

Many Young Men Who Talk About Making Their Way In the Battle of Life Seem to Expect the Fighting Will Be Done on the Piazza

HOTEL PROPRIETOR FATALLY SHOOT YOUNG WIFE

Mrs. George W. Duncan of Rutland Victim of Husband's Jealous Rage

MAN TRIED TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Couple Had Quarrel and Woman Had Instituted Proceedings for Divorce.

Rutland, Aug. 7.—George W. Duncan, lessee of the Holland house, is in the county jail charged with the murder of his young wife who died last night as the result of a bullet wound inflicted by her husband in a fit of jealous rage.

The shooting occurred at the home of Edward Dezero, 146 Liberty avenue, whose wife is Mrs. Duncan's niece, and Duncan fired four shots at his wife from pointblank range, one taking effect in the abdomen near the left groin and the others going wild. It is said Duncan had been drinking.

Duncan and his wife had some trouble at the hotel a week ago, according to the statement of witnesses, caused by Duncan's jealousy, and the man tried to choke her, alleging misconduct and levity. He was restrained from doing her an injury at that time, but turned her out of the hotel in a violent fit of anger.

Mrs. Duncan immediately went to the home of her niece and has been living there since. Saturday night Duncan purchased a new 32 calibre revolver from one of the local sporting goods stores, telling the clerk he was going on a trip and would need the pistol for defense.

Mr. and Mrs. Dezero and Mrs. Duncan had been sitting on the veranda for most of the evening and were preparing to retire at 10:30 when Duncan made his appearance. He walked into the house without a word but appeared to be in an amiable frame of mind. The four people retired to the kitchen where they talked for 20 minutes.

Mrs. Dezero was sitting in one corner of the room, her husband in another and Mrs. Duncan between them in a rocking chair, on a line from a bedroom door to the rear entrance of the house. Duncan begged leave to see his son, Kenneth, a lad of five years, who was asleep in the bedroom. While in the room, he blew out the lamp. He came back to the kitchen and remained there for five minutes when he again said he would like to see his child.

This time the man went into the bedroom as if he intended to lie down. As he passed into the darkened chamber he turned, backed up against the bed where his little son lay and pulled out his revolver.

Duncan shouted: "I'm out for business and I'm going to make good."

Duncan then fired four times through the door in rapid succession aiming directly at his wife who sat facing the door with the light full in her face.

One of the bullets found its mark and Mrs. Duncan crumpled to the floor. Duncan then turned the pistol to his head and attempted to pull the trigger but was frustrated by Dezero who had crept along the floor, jumped and grabbed the man's arm.

Dezero pulled the frenzied man to the floor while his wife took the gun from his hand. Wilfred Noel, a relative, who was rooming in the house, came to Dezero's assistance and held Duncan to the floor.

Duncan made little resistance and was removed to the county jail. City Grand Juror C. E. Novak was summoned and the man was arrested on his warrant owing to the absence of State's Attorney C. V. Oplia. Dr. Gebhardt sat with the wounded woman through the greater part of the night. She was removed yesterday morning in the Stearns' ambulance to the hospital.

Duncan is about 30 years old, and his wife was 27. They have been married for several years and have one son, Kenneth, a boy five years old. A week ago today, Mrs. Duncan petitioned for a divorce. An injunction and restraining order were issued and the hearing was set for last Saturday morning before Judge F. M. Butler, but was not held owing to the failure of Duncan to appear.

COUNTER ATTACKS REGAIN GROUND FOR GERMANS

Australians Forced Out of Trenches in Face of Liquid Fire

BRITISH HOLD SOME POSITIONS

London Claims Allies Eventually Lost But Forty Yards of One Trench.

London, Aug. 6.—The Germans delivered two strong counterattacks early this morning against the positions captured yesterday by the Australians northwest of Pozieres, on the Somme front. Fighting also continues to the east as far as the Bois des Fourreaux, (High Wood).

The Australians advance yesterday was in the nature of a surprise attack, and they swept through six lines of trenches without any serious opposition. The Germans returned for the inevitable counterattacks today, and at one point forced back the British line with the use of liquid fire. Later, however, according to the British official report this evening, all but about forty yards of one trench was retaken.

In the direction of Martinpuich, northeast of Pozieres, the British report a slight advance. Elsewhere on the British front today there were the usual trench raids and artillery bombardments.

TRIED AIR SHIPS

Principal Mabrey and Henry Bradford Passengers.

The Santa Barbara, Calif., Press of July 26 had the following of interest to Bennington people: Allan Loughhead had an opportunity late yesterday to prove to his own satisfaction and to the satisfaction also of a passenger and of many spectators that his hydroplane is perfectly safe even though the engine gets "dead." After more than 25000 flights in this machine without a single stoppage because of engine trouble or for other reasons, Mr. Loughhead had his first serious test. When he was at an altitude of about 200 feet two screws in the magnet broke—as he found afterward—and he noticed that the engine was slowing up. He started to descend, and made a perfect landing in the water. Had he been given two seconds more time, he would have brought the machine on its runway, but he was towed to shore by Captain Gourley.

Keith Johnston of San Ysidro was his passenger. Mr. Johnston stated afterward that he did not know there was any trouble until Mr. Loughhead told him, after the landing had been safely made.

Many persons on the beach, including several from San Ysidro, friends of Mr. Johnston, who saw the light, applauded the work of the aviator, and expressed greater confidence than ever in the safety of hydroplaning. So pleased were several of the San Ysidro people that they immediately arranged for flights.

Before this incident, Mr. Loughhead made several flights, his passengers including F. D. Mabrey and H. E. Bradford of Bennington, Vt., guests at the Potter and Mr. Worden of San Ysidro. Mr. Mabrey and Mr. Bradford were so delighted that they are to make further trips and Mr. Worden also became an enthusiast.

The injury to the engine is of minor consequence and will be immediately repaired, with the hydroplane again in commission today.

JENNINGS VERMONT CHAMP

Defeats Barber 5 and 4 in Finals at Rutland

F. B. Jennings, Jr., of New York, representing the Mount Anthony country club of Bennington Saturday won the 36-hole final match for the Vermont state championship at Rutland, defeating W. A. Barber, Jr., also of New York, who played for the Ekwanok country club of Manchester, 5 up and 4 to play. Jennings gained his lead in the last part of the morning round. Barber reduced the advantage to three in the afternoon, but was unable to carry the match to the 14th green. Both are former Vermont state champions.

PLAYGROUND NOTES.

"All aboard for Joyville" is the latest song hit at the playground pavilion. Let's go. Fancy hand work for the girls on Tuesday and Thursday.

The Hunters will meet Fleming's nine at 6:45 tonight on the playground. The boys are learning hand stands and hand stands and many other gymnastic stunts.

The playground stunts and tricks are very popular. Come to the playground and Mr. Mann will gladly teach you some tricks that father and mother will be delighted to see you do. Tumbling pyramids will be on Tuesday afternoon.

ITALIAN STEAMER REPELS ATTACK OF 3 U-BOATS

Re D'Italia Had Three American Passengers on Board

ARRIVED AT NEW YORK SUNDAY

Steamer Used Her Guns So Effectively Submarines Were Unable to Fire Torpedoes.

New York, Aug. 6.—The Italian steamship Re D'Italia with three American passengers on board from Genoa, Italy, was chased for seven hours by three submarines while in the Mediterranean and was saved from capture or destruction by use of defense guns mounted aft, according to the report of her master, Capt. Amedeo Pincelli, on the arrival of the ship here today. The captain said he believed one of the submarines was hit by one of the shots fired, although his only evidence was the appearance of the column of water which rose in the air where the shell fell.

No shots were fired at the Re D'Italia, the captain said, and all he saw of the submarines were the periscopes. They were discovered by the lookout at 8:30 a. m. on July 23 when the vessel was about 200 miles from Genoa, midway between the Italian Islands and the island of Corsica. They were then one and one-half miles dead stern.

Capt. Pincelli ordered the speed of his ship increased to her full capacity, about 12 knots an hour. Then he summoned the crew of naval gunners on board and took personal command of them.

"About 9:45 the submarines were slightly ahead on the starboard quarter traveling in a line," Capt. Pincelli said. "Seeing that they were chasing us I ordered the gunners to open fire. The third shot, I believe, took effect, as the spot of water that followed the falling of the shell was much different from that caused by the preceding shots. It was much heavier and apparently impregnated with smoke on only two periscopes were to be seen."

"The chase continued until 4:30 that afternoon, the boats not getting any closer to us nor showing themselves. We kept on firing at them, in all 15 shots, from our two 3-inch naval guns. After our third shot the submarines evidently tried to get in a position to launch a torpedo, but we no doubt afraid to come to the surface to get better speed because of our guns. No flag was seen and there was no way to determine their nationality, but their wake as seen through glasses indicated that they were big ones."

The three American passengers on the Re D'Italia were Frank Anderson of Philadelphia, a veterinary surgeon, Paul Edwards of Jersey City and James Higgins of Cincinnati, who had gone over in charge of a consignment of horses.

The Re D'Italia is a vessel of 6237 tons, owned by the Italian Lloyd Sabaudo.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Annual Competition to Start August 17.

The tournament promises to be one of the fastest ever held as the best players of Bennington have entered and are ready to defend their skill and ability to come across with the unexpected.

August 17th is the date for the first game and on that day some classy playing will be seen on the playground court where all games will be played. The playground court is fast and any one can play on the court for one hour by signing up.

A separate tournament for girls has been planned and girls should register with Miss Dunham or Mr. Mann.

Rules governing the tournament can be seen on the bulletin board at the Y. M. C. A. or at the playground.

MALON-GALLIPO

Well-Known Bennington Couple Married Early This Morning

William J. Malon of Gage street and Miss Theresa M. Gallipo of Pratt street were united in marriage this morning at 6:30 at the Sacred Heart church by the Rev. Father Prevost. Both bride and groom have lived in Bennington all their lives and have many friends who wish them all future happiness. Mr. Malon is employed in the E. Z. Walnut factory.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Malone took the early train to New York city where they will remain several days and later visit various points in New Jersey. After their return, they expect to keep house in Gage street.

SCION OF OLD ADAMS FAMILIES

Lawrence B. LaMonte Killed in Trenches at Verdun.

News has been sent to Miss Jennie Crowell of Summer street of the death of her cousin, Lawrence B. LaMonte, grandson of the late Stool Dean of Adams and a descendant of two of Adams' earliest families, pioneer manufacturers in the Berkshire hills. The LaMontes came from the British government to LaMonte's aunt, Mrs. M. L. Ely of Alaska. Mr. LaMonte was an officer of the 14th Canadian platoon of the king's royal rifle corps. He was struck by a bullet while in the trenches at Verdun and died in the hospital at Dames Camier.

He lived in Bennington, N. Y., when a boy and was graduated from Hamilton college and Princeton university. He belonged to Chi Psi fraternity. He had traveled around the world, was in business in South Africa and took part in the Boer war. He at one time belonged to the Canadian mounted police. He had done much writing and was successful in his literary work.

PITTSFIELD WOMAN DEAD AT 102

Mrs. Rose Gordon First Attended by Physician Six Weeks Ago.

Mrs. Rose V. Gordon, 102, Pittsfield's oldest resident, died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her son, Isadore Gordon, at 19 Chat ham hill, Pittsfield. Mrs. Gordon had never in her life been attended by a physician until six weeks ago, when a trouble incident to old age brought on a general breakdown. Mrs. Gordon was born in Canada and had lived in Pittsfield for the past 75 years. She married Albert Gordon in Canada, when she was 16 years old, and he died in the 70th year of their married life.

FIFTH DEATH AT NORTH ADAMS

Case Not Diagnosed as Infantile Paralysis Until Yesterday.

Robert H. Bastien of 84 Richview avenue died yesterday morning of infantile paralysis. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bastien, and had been ill since Thursday. No physician was called until Saturday, and diagnosis was not made until yesterday, shortly before he died. This is the fifth death since the disease first made his appearance in North Adams about six weeks ago.

TENNIS COURT DANCE

Second Entertainment of Series Will Be Held Wednesday Evening.

The third dance of the series of dances given for the benefit of the tennis court fund will be held Wednesday evening of this week at library hall. This dance is given by the young people in order to raise money for the much needed tennis court at the playground.

Hurley's orchestra will furnish the music and arrangements are being made so everyone will be able to keep cool and happy.

ALBERT L. DOUGLASS KILLED

St. Johnsbury Road Commissioner Victim of Auto Accident.

St. Johnsbury, Aug. 6.—Albert L. Douglass, 61 years old, road commissioner of this town for several years, was fatally injured about 6:30 o'clock this evening, and the driver of the big motor truck in which he had a party of excursionists were returning from a trip to the mountains, lost control of the machine which dashed up an incline and turned turtle over a small embankment, plowing the eight occupants to the ground. Mr. Douglass died an hour later as a result of the accident, his condition being so serious that he could not be moved to St. Johnsbury. Others in the car received minor injuries and bruises about the face and arms. Joseph Duce suffered a broken collar bone and Mrs. Ernest Fauslain was hurt about the chest and back.

CASEMENT CALLED MARTYR

Service Called Notable and His End Cruel.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—(via London).—The execution of Roger Casement is commented upon liberally in the German press. Casement is called an idealist and martyr, whose efforts to better the lot of the Belgian Congo and Putumayo natives will be remembered in history as much as his ill-fated struggle in behalf of Ireland.

So far it has not been explained here whether Casement was shot or hanged the former course is believed doubtful because Casement was sentenced by a civil court. Until the last hour the opinion prevailed here that commutation of Casement's sentence was certain.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Ambassador Page advised the State Department today that he had presented at the British Foreign Office yesterday the Senate resolution requesting President Wilson to urge Great Britain to extend clemency to Irish political offenders. He said the resolution was received without comment.

WEATHER FORECAST

For eastern New York and western Vermont probably showers tonight and Tuesday. No so warm in north portion.

VONHINDENBURG'S GENIUS CHECKING SLAV ADVANCE

Germany's Master Campaigner Directing Affairs on Eastern Front

TEUTONS RECAPTURE ONE VILLAGE

Russians, However, Have So Protected Flanks That Direct Progress Toward Kovel Continues.

Petrograd, Aug. 6.—Since the loss of Brody by the Austrians and the successful operations of the Russians against the Germans, which resulted in their gaining the whole of the line along the Stokhod and the capture of several fortified villages considerably west of this river on the direct route to Kovel, the situation on the Russian General Brusiloff's front has remained virtually unaltered.

The Russians by no means have lost control of the initiative, but another wave of more energetic German resistance has set in and the newly organized German army, which is composed of all available reserves and fresh recruits, has undertaken the task of changing its tactics from passive resistance to a most active counter-offensive. Field Marshal von Hindenburg's personal direction of the operations in this field is, apparently, but it is not thought possible by the Russian observers that he can more than check temporarily the advance of the Russian forces upon Kovel.

The Russians have succeeded in consolidating all the positions they won in the recent battle between the Stokhod and Kovel, except one village, which they were compelled to yield before a determined German counter-attack. Meantime the Russians, by gaining control of the northern part of the Stokhod, where it crosses the Insk marshes, seemingly have effectively eliminated all danger of further flank attacks by the Germans and are now in a position to continue their progress along the direct routes to Kovel without fear of the possible encircling of their right wing.

CORNER STONE EXERCISES

First Dedication of New Hospital Building on August 16

Good progress is being made with the plans for the corner stone exercises at the site of the new Henry W. Putnam Memorial Hospital building now in process of construction. It is not the intention of the building committee of the hospital association to arrange for an elaborate program. What the committee is seeking to accomplish is the co-operation of all the civic and social organizations in order that the participation in the exercises may be as extensive as possible. No institution can have a closer relation to each and every individual in a community than a hospital. Illness and accident are inevitable features of every day life and no one is exempt. Instead of seeking to carry out an extensive plan of exercises the committee desire that the parade on the morning of Wednesday, August 16, shall be thoroughly representative of Bennington. At the last meeting of the village board of trustees it was arranged by Chairman North of the fire committee and Chief Sears that the fire department should incorporate its annual exercises on the 16th into the public parade.

The Bennington board of trade is taking an active part in the arrangements for the parade and an effort is being made to put in the line of march the largest possible number of organizations.

The committee has not been able to definitely decide on the order of exercises at the building but information on this feature of the day will be forthcoming in a day or two.

NEW YORK STREET RAILWAY STRIKE NEARING END

Employees and Officials Perfecting an Agreement Today

MEN RECEIVE MORE WAGES

Right to Organize Recognized and Strikers Will Not Lose Rating With Companies.

New York, Aug. 7.—There is every reason to believe that the big strike of street railway employees is as good as settled. Representative of the Amalgamated Street and Electric Railway Employees association and officials of the companies are in session to conclude the agreement which was reached yesterday afternoon.

This agreement contains provisions that striking employees shall be treated without prejudice in the future, the right to organize is recognized, employees are to lose none of the privilege gained through long service and certain increases in wages are stipulated. Theodore J. Shonts, president of the New York Railway company, is satisfied with the provisions of the agreement and it is believed that the other companies will follow his lead.

TO REPEAT TRAGEDY

Julius Caesar Will Be Again Presented Tomorrow Evening.

Editor of the Banner: The Public Welfare Association has decided upon a change of plans. It proposes that the repetition of Julius Caesar, which was announced at the performance Saturday afternoon, for Tuesday evening shall be given without charge. The feeling is that the whole spectacle is so brilliant and fascinating, with the wonderful charm of the surroundings in this perfect out of door theatre, and that the play itself has such fine interest and educational value, that all the people of Bennington should have the opportunity of seeing it.

Therefore, through the kindness of particularly interested individuals, this performance on Tuesday night will be a subscription one and the general public will be admitted free. The presence of children would not be desirable, but all persons from the high school age up will be most welcome, and are urged to attend this final presentation.

May I be permitted to express my appreciation for the deep appreciation which we feel of the work of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elliot in the organization of the play and in carrying it through to such successful issue. I have stood behind the scenes, I have had my part in the rendition, and I have marvelled at the mastery which these friends have shown of the minute details and of the execution of the whole. Mr. Elliot has not only acted his most difficult and taxing role in a wonderfully effective way, he has also ordered and controlled everything with a quickness of wit and a steadiness and poise both on and off the stage that have evoked from the entire cast the greatest admiration. We feel individually the profoundest gratitude for his patience with us and his good-humored kindness. The public ought to know this, and I have pleasure in setting it down here.

I wonder if some people are not a little afraid of Shakespeare. They fear a Shakespearean play is heavy—so far shy of attending this sort of theatre. In that case they are making the mistake of their theatrical lives. To see Julius Caesar, for example, is to understand it, and to be thrilled by the story, and to live in a past which really was. We who are amateurs, have done the best we could in the time at our command with our interpretations. It has been good fun. Well aware of how far short our performances come of the perfect professional art, still we have entered into this thing with a relish and an enthusiasm which will stay with us a long while. We ask no reward for this hard work in midsummer other than the sharing with us on the part of the many the enjoyment of this great Shakespearean tragedy.

George S. Mills.

ARLINGTON

Sergeant W. C. Irishman of the Bennington detail now stationed in Arlington will be in the store of the G. G. Callinan Co., from four to eight o'clock Wednesday, August 9, to interview men contemplating enlistment in the Vermont National Guard. All men enlisted will be sent to Fort Ethan Allen and from there will go to the border when the units to which they are assigned are ordered out. The men now at the fort are expecting orders to join the regiment the latter part of the week.

MATINEE JULIUS CAESAR CREATES ENTHUSIASM

Daylight Production Saturday Afternoon Enthusiastically Received

BENEFIT TOMORROW NIGHT

Final Presentation Will Be Without Admission in Honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot.

Julius Caesar, the most generally read of Shakespeare's tragedies, Saturday afternoon was given its third production by the organization of Bennington people under the auspices of the Public Welfare association. It was the only matinee performance and while the audience was enthusiastic in its praise of the really wonderful work of the amateur actors, those who had been present on one or both of the preceding evenings, insisted that the daylight production lacked much of equaling the play as it was given at night. They also insisted that the voices of the actors appeared to have better carrying power at night than during daylight.

One who has attended any of the productions of the tragedy is impressed by two features: 1st, that so large a company of amateurs in the limited time that has been available could so thoroughly learn the lines of what are professionally considered difficult parts; 2d, that so many persons could be trained in a brief period of time to carry out the detail of a Shakespearean play as it was presented in Clark's Wood's Saturday afternoon.

There was not a false move from the instant that the mob tumbles upon the stage in the first act until the tragedy closes with the death of Brutus. No one hesitated; no one hesitated; even the mob moved as under the hypnotic spell of an individual mind.

While the community is justified in assuming to itself a considerable amount of pride because of the excellence of the production, the major portion of the credit must of course go to the master actor, Mr. Elliot, the inspiration of whose talent carried his pupils to heights they could not otherwise have attained, and to the directing genius of Mrs. Elliot which was almost uncanny in the results it secured.

As an appreciation of the able and untiring efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot it has been arranged to repeat the play tomorrow evening. This final production is given in order that a larger number of Bennington people may by their presence make a partial acknowledgment of their indebtedness to these two residents who in this instance, and in others, have generously given so much of their time, their untiring energy and their valuable knowledge to this community.

The presentation will be absolutely free to all and the public is invited. It is given by the welfare association to the public and all who attend will find it one of the greatest entertainments they ever saw.

JAMES BURNS DEAD

One of Bennington's Oldest Residents Died Sunday Morning.

James Burns, Sr., of Maple street passed away early Sunday morning at his home on the corner of Maple and Spring streets where he had resided for the past 59 years. His death was due to a general breakdown, from which his 75 years rendered a recovery impossible.

Mr. Burns was born in Ireland and came to Bennington when he was about 15 years of age and has resided here ever since on the same spot where his house now stands. During his long residence here, Mr. Burns made many close friends by his loyal friendship and genial humor and his death is a loss both to Bennington and his host of acquaintances.

Mr. Burns is survived by two sons, John and James, both of Bennington and by six daughters, the Meses Elizabeth, Maria and Nellie Burns, Mrs. W. H. Lundergan, Mrs. Martin Kearns, all of Bennington and Mrs. J. E. Matson of Troy. He is also survived by two grandchildren, William Lundergan and Francis Kearns of Bennington.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning from the St. Francis de Sales church and Rev. T. R. Cary will officiate. The burial will be in Park Lawn cemetery.
