular sent out today, that if the garment fades, "they must learn to accept the situation as one over which no mill, manufacturer or retailer can exercise control."

"The complete cessation of imports of coal dyes," the letter which is sent to all retail clothing merchants in the United States continues, "the rapid exhaustion of domestic supplies, and the inadequacy of American production have caused most woolen and worsted mills to refuse color guarantees of their fabrics for the fall and winter seasons. Surely, the American public can be trusted to meet this condition cheerfully, if everybody is frank about it."

SALONIKI AIR RAIDS

Germans Reports That 200 Allied Soldiers Were Killed.

Berlin, March 31, by wireless to Tuckerton.—"Athens reports that at least two hundred Anglo-French soldiers were killed by the air attacks," says the Overseas News Agency in an item given out for publication today. "Twenty tons of explosives were detonated and numerous barracks were burned. Twenty-seven Serbian railroad cars with war material and an ammunition shed in the city were destroyed."

"Greek public opinion sharply criticizes the proceedings of the entente allies, which have exposed Saloniki to attacks, as their headquarters and military establishments are in the town. The refusal of the entente governments to pay damages caused by the air attack has caused much bitter feeling in Greek circles."

TO INSURE BANK DEPOSITS

Novel operation Being Organized in Pittsfield.

Announcement is made of plans for the formation of an insurance corporation in Pittsfield to insure bank depositors against loss. It is planned to organize the corporation under the name of the Massachusetts Bank Deposit Insurance company with a capital stock of $200,000 and a surplus of $100,000. Melville B. Melendy is the originator of the plan and it has the endorsement of leading financial and business men, bankers and insurance men particularly.

Mr. Melendy plans to make the company a Pittsfield institution. The idea is to insure bank depositors against loss by default of bank employees, failure or other contingencies. It is contended it will obviate delay in bank liquidations.

Most of the capital has been pledged by bankers in different sections of the country who will have representation on the board of directors.

How to Save Wear on Auto Brakes. In the Woman's Home Companion an automobile expert says:

"Remember that gradual application of power, whether from engine or from brakes, saves wear. When you stop push out the clutch a hundred yards off, cut down the throttle and coast to your stopping place, with the brakes applied gently. Don't come down steep hills using brakes alone. Continued use heats and wears them. Slow up at the top, slip into second gear and cut off the ignition current. The engine acts as a brake or a drag. Gravity, pulling the car down, turns the engine rapidly, and it resists. On extremely steep, rough hills use first gear."

Village Boosting

An exchange speaks truthful words in a brief editorial article on the subject of village boosting. It is quite right when it says that boosting is a form of community advancement that need not be confined to the cities, and that if the people of the village would make the most of their advantages and natural surroundings they would be able to induce many homes seekers to take up their residences within their limits.

In recent years there has been a great deal of boosting in many cities, and where this has been conducted with sense and judgment the results have been good. But city boosting is more distinctly in the line of business. Efforts are made to bring in new industries and to build up the business interests and the population and many cities have been greatly benefited along these lines by the labors of their boards of trade and other organizations.

In the village the conditions are different. Most of the business opportunities there are already improved but in most of the villages there are opportunities for improvement in other directions. Many streets and many buildings could be made more attractive at small cost. It is a rare park or public square that is not capable of betterment, in most cases without a large outlay of money. Judgment, taste, industry and prudent expenditures will do wonders for the average village, and it is time the village people should wake up to their opportunities.

But in boosting there is one important fact to be borne in mind in the villages as well as in the cities. This is that not all of the good things must be on the outside. Careful home seekers will not be attracted by elaborate public improvements for which the community is in debt. For the genuine by prosperous village there must be a business management which will enable it to have the necessary improvements without intolerable financial burdens. Finery that is owed for counts for little more in the case of a community than in the case of an individual.

Village as well as city boosting is strictly in order, but it must be intelligently done if it is to bring the desired results. Noise alone will not do the business, neither will the lavish expenditure of borrowed money. Constant watchfulness and attention to the little things, with judicious outlays where needed, will work wonders for the average village, a fact which should be more generally understood than it appears to be.—North Adams Herald.
