Equipment of Russians Easier in France.

Marseilles, Apr. 22.—The transfer of Russian troops to the western front has been talked of by military people for two or three months. The reason, as now explained, is that it is easier for Russia to arm and supply fighting material to Russian troops on the western front than on the eastern. Russia still has many hundred thousand men under training than she can use on her fighting lines because the Russian problem continues to be not how to get men but munitions. The allies can obviously provide complete equipment for Russians more easily in France than by shipping to Russia. Possibly a quarter of a million men will be sent into France this spring.

The Russian troops continue to be the center of enthusiastic demonstrations from crowds in the approaches to Camp Mirabeau, where the newly arrived force is quartered. The Russians show no ill effects of their long journey and already are engaged in exercises and drills, displaying the fine equipment and the soldierly bearing of the picked men making up the contingent. The officers of the Russian force are the recipients of rounds of receptions and of congratulatory telegrams from many allied quarters. The authorities decline to permit mention of the number of men who arrived or of the route the transports followed.

After field service held at the Orthodox Russian church at Camp Mirabeau the Russian troops paraded the principal streets of the city with flags, guns and full military equipment. The newcomers received an ovation as they passed through the densely packed crowds, the people waving handkerchiefs and flags and sending up continuous rounds of cheers.

VON DER GOLTZ DEAD

German Field Marshal Succumbs to Spotted Fever.

Amsterdam, April 22.—Baron Kolmar von der Goltz, 72, commander-in-chief of the 1st Turkish army, died Wednesday of spotted fever at the headquarters of the Turkish army, according to an official announcement received from Berlin. He had been ill 10 days.

Field Marshal von der Goltz was regarded as one of Germany's greatest strategists. He had seen extensive military service, having fought in the Austrian campaign and been on the staff of Prince Frederick Charles in the Franco-Prussian war. In 1883 he was sent to reconstruct the Turkish army, and remained in Turkey for 13 years.

In August, 1914, he was appointed military governor of the occupied part of Belgium, but in November of the same year he was relieved of this command and sent to Turkey, where he was appointed military commander at Constantinople and active minister of war. He was instrumental in forming the strong Turkish defense on the Gallipoli peninsula, and frequently predicted that the allied fleet would not be able to force a passage of the Dardanelles. He received his command as chief of the 1st Turkish army in April of last year, when he succeeded Gen. Liman von Sanders in command of the Dardanelles army. Recent dispatches reported Field Marshal von der Goltz engaged in the operations in Asiatic Turkey. Before the fall of Erzerum he was said to be bottled up in that Turkish stronghold with 80,000 troops.

CARDINAL FARLEY IS 74

Passes Birthday Attending to His Duties at Cathedral.

New York, April 21.—Cardinal Farley passed his seventy-fourth birthday yesterday in attending to his many duties at this season of the year. He officiated at high mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral and consecrated the holy oils. There were hundreds of letters and telegrams from all parts of the Roman Catholic Diocese and from the country at large congratulating the Cardinal on his birthday anniversary. Owing to the extensive demands on his time, however, he did not have the opportunity to examine many of these messages.

As this is the Lenten season no formal celebration of his birthday was arranged. His Eminence and the clergy of his household passed nearly the entire day at the cathedral. The Cardinal was said to be in excellent health.

HOW

To Plan the Vegetable Garden and Plant It

CAREFUL planning while the frost is still in the ground is a test of the successful gardener.

The garden planned a month or more in advance of first real spring days is the one from which the best results are usually obtained. In fact, many of the most desirable products of the garden are those which demand a week or two gentle nursing indoors or under the glass of the hothed. Then, too, the man with a limited amount of garden space will find it well worth his while to lay his plans well in advance.

By consulting the garden manuals and giving attention to seasons of maturity he will be able to lay out his garden so as to be able to utilize every inch of space during almost the entire season. If he does not draw up his plans before he begins to cultivate he will undoubtedly find that much valuable space has been lost through lack of forethought.

Certain vegetables grow best during the spring and early summer, while from others the best results are gained by late plantings. In many cases the soil used for the early vegetables can be reserved later in the season with later, or warm weather, vegetables. The gardener should acquaint himself with these conditions.

Beans and corn, for example, will flourish during almost the entire spring and summer. The first planting of these vegetables should be made about the beginning of May. Peas may be planted in April. From then until the 1st of August two or three weeks. This will insure the gardener a reasonable supply of these vegetables throughout the season.

A SPRING TIP.

How to Plan and Win Success in Your Gardening.

There are few things more fascinating than the development of a well planned garden. True, it will mean many hours' manual labor to prevent the weeds and insects from ruining your early spring labors, and the watering can or the garden hose will have to be called into use frequently, but labor will pay large dividends in benefits to the gardener, to say nothing of the reduction in the weekly budget of the household.

The tomato vines will need to be tied up and watched for cut worms, the corn will have to be hoed and so will the beans; the lettuce will have to be transplanted and the beets thinned out, and there will be a hundred and one other precautions that will have to be taken to insure the proper results, but each operation will have its special benefits and lessons that will more than repay for the trouble.

And during the development of his garden the wise gardener will note his successes and defeats and store that information away for use the following year. Every failure will be an experience to be avoided the following year and every success an experience to be cherished upon. He will learn things for himself, and every bit of knowledge gained in that way will be worth a whole chapter written for his benefit by some one else.

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR PIANO

PIANO—Half the pianos of this country catch cold exactly as we do. They get hoarse or have a cough or a stiff nose or some similar complaint, which cannot be cured by home remedies, but which requires tedious and expensive doctoring.

In order to prevent these avoidable ailments a piano should be kept in a moderately warm room, where the temperature is even, say 60 or 70 degrees, the year round, not cold one day and hot the next. The instrument should not, however, be too near the source of heat. It should be kept closed and covered with a felt cloth when not in use, particularly in frosty weather. Always place the piano close to, but not against an inside wall.

HOW TO FIX TEARS IN BRONZE KID SHOES

When the Children Stub Them.

Often when bronze kid shoes are almost new a small piece of the kid will get torn off or turn up and still remain hanging to the shoe. Straighten out the wrinkles, moisten the glue flap, apply quickly to both raw sides of the kid, press into place and hold firmly for a few minutes. The glue of the stamp or envelope flap is so evenly spread that there is no surplus amount to run on to the outside of the kid, making it sticky. This can also be used to mend most any kind of soft kid shoes.

HOW TO TREAT A BAD HEADACHE THAT COMES FROM NERVES.

In cases of violent headaches that frequently acts as a great relief to bathe the forehead with a sponge wrung out of very hot water. Repeat this as often as the sponge cools. When the head feels rested dash on cold water, wipe dry and lie down for awhile, keeping the eyes closed. Next sit up and turn the head around from side to side slowly until tired. This will have a wonderfully beneficial effect on the circulation and will ward off headache if persisted in.
