

How to avoid Operations

These Three Women Tell How They Escaped the Dreadful Ordeal of Surgical Operations.

Hospitals are great and necessary institutions, but they should be the last resort for women who suffer with ills peculiar to their sex. Many letters on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., prove that a great number of women after they have been recommended to submit to an operation have been made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here are three such letters. All sick women should read them.

Marinette, Wis.—"I went to the doctor and he told me I must have an operation for a female trouble, and I hated to have it done as I had been married only a short time. I would have terrible pains and my hands and feet were cold all the time. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was cured, and I feel better in every way. I give you permission to publish my name because I am so thankful that I feel well again."
—Mrs. FRED BENNIS, Marinette, Wis.

Detroit, Mich.—"When I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was so run down with female troubles that I could not do anything, and our doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. I could hardly walk without help so when I read about the Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others I thought I would try it. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and used them according to directions. They helped me and today I am able to do all my work and I am well."
—Mrs. THOS. DWYEN, 989 Milwaukee Ave., East, Detroit, Mich.

Bellevue, Pa.—"I suffered more than tongue can tell with terrible bearing down pains and inflammation. I tried several doctors and they all told me the same story, that I never could get well without an operation and I just dreaded the thought of that. I also tried a good many other medicines that were recommended to me and none of them helped me until a friend advised me to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. The first bottle helped, I kept taking it and now I don't know what it is to be sick any more and I am picking up in weight. I am 20 years old and weigh 145 pounds. It will be the greatest pleasure to me if I can have the opportunity to recommend it to any other suffering woman."
—Miss IRENE FROELICHER, 1923 Manhattan St., North Side, Bellevue, Pa.

If you would like special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Rich Affidavit.

Elsewhere in this issue The Herald publishes the affidavit of Arthur M. Rich, made in Boston and supported by the report of a personal investigation by The Herald's representative.

This affidavit cannot be the document referred to in Senator Page's advertisements, published during the week of Aug. 29th, but it probably covers the same matter which the Senator denied in such a curiously premature fashion, before it had been published anywhere.

After this advertisement appeared, The Herald announced that if such a document were procurable, it would proceed to procure and publish it, as it very evidently contained matters of public interest. This promise is now fulfilled.

The reader may judge of the question of veracity involved in the conflict between the sworn testimony of Arthur M. Rich and the positive denial of Senator Page—or his publicity agents, which appeared ten days ago. The Herald believes Mr. Rich to be a credible witness, and his character for honesty and truth is vouched for not only by citizens of his own town, but by the Barron Monitor, a newspaper published in the same county.

To The Herald's notion, the serious part of the Rich testimony is not so much the question of whether he was required to pay over part of his compensation to Senator Page's private secretary, but the fact, supported by public records, that Donald H. Scribner, a relative by marriage of Senator Page, was carried on the government payroll as clerk of a Senate committee, and, according to all available evidence, never resided in Washington or rendered any service therefor.

Senator Page's Record.

"Senator Page's record is an open book and that book is the Congressional Record," says a campaign document recently issued on his behalf. Yet we venture to say that the Congressional Record contains no information concerning Senator Page's "service" to his country at the time of the Civil war; and if we mistake not there will be nothing in the reports of the present vitally important congressional proceedings to show that Senator Page was "sticking close to the job." Where is the Lamotte county statesman just at present? Is he in Washington, where he ought to be, or in Hyde Park?—Brattleboro Reform.

Seven of Every 10 People Are Far-Sighted.
In other words their eyes are too short from the front or cornea back the retina. Rays of light cannot focus without eye-strain in far sight eyes.
Most children are born far sighted, and as they start school quite you before their eyes have had time to grow into normal condition, they are overtaxed, which results in permanent (Hyperopia, or) far sight.
This far-sight causes severe eye-strain, headaches and other nervous symptoms.
We have made special study of these conditions and can give full relief by correctly fitting lenses to focus the rays of light on the back of the eye without strain.
When the print blurs or you have headaches, have us examine your eyes.
