In the Day's News.

Charles E. Hughes, President Harding's Secretary of State, is in line for congratulations today on the beginning of his sixtieth year. Few Americans of today have had a more distinguished career. A native of Glens Falls, N. Y., he was graduated from the Columbia Law School at the age of 22. After being a professorship in the Cornell University law school for a time he began the active practice of his profession in New York City. It was in 1905 that he first became a national figure, by his successful conduct of the insurance investigation. The same year he declined the Republican nomination for mayor of New York city, but a year later he was nominated and elected to the governorship. This position he resigned when near the end of his second term to accept appointment to the Supreme Court of the United States. In 1916 Mr. Hughes was the Republican candidate for the presidency.

CHINESE STUDENT WAS CALM

Slightly Disturbed by Soiled Necktie, but Not at All by Coming Important Debate.

It is only 15 years ago that Wellington Koo—to whose efforts are largely attributed the election of China to the council of the League of Nations—entered Columbia university, New York. In definite preparation for a diplomatic career he specialized in international law under Prof. John Bassett Moore, and it was in this subject that he took his Ph.D. degree, with a thesis on "The Status of Allens in China." He was one of the most active and distinguished of the Columbia undergraduates of his time, says the Detroit News. Not only was he elected to the Phi Beta Kappa, the most famous of the American college fraternities, but he became editor in chief of the Columbia Spectator.

As a debator, too, Mr. Koo made his mark among his contemporaries. In 1908 his speech turned the tide in favor of his own university in a debate with Cornell. The story is told that when the Columbia team reached Ithaca, the seat of the rival university, most of its members were in a state of blue funk, owing to the high reputation of one of their opponents. This attack of nerves was at its height when they sought out Koo. "Yes," he told them, "I, too, am worried. I have brought only one evening dress tie with me, and look at it—soiled! What is to be done?" His fellow debaters fled to the nearest haberdasher's and returned with half a dozen ties of assorted models. Koo selected one, arrayed himself, and in it went forth to the fray with a light heart.

Not Enough Hudsons

Super-Six Still Holds Exclusive Position

Hudson shortage is a fact. Buyers know it. Instead of immediate deliveries an increasing number find they must wait.

Total stocks of Hudsons, everywhere in the country, average less than two cars per dealer.

Our own spring demand must be met from such small stocks as we had the foresight to get during the slack season past.

Note What You Save

Now we see better than ever before what hold Hudson quality has among motor car users.

The present market is selective. Hence the emphasis of Hudson value. Its cost advantage gives $1000 or more saving against any car to which you compare Hudson quality, reliability and performance.

Perhaps you hold Hudson the greatest of all cars. Surely, in many respects you acknowledge this is so.

For instance the Super-Six motor. It is exclusive to Hudson. For five years it has been the master type. No other has been developed to match its efficiency and endurance. It practically annuls vibration. The smoothness which results is appreciated not only in riding ease. It means absence of strain, and friction. Repair freedom and a long life car results. It accounts for Hudson's five years of sales leadership.

And if you plan to buy soon, bear in mind that deliveries are already difficult and stocks must be even more limited as the season progresses.
