

The Bennington & Dorset Autobusses

are now in full operation, giving the public a very complete service—there being four North Bound and four South Bound trips each day. The Fare for the full distance one way is One Dollar.

A dollar takes you out until you meet the inward bound car and brings you back on that car, giving you a thirty-mile ride. Try it now. The cars are easy and pleasant to ride in and the roads are not dusty Cars leave the Putnam House, Bennington, at 7:30, 10:00, 1:00 and 4 o'clock each day, including Sundays, and leave the Dorset Inn, Dorset, at the same hours.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Bennington Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Bennington citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. Henry Pulver, 172 Beach St., Bennington, says: "I worked hard and was on my feet constantly and as the result, my kidneys became disordered. My back was lame and sore and I had headache and dizzy spells. The kidney secretions caused me annoyance. A friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply at Cole's Drug Store. I noticed improvement from the first and after I had used two boxes, the headache left and my kidneys became normal."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mr. Pulver said: "Kidney complaint has never returned since I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Pulver has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn, Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SECRETS OF SPACE

What Might Be Revealed if Nature Lifted the Veil.

WONDERS OF THE INVISIBLE.

Evidence That What We Call the Universe Is Only a Part of a Far Grand and Perhaps Infinite System of Suns and Worlds and Planets.

Men of science have found reasons for believing that there may be, far off in infinite space, other material systems besides the one visible to us. We seem to be able with modern telescopes to reach the boundaries or farthest limits of the stellar system to which our sun belongs.

It is found that with increase of distance the relative number of stars decreases until, in most directions at least, a point is reached beyond which virtually no more stars can be seen. Then, too, it has been found that the stellar system has a fairly definite shape—a fact which in itself implies boundaries. The shape is that of a vast spiral, with curving arms surrounding a central agglomeration. If you will imagine floating in the middle of the room where you sit a roughly globular swarm of bright particles, distributed with a fair degree of uniformity as to distance from one another, and then outside of the swarm surrounding it, but separated from it by a space which is nearly but not quite empty, an irregular spiral ring of similar shining particles, you will have before you a picture of one of the latest astronomical conceptions of the form of the visible universe.

The central swarm will represent the assemblage of stars of which our sun is a modest member, while the enveloping spiral will represent the immense system of the Milky way, whose stars are vastly more numerous than those composing the globular swarm. The stars of the Milky way are the most distant members of the entire system, which appears to be shut in all around by black space. Viewed from afar off in the ebon depths of that space, this universe of ours would resemble a phosphorescent jellyfish, with faintly sparkling tentacles, afloat in the sea of immensity.

This being so, the question naturally arises, May there not be, or must there not be, an indefinite number of other such systems scattered through the limitless expanse of space? That question would forever remain a matter of pure conjecture if we did not have certain very suggestive facts which seem to indicate that it ought to be answered in the affirmative.

The facts of which I speak are objects of visual observation. But that does not necessarily make them parts of the "visible universe," because they appear to be unconnected with it and to lie beyond its boundaries.

These objects are known as spiral nebulae. The photographs that have been made of them in the past few years are simply amazing. The forms of many are surprisingly like that which has been described above as characterizing the stellar system. They have central agglomerations with enveloping spirals. They have knots of light which recall the globular clusters of stars found in the visible universe, but they are so distant that no separate stars can be detected in them.

They look like masses of more or less condensed glowing gas, but the spectroscopic shows that the light coming from them is not that which is characteristic of gaseous nebulae, but that which belongs to true stars. The inference is that these wonderful objects may actually be other universes lying out in the ocean of space beyond our shores.

This inference is strengthened by what we know of the distance of some of these objects. The utmost diameter of the great spiral of the Milky way probably does not exceed from 4,000 to 6,000 "parsecs," or from 800 to 1,200 million times the earth's distance from the sun. A parsec, which corresponds to a parallax of one second of arc, equals about 19,000,000,000,000 (nineteen trillion) miles. But some of the spiral nebulae appear to be at least 10,000 parsecs distant.

If that is so there exists between them and the outer frontiers of the visible universe a gap far broader than the entire diameter of that universe. It can hardly be supposed, then, that they are outlying parts of or attendants upon our universe, but it is much more reasonable to conclude that they are other universes constructed on a similar plan, but so far away that as viewed with our utmost visual powers, our mightiest telescopes, they are but gleaming specks! Perhaps the nearest of these strange objects is the Andromeda nebula, which, in a small telescope, looks like a faint spindle shaped wisp.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

SENATOR HENRY CABOT LODGE

On the Constructive Work of SENATOR CARROLL S. PAGE

The following very interesting correspondence which appeared last week in the Montpelier Argus is self explanatory. Neither Senator Page nor any of his friends was aware of this correspondence until ex-State Senator Clark King caused its publication in the Argus. We give it as it appeared without change or adornment.

Montpelier, Vt., July 14, 1916

Editor of Montpelier Argus:

Dear Sir: Will you please allow a place in the Argus for what I have to say in regard to the U. S. senatorial contest and oblige. So much has been said in the Argus which has been copied mostly from other papers about Senator Page not being of any account in Congress, having done nothing in the eight years he has been there and other things said about him which were not very meritorious to say the least, which were not true as can be proved by what his colleagues say of him in Congress. What has Senator Page done for Vermont? He has a large business in Hyde Park and employed a good amount of help in his hide and calfskin business for many years and has paid the farmers, also others, a large amount of money for hides and calfskins here in Vermont and has paid largely for advertising at the same time, this is all true. What has ex-Governor Fletcher, who wants to be at this time Senator, done for Vermont? His business has mostly been after office as near as I can find out, and at the present time is paying a large amount of money for advertising to succeed Senator Page in Congress, and is doing his best to get it. Republicans of Vermont will soon decide this at the primaries. I am pleased to offer as proof what is said of Senator Page by one of the ablest Republicans in Congress, Hon. H. C. Lodge, in reply to a letter I wrote him for information in regard to Senator's Page's services in congress, and ask to have it printed in the Argus, so that Republicans can know the truth in regard to Senator Page's services in Congress. Having received this reliable information from a source which cannot well be doubted, it seems now that Senator Page is entitled to a re-election to Congress. This is from one that believes in a square deal in politics as well as in business.

Very truly yours,
H. C. LODGE.

Respectfully submitted,
CLARK KING.

UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, D. C., July 17, 1916

My dear sir:

I have received your letter of July 14. You will understand of course, that it would not be fitting for me, a senator from another state, to take sides in a contest between Republicans, all members of my own party, in Vermont. But in reply to questions you ask about Senator Page it is entirely proper for me to say that I have known Senator Page ever since he entered the Senate eight years ago. He and I are friends and my relations with him have always been most pleasant. He is recognized by all his colleagues as most hardworking, capable senator very industrious and careful, a very valuable and diligent member of all the committees to which he belongs and he has taken a conspicuous part in all tariff discussions since he entered the Senate. He is, however, particularly identified with the bill for vocational education, a measure of the utmost importance, to which he gave many months of careful study. Having framed the bill he then, by his persistence and determination, finally carried it through the Senate. Although it failed in the House, this does not in the least detract from the deserved distinction which Senator Page earned by his admirable work and by his championship of this important measure. His ability and activity in the work of the Senate are unquestioned by any one who is familiar with that body.

Very truly yours,
H. C. LODGE.

Respectfully submitted,
CLARK KING.
