BRANDON WOMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS

Says She Is So Happy Over Recovery By Taking Tanlac She Wants To Tell Everybody.

"I am perfectly well now and feel as happy over my recovery I just want to tell everybody about Tanlac," said Mrs. Rose Weasor, who lives on Gipsy Ave., Brandon, Vermont.

"About a year ago my health seemed to break down all at once and, in spite of everything I could do, I grew worse instead of better. My nerves collapsed and my stomach also became badly disordered and my appetite got so poor that I hardly cared whether I ate anything or not. I suffered terribly from gas on my stomach and often got out of bed and walked the floor trying to get relief. My kidneys worried me a great deal and I was troubled also with frequent spells of dizziness. I lost a lot of sleep and began to fall off in weight rapidly. I was simply a wreck and had to stop and rest.

"But Tanlac has certainly made a difference in my feeling, for I am well and strong now. The stomach trouble has all gone and I can eat just whatever I care to without it causing me any bad after-effects at all. I am not the least bit nervous and sleep splendidly at night long. My kidneys don't bother me any more and I am no longer troubled with dizziness. Tanlac has done even more for me than I expected and I can't help but say a word of praise for it."

Tanlac is sold in Bennington by W. L. Gokay, in Manchester Depot by W. W. Pratt, in Arlington by G. G. Cullinan & Co., and in East Arlington by Victor L. Smith and in East Dorset by G. H. Brophy.—Advertisement.

PERMIT TO TAKE BODY TO DUBLIN STERNLY DENIED

Body of Mayor MacSwiney Is Taken Directly to Cork

BY GOVERNMENT ORDERS

Force Was Used on Relatives of Dead Mayor Who Insisted on Going to Dublin with Body

Holyhead, Wales, Oct. 29. (Associated Press)—When day broke over the Irish sea the steamer Rathmore bearing the body of Mayor MacSwiney was steaming southward off the Welsh Headland on the way to Cork. At the same hour the relatives of MacSwiney who refused the special steamer provided to take them and the body to Cork were on their way to Dublin.

The shipment of the body direct to Cork was preceded by a violent scene in which blows were struck. Members of MacSwiney's family were dragged from the railway coach here. They refused to consent to the Government's plan to take the body to Cork instead of to Dublin only after being placed under virtual arrest and the body was taken from the train to the steamer.

"It was because of 'the risk of political demonstrations that might result in the loss of innocent lives,'" said a Government announcement, that it was decided the Lord Mayor's body should be taken direct to his native city.

An extensive programme had been prepared in Dublin. MacSwiney's body was to have been escorted to Westland Row to the Pro-Cathedral, where mass was to have been said and attended by the Lord Mayor of Dublin and representatives of the Dublin Corporation. All trains were to be stopped for a few minutes, the tramways for ten to fifteen minutes, the hotels and restaurants closed for a similar period, and all shops, except those selling food, and all saloons and factories closed throughout the day.

EVERYBODY SHOULD BE IN GOOD HEALTH

Most People Would If Their Blood and Circulation Were in Normal Condition

Many men, women and children who are anemic, run-down, thin and nervous, with no energy, no strength and no vitality miss all the joy of life, just because their blood is poor and circulation impaired. So many wonderful recoveries from just such conditions have come to our attention that we want everyone in this city to know about Vitrol. It is not a secret remedy, but just a scientific combination of the most successful tonics known—Iron, Beef and Cod Liver Peptides and Glycerophos. Every run-down, nervous, anemic, overworked reader of this paper should try it.

FRUIT JUICE AND HOME MADE WINE TO BE PERMITTED

Officials Give Up Effort to Enforce Part of Volstead Act

NEW RULE GIVEN OUT

None of the Home Made Supplies May Be Sold or Given Away but May Be Served at Home

Burlington, Oct. 29.—A ruling which in a large measure nullifies the force of the prohibitory amendment was issued yesterday by the collector of internal revenue in this city and was authorized by the commissioner's office at Washington.

The ruling provides that any person who is the head of a family and who duly registers at the revenue collector's office can make wine from grapes or other fruit juices in a quantity of 200 gallons a year and even more by paying a tax. This beverage is for use in his own family and no limit is placed on its alcoholic content. It may be as strong as whiskey.

Of course this home-made, intoxicant must not be sold but the Volstead act already allows a person to serve bona fide guests in his home with liquors, so it is assumed that this newly authorized beverage will be available for a large body of consumers.

This new ruling practically lets down the bars and permits all who care enough about alcoholic stimulants to make it themselves, to have an abundant supply of it. The communication from Washington follows: "Questions have arisen relating to the manufacture of non-intoxicating cider and non-intoxicating fruit juices exclusively for use in the home. It is hoped that the following statement will make the situation clear. "Cider made and used in the home is not subject to tax under the internal revenue laws, but grape and other fruit juices, not including cider, if fermented to the point where they contain one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume, are subject to tax, though not intoxicating, and regardless of Section 29, Title II, of the National Prohibition Act, are subject to tax under the Revenue Act of 1918 as wine. All persons producing fruit juices other than cider containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume are required to register. Subject to limitations, the head of a family who has properly registered may make 200 gallons, exclusively tax free. If he makes more than 200 gallons he must give a bond and pay tax on the excess. If such excess amount is intoxicating, double the ordinary tax is due as provided by Section 35 of Title II of the National Prohibition Act."

This order will do much to satisfy the Italians and other foreigners who have been accustomed to wine as a part of their diet. The wine cannot be sold or removed from the premises, but can be made for home consumption. In the application, the applicant promises to comply with the law in this respect. The wine up to 200 gallons is not even taxable. This law, according to the interpretation placed on it in the collector's office, permits a man to make wine up to any strength of alcohol in his own house, providing he registers.

ARLINGTON ELECTION

War Record of John R. Fisher, Candidate for Representative.

Arlington, Oct. 29.—It will be of interest to Mr. Fisher's friends to know something of his war record, and that the opportunity is offered them to show their appreciation of his services rendered his town and his country during the world war. That opportunity is in our hands—to be taken advantage of by sending him to Montpelier this autumn as a representative from Arlington.

Mr. Fisher went to France in April 1916, (a year before America came into the war). He enlisted as a common ambulance driver without introduction, sought no recognition from any of a large circle of influential friends, he served for six months as an American Ambulance driver at the front near Verdun.

At the end of this service he was asked by the authorities in the Field Service to become one of the administrative officers. He was six months in the service in Paris, when the service having become very much larger, it was found necessary to have large training camps for American drivers. This camp was put out in the war zone near Soissons. Mr. Fisher was put in charge of this training camp with the title of commandant.

Up to this time he had been serving as a volunteer without pay. It was in this camp that Mr. Fisher's wife, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, had charge of the kitchen with the title of Brigadier de Ordinaire. A most complete record of his work in this camp may be found in Vol. III of "The History of the American Field Service" published by Houghton Mifflin Co.

At the end of this service America was in the war. Then the question in the mind of Mr. Fisher was to return to America for Mr. Fisher was a draft age, married and had two children. It took little time to decide to go into the army which he did and was given rank of Lieutenant soon becoming a Captain. Capt. Fisher then went through the officers training camp at Meaux, graduating first in his class.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher with their children did not return to America until the spring of 1919 finding plenty to do in those first days of reconstruction. Mr. Fisher is a graduate of Columbia University in the class of 1904.

M. E. GOSPEL CAMPAIGN

George W. Cooke, soloist, of the Gospel Party, and Rev. I. H. Crocker, extension and conservation member, are making a tour of the town and vicinity of the village with gratifying results. Yesterday they conducted a meeting at the Bennington Scale Works 12:45 to 1:00. Wednesday they were at the E. Z. Waist Co., today they were at the Cooper Needle Shop, Monday they hope to be at Rockwood's and Tuesday they have arranged to hold a meeting at Payne's Brush Factory. Mr. Crocker is a man of wide experience in extension work while in the pastorate. Bishop Burt, resident bishop of this area, says that he is greatly interested in the work done by Mr. Crocker. While pastor in the city of Niagara Falls, N. Y., Dr. Crocker had the largest men's Bible class in Western New York. After the meetings are over he and the Bible teacher, Mrs. Laura Axford, remain a week in Bennington to help in the work and get it into the program of the minister of the church.

The service of prayer and decision last evening followed Mr. Churchill's sermon on the text "Ye must be born again" indicated that the spiritual side of the campaign is rising to the front to shake hands with the evangelist and make open confession of their intention to live the Christian life. Mrs. Axford's Bible class meets in the room to the right of the east entrance of the church at 5:00 o'clock. All are invited to attend. The meeting for workers is held at 7:00 o'clock in the same room each evening that the services are held.

Tonight is High school night at the Methodist church. Scholars and teachers are invited to make a special offering to be presented to help along the work of the church. They are sure of the advancement of personal and institutional righteousness.

Saturday night is children's night, and they will constitute the choir.

WEATHER FORECAST

Fair and colder tonight with frost, probably heavy in interior. Saturday fair.

GAVE A PILGRIM PLAY

Feature of D. A. R. Meeting at Home of Mrs. Myers.

The Daughters of the American Revolution met with Mrs. William Myers October 27 at her home on Union street. The meeting was called to order by the regent, Mrs. Walter White, and the names of nine new members were proposed for admission. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and accepted as was also the treasurer's report.

Miss Amy Surdam gave a good report of the annual meeting of the state chapter, that was held at Montpelier, and Mrs. Livingston Sibley gave a short sketch, relating to Mrs. Charles Miner, the new president general of the national society, who was guest of honor of the occasion. After the usual business had been transacted, a short play was given with the following cast:

HALLOWEEN CELEBRATION

Ghost Parade and Exercises at Play-ground Saturday Night

Get your costume ready for Saturday night! Decide at once what character you will represent and enter the big parade, whether you are young or old, short or tall, big or little. Some of the suggestions offered are to dress as witches, ghosts, scarecrows, Mother Goose characters, farmers and tarantulas, clowns, Indians, cowboys and the festival Pejee. The windows of the local stores will help you with good ideas. The boys will meet on School street, between Main and Pleasant; the girls on Valentine, between Main and Union. Old Fellows band will lead the parade, having generously given their services to the most genuine community spirit.

After parading the main streets, the procession will head for the playground, there to enjoy a big bonfire and a hilarious time of games and frolic. Vendors of marshmallows and hot dogs will sell their wares at cost to be toasted at the fire.

All citizens are asked to help the occasion by burning red fire in front of their houses in the section where the parade is held, which will be at Main and North streets. Those driving to the playground in automobiles are asked to park their cars on the margin of the grounds, leaving their lights burning and directed somewhat toward the grounds, to help illuminate the scene.

The way to have a good time is to help make one. Try this recipe and plan your costume for tomorrow evening to make it the most grotesque and unique ever seen. If you are up, forget that and be a kid once more.

TROLLEY ROAD MEETING

Voters to Gather Tonight at High School to Discuss Street Problem.

There has been no change in the situation created by the controversy that has arisen between the village and the Berkshire Street Railway company in relation to the trolley road on East Main street. The work of lowering the track to conform to the new grade of the highway is progressing but it is being done so as to fit any development that may arise from the public meeting to be held at high school last evening.

The meeting has been called upon short notice and there has been little time to bring the matter at issue before the citizens. There is a problem of vital interest to the community to be solved and a sufficiently large number of citizens should be present to produce a representative opinion.

At the large meeting held some months ago it was a practically unanimous vote that the Berkshire company should be strictly held to the provisions of its charter. In proceeding with the improvement voted by the annual village meeting the trustees have encountered some unforeseen difficulties arising from the attitude of the Berkshire company and now our officials desire and should be given a definite opinion from the voters concerning what is to be done in the future.

The report cards were given out Monday covering a period of seven weeks. The "Echo" board was elected from the three upper classes and consists of the following officers: Sue Huntington, editor-in-chief; Elliott Worthington and Marjorie Frost, associate editors; Frances Mann, business manager; Edelbert Evans, assistant business manager.

SOME ROAD ISSUES IN BENNINGTON BACK IN 1849

Old Records of 70 Years Ago Found by Judge Bates

MAIN ST. THEN AND NOW

Issue Then Was Over the Question of a Plank Road—Some Old Hotels Now Forgotten.

Judge Edward L. Bates for the past year and more has been doing Bennington a great public service of which only a few people are aware. He is indexing the files of the early newspapers of Bennington from the first issue of the old Vermont Gazette, established in 1787 by Anthony Haswell, down to the Civil war.

These old papers, preserved at the public library, contain a vast amount of local and state history, family records, local and neighborhood statistics and hundreds of other things that go to make up the story of Historic Bennington for more than a century, but the information has not been available because of the almost hopeless task of hunting through thousands of printed pages for desired facts or records.

After the death of the late Dr. Henry C. Day Judge Bates indexed his large collection of clippings and other papers and has placed the index in the library. He became interested in the work and consented to undertake the tremendously greater work of indexing the files of the old Bennington newspapers.

From time to time he has furnished curious and interesting quotations which have been printed in the Banner. Below are two advertisements of local hotels now long forgotten. These were printed in the State Banner, the predecessor of the Evening Banner is 1848. The Banner at that time was printed on Town Hill, now known as Old Bennington the printing office being located a short distance north of the Wallowoos Inn. What is now the most populous part of the town was then a straggling young village known as East Bennington. The two advertisements are as follows:

The Oregon House

This house is refitted and opened by the subscriber, for the accommodation of the public; and if a well stored larder, and good quantities, of provender, are any inducements to the traveler he hopes to receive a share of public patronage. East Bennington, Vt., Dec. 22, 1848. John R. Gates.

Shad-Valley Hotel

The subscriber respectfully announces to his friends, and the public generally, that he has rented the Tavern Stand situated in Woodford Hollow, where he will be happy to wait upon all who may feel disposed to patronize him. Upon his table will be found that which is good, and enough of it. Persons travelling will do well to stop at this house, as it is the subscribers aim to promote the comfort and happiness of his customers. Woodford, Vt., Dec. 14, 1848. John Colliard.

In view of the acute interest in the street problem right now it is rather striking to find out that the question was an issue 70 years ago as the following old clippings will prove:

State Banner, May 26, 1849. Plank Road.—We perceive with pleasure that a plank road is being built across the flat between this and the Center Villages. No man acquainted with the road as it has been heretofore will need be told of the propriety of this alteration. We wish the road through this village was planked instead of being paved with movable cobble stones. But we must bide our time; our turn will come after a little.

State Banner, June 9, 1849. "First Plank Road in Vermont: While our friends of the Montpelier Watchman and the St. Albans Messenger have been talking very loudly about Plank Roads, the citizens in Old Bennington have been at work. The State Banner says a plank road is now building between the two villages of Bennington. We are glad of it. When it is completed—send it along." (Bur. Free Press).

"Couldn't do it, possibly. General. But if you ever happen within a dozen miles of this come over and try them planks. We wet of one up 'forinst' the west end that will put you 'over the road' inside of 'two an' a half'."

BERKSHIRE R. R. WANTS INCREASE OF FARE RATES

Would Raise Zone Rate from Five Cents to Six Cents

HAS BEEN LOSING MONEY

Railway Plan Would Affect Each Fare Limit Between North Adams and the State Line.

Boston, Oct. 28.—Officials representing the Berkshire Street Railway Company asked the commissioners of the Department of Public Utilities at a hearing today to approve a proposed 20 per cent increase in fares, which the company desires to place in effect on its lines between Pittsfield and North Adams, Nov. 19.

C. Q. Richmond, general manager of the company, told the commissioners that the lines have been run at a deficit of $76,956.35 for the first nine months of this year. The present fare rate is 5 cents in each zone, and the zones are two miles in length. The company seeks permission to make the fare 6 cents. Permission was also asked to raise the rate of fare on a "stub" line two miles in length, between Lenox and Pittsfield to 10 cents. The present fare rate on this branch line is 5 cents.

The petition was opposed by George A. Mole, town counsel of Lenox. He said that the people of Lenox have no objection to paying a 2 per cent increase, as is proposed for the other parts of the system but argued that a 100 per cent increase on the patrons of the Lenox line is discrimination.

Under the proposed schedule General Manager Richmond said that the present rate of fare between Pittsfield and North Adams a distance of 23 miles will be 70 cents, which includes a war tax of 4 cents, as against the old rate of 59 cents. Decision was reserved.

ESTES-WAHLQUIST

Former High Schoolmates Principals in Pretty Home Wedding.

Elsa Victoria Wahlquist and Howard Cyrus Estes, who graduated from the Bennington high school in the class of 1918, were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Wahlquist on Scott street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George S. Mills, pastor of the Second Congregational church of Bennington, a double ring service being used. Only immediate family relatives were present.

The bridesmaid was Miss Hildur Wahlquist, sister of the bride, and the best man was Carl Chase. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Lois Estes.

The bride was prettily gowned in white georgette and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her veil, which was fastened with white lupine, was worn by her mother 31 years ago, mother and daughter having been married on the same day of the month. The bridesmaid's dress was of Copenhagen blue georgette and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was an Eastern Star pin. The bridegroom's gift to his best man was a set of gold cuff links. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, linen, etc. Following there was a reception at which refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Estes left during the evening on a honeymoon trip to Manchester, N. H. The bride's going-away suit was of blue silk tulle. Upon their return they will reside at 37 Silver street where a furnished home awaits them.

The young people have been residents of Bennington for a number of years, were both popular students at the local schools and have a host of friends who will wish them over happiness.
