POLE INSURGENTS REPORTED GAINING IN SILESIAN WAR

Cities Still Held By Allies But Besiegers Control Country

GERMANS READY FOR DASH

Entente Powers Open Frontier—Release Political Prisoners, 'Tis Announced

Opp'n, May 7.—The uprising of Polish insurgents in Upper Silesia is hourly becoming more serious. While most of the cities are still occupied by allied troops these are in very small numbers compared with the insurgents.

Gen. de Marins of the interallied commission told the correspondent that the commission propose to fulfill their original mission in Upper Silesia, which is to execute the plebiscite decisions of the Allies without favoring either the Poles or the Germans.

Allied officers declare that the Polish insurgent organization has had its war plans for a long time, but that the uprising broke with unexpected suddenness.

Allies Open Frontier Opp'n, Silesia, May 7.—Germany's request that the frontier between Germany and Silesia be opened and that all political prisoners being held by the allies in upper Silesia be released, has been granted by the interallied commission here.

PANHANDLERS DECREASE IN FRANCE SINCE 1914

Police Say Crime Has Increased—Also Number of Women Criminals—Blame's the Movies

Paris, May 2.—There is 80 per cent less begging in France than previous to 1914, according to police statistics, but theft has increased in about the same proportion. The police explain this phenomena by saying that the temptation constantly held out to the gaily inclined to enjoy themselves appeals to those who cannot afford it as well as to those that can.

Crime among women and children has notably increased. Among a hundred persons found guilty of crime before the war there were 12 women and five minors; there are now 30 women and 14 minors in every hundred convicted.

Besides the temptation to have a good time, the police say sensational moving pictures have had a good deal to do with the development of crime among women and children.

Cases of assault and battery and other offenses, which are largely credited to alcoholism, have decreased.

OLDER VERMONT GIRLS MEET IN BRATTLEBORO

450 Charmers Are Assembled For the Convention—Plan Loyalty to Christian Ideals

Brattleboro, May 7.—Everything was in readiness for the opening of the older girls' conference which opened yesterday afternoon, when 450 girls from many towns in the state arrived and registered between 2 and 5:30 o'clock at the Centre Congregational church and were assigned to their rooms.

The purpose of the conference, which opened with a get together supper at Masonic temple is to unite the girls of Vermont in a spirit of loyalty to Christian ideals, by inviting them to think together on the privileges and responsibilities that belong to them as to the girls of no other day. The conference motto is: "We dedicate our strength and youth to the battle for the right."

The officers of the conference consist of Miss Margaret Brooks of St. Johnsbury, as chairman and Miss Elizabeth M. Crane of Brattleboro as secretary.

TROY INVITES HARDING

Colonel Gillet Urges President to Attend Army Dedication.

Troy, N. Y., May 7.—Col. Ransom H. Gillet has seen President Harding and in the name of Troy, invited him to visit that city on the occasion of the dedication of the new state armory. While the president made no specific answer to the earnest request that he take part in the ceremony, Colonel Gillet later told Senator Wads worth he had reason to believe that the chief executive was favorably disposed to give the invitation consideration.

Senator Wadsworth said: "I don't very well see how the president is to get away from Washington, though I know he would like to visit Troy. It is very difficult for him to leave the city these days even though it be for a brief stay only. Still, let us hope he will accept Troy's invitation."

WELL KNOWN TROJAN EXPIRES AT ALBANY

John A. Slescher, Editor of Leslie's Weekly Succumbs to Long Seize of Illness

Troy, N. Y., May 7.—John Albert Slescher, editor of Leslie's Weekly since 1898 and president of the Leslie-Judge company of New York, died at his home in Albany Thursday, after a long illness. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Slescher was born in this city, October 4, 1843, and received his early education in the public schools of this city and was graduated from Syracuse University and from this institution received the degree of LL. D. Entering newspaper work in Troy, Mr. Slescher became editor of the Troy Whig and also was employed in an editorial capacity on the Troy Press and the Troy Times, being at one time proprietor of the latter paper. Later he was proprietor of the Schenectady Union and editor-in-chief and part owner of the Albany Evening Journal. He formerly also was editor-in-chief of the New York Mail and Express. At one time he was manager of New York of the New York State Associated Press.

From 1889 to 1893 Mr. Slescher was a Civil Service Commissioner of New York state.

Mr. Slescher is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Ella S. Peckham of this city; one daughter, Miss Mary P. Slescher of Albany; three sons, Reuben P. and George R. Slescher of New York, and Paul Slescher of Albany, and a sister, Miss Mary J. Slescher of this city.

LIKES SHORT-SKIRTED GAL WITH CIGARETTE

Man Who Will Control the Women's Vote Arrives—He Hails From Sunny Italy, Too.

Washington, May 6.—There is nothing wrong with the modern American girl. There is nothing immoral about her short skirts and cigarette smoking.

Such is the conclusion of Dr. Roselli, first Italian exchange professor, now teaching at Vassar college. He came to the defense of the modern American girl in an address to the first American convention of the American Waldensian Aid society here.

"It isn't fair to compare the American girl of today with the Abigails and Patiences in the New England churchyard," Professor Roselli said. "The Abigails and Patiences belong to a day that is dead and gone. I can speak particularly of the young American college girl." Roselli said. "And I can honestly say that I find her a far more satisfactory product than her European sister. She has commendable courage of her convictions and is healthful, physically and mentally. Too often the student of continental Europe is a dried up and embittered girl."

Bennington people will recall Dr. Roselli as the professor who lectured here last winter in the Congregational church.

PROTESTS FLOOD CONGRESS ANENT SLACKERS' LIST

Document Full of Errors—Many Newspapers Won't Print It

LAW SUITS MAY RESULT

Representative Introduces Bill In House to Protect the Publishers

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Despite the fact that a storm of protest poured in on Washington yesterday and last night from all over the country where the so-called slacker lists have been published, the war department has made no move to stop the publication.

So many errors have crept into the lists that pressure is likely from Congress either for revision or suspension of publication.

Reports show that newspapers are declining to print the lists because of the manifest errors they contain even in cases where publication had begun. As an evidence of the storm of protest that has arisen because of the incorrectness of the lists, Representative Hill (Md.) introduced a bill which directs the department of justice to conduct the defense of publications sued for wrongful publication of the names of alleged slackers and provides that in the event of the recovery of any judgment against the publication the United States will indemnify it for damages recovered.

Won't Publish List

New York, May 7.—Another short list of alleged draft dodgers was made public in this city yesterday, but because of the numerous inaccuracies contained in the first list and protests already made concerning the second list these names are not published in the New York Herald, that newspaper announced today.

BOOZE BOOSTS ESTATE

Liquor Owned by Late Albanian Increases Property Value $500,000

Troy, N. Y., May 7.—Vast quantities of high grade whisky, bought by James F. O'Donnell of Albany, formerly of Troy, before the adoption of the prohibition amendment, and discovered Thursday, will bring the value of his estate to about $500,000 in value, it is believed. Purchases of real estate aggregating more than $50,000 were also revealed. There are also holdings of Liberty Bonds value of $15,000 and cash to the amount of $90,000 was found in a safe-deposit box. The liquor stock is said to include 500 cases of Scotch whisky and more than 400 barrels of American whisky, which is alone worth more than $170,000. When the estate was brought before Surrogate Glenn in Albany Wednesday it was estimated at $40,000 real and only $5,000 personal property.

FORMER ARMY MAJOR A MUCH DECORATED MAN

Latest Award Comes From China and Puts Him in the Great Order of "Wen Hu"

Manila, P. I., May 7.—Major Samuel L. Johnson, who commanded the allied garrison and the military police at Vladivostok for eighteen months during the war and up to the time when the American forces evacuated Siberia, has just been awarded his 25th decoration by various nations of the earth, for meritorious service and heroism under fire. His latest decoration was given by the Chinese government and is known as the Fourth Order of the Wen Hu or Striped Tiger. The award was made "in token of the high appreciation of service on behalf of Chinese citizens" while Major Johnson was in charge of the allied forces garrisoned at Vladivostok.

After the American forces evacuated Siberia, Major Johnson resigned from the army and became general manager of one of the largest lumbering companies in the Philippine Islands, and now is a resident of the Island of Negros. The award is held at Fort Santiago, headquarters of the Philippine department of the army, and will be presented to Major Johnson on his next visit to Manila.

Major Johnson had under his command at Vladivostok, troops including Americans, British, French, Belgian, Italian, Russian, Serbian, Chinese, Japanese and Czechoslovak. All of these nations decorated him for meritorious service, and besides he wears decorations from Argentina and other South American countries. His first decoration was received when only seventeen years old, while fighting with the Cossacks in southern Russia, his native country, against Tartar cavalry.

When America entered the great war, Major Johnson was at the head of the national guard of Hawaii. He resigned and enlisted in the army. After a few months training at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, he was given a commission as major.

Besides the decorations bestowed by the principal nations, he has won many medals in swimming contests and on the rifle range.

Henry Ford Inspects Work Being Done on Industrial Plant

WILL EMPLOY 6,000 MEN

Detroit Genius Says He Plans to Make Monthly Visits to Collar Town

Henry Ford and Gaston Plaintiff, his New York representative visited Green Island yesterday afternoon and inspected the work now being done on the power house for Mr. Ford's industrial plant to be constructed there.

Mr. Ford told a local reporter man to interview the Detroit manufacturer while on the visit to Green Island that he would make a visit to his property in that village every month. "I just want to come up for my own amusement," was the way he put it.

Questioned as to plans for the power house and the industrial plant, Mr. Ford said that there was nothing new to say other than what had already been said when he visited Troy on April 4. He was asked, however, how many men he thought he would employ. "From four to six thousand," was his reply. "But that all depends upon conditions. There may be more and there may be less." But it was noted that an emphasis was placed on the word "more."

ARMORY WORK STOPS

Unions Call Members From Job Where Non-Union Men Work.

Troy, N. Y., May 7.—The Employers' Building Trades exchange of Troy and vicinity Thursday night issued a statement, in which it was claimed that representatives of the building trades on strike have misrepresented conditions. The statement also gives more or less of a resume of developments during the period when the issues were under discussion by both sides.

Other than this there is no new development in the strike situation as it affects the building trades. Officials of the building trades unions met at the Labor Temple on Congress street and there decided to take union workmen employed on the new armory from the job. This action was taken when it was learned, it is said, that non-union structural iron workers were being employed on the job. According to labor leaders, the entire construction job is now tied up, the laborers, plumbers and teamsters being among the strictly organized men who were called from the contract yesterday. Labor leaders declare the work will not be continued by union men as long as there are any non-union men on the job.

POST OFFICE MANDATE NETTLES TROY PEOPLE

Washington Department Head Closes General Delivery to Persons Having Addresses

Troy, N. Y., May 7.—Trojans, who for various reasons wanted their mail addressed "general delivery" and who have enjoyed this privilege more or less, are now being informed by the local postal authorities that this cannot continue. Actually no person is ever supposed to have his mail "general delivery" if he has a city address, but it was a regulation never as strictly enforced as the present postmaster general has directed. In the past many Trojans have had a portion of their mail delivered in this way.

AMERICA'S MERE TYRO IN FOREIGN TRADING

Speaker At National Council Says This Country Has No Foreign Trade Policy.

Cleveland, O., May 7.—Establishment of an independent governmental bureau for the extension and expansion of foreign trade was sponsored by J. Walter Drake of Detroit, in an address yesterday before the National Foreign Trade council in annual convention here. Mr. Drake said in part: "The weakest point in America's industrial development is foreign trade. It is unfortunately true that relatively only a small proportion of American producers have realized the vital nature of foreign sales as a balance wheel for domestic trade. The result of this has been that in a national way, this country has not developed an established foreign trade policy."

"The business can no more continue without government participation than could a private business abolish its sales organization. There should be established a government training academy, which would rank with West Point and Annapolis, to be devoted exclusively to the preparation and education of men for the government foreign service."

"Today as we face the competition of European countries, for the foreign market of the future, which to them means almost life and death in their normal existence, it is impossible to ignore the perilous situation in which this country finds itself in respect of the organization and equipment of foreign service."

GIVEN SURPRISE SHOWER

Entertainment in Honor of North Bennington Teacher.

A most unique and delightful surprise shower was given Thursday evening at the home of Professor and Mrs. William R. Cook of West street, in honor of Miss Alma Egbert, teacher of domestic science in the local High school.

Miss Egbert having been invited to spend the evening at the home, she and her hostess were cozily seated with their sewing, when suddenly the strains of a wedding march came to their ears from a piano in the reception hall, and a simultaneously, a procession of about twenty friends entered, marching two and two, headed by a bride and groom, maids of honor, and all that makes weddings beautiful and wonderful. Misses Ahlens and Marjorie Gibbons acting as bride and groom looked the parts to perfection, with white gown, veil, flowers, etc.

A beautiful large pink and white basket decorated with apple blossoms and lilacs, and filled with gifts, was carried by the guests, and presented to Miss Egbert, who succeeded in over coming her surprise sufficiently to open the mysterious packages and satisfy her own, and her friends' curiosity as to their contents.

The evening was spent very pleasantly in sewing, games and music. Miss Ruth Duprey of Worcester, Mass., rendered a vocal solo and sang a duet with Miss Grace Hathaway, accompanied by Miss Mildred Hathaway on the piano.

HARDING JOINS ALLIES

President Will Send Representative to Sit With Supreme Council

Washington, D. C., May 7.—The United States will be represented in the Allied supreme council, the conference of ambassadors and the reparations commission. This became known last night when the reply to the allied invitation to the Washington government to resume its relations in the councils of the allied and associated powers was made public.

George Harvey, appointed ambassador to Great Britain, will be instructed on his arrival in England, to take part as the representative of the president of the United States, in the deliberations of the supreme council. The American ambassador to France will be instructed to resume his place as unofficial observer on the conference of ambassadors, and Mr. Roland W. Boyden will be instructed to sit again in an unofficial capacity on the reparations commission.

Harvey's Status Explained

It was explained that Ambassador Harvey will act under instruction of the President and that the United States cannot be bound by anything he may do except through the constitutional functioning of the President. The decision that President Harding will have a personal representative present at the meetings of the allied supreme council as well as an official representative at the conference of ambassadors, in the reparations commission is being studied carefully in all quarters today. It is emphasized in the highest administration circles that the step did not mean the participation of the United States in any project of "world government or world league."

INDIAN ONCE SOLD WHOLE ISLAND FOR $24, PLUS A FEW DRINKS OF CHEAP FIREWATER

New York, May 7.—Manhattan Island, once sold by an Indian for $24 and a few drinks of firewater, has become so valuable that a tiny plot stretching only 31 feet along Broadway recently was leased for an annual rental of about $133 a square foot. Real estate men said this was the highest figure for which land was ever rented here.

The site is at Broadway and Thirty-fourth street, and extends about 50 ft. along the latter. Several years ago a department store wished to buy the corner plot, having procured the land on both sides as the site of a skyscraper. But the owner would not sell, even for $1,000,000, and the big store had to erect its home around the small building.

A four-story structure, housing on the ground floor a busy cigar store, still remains on the valuable corner lot while on all sides lofty buildings rear their bulks of steel and stone.

The new lessee, who will pay $3,500,000 for rent, taxes and other expenses over a twenty-one year period, plans to erect a narrow skyscraper on the triangular plot. A candy making corporation will occupy the building.

Twenty years ago Robert S. Smith, who owns the property, started realty men by paying $387,000 for the land, which has only 1,250 square feet of area. He had come to America with $5.75 from his native Russia in 1880. When he bought the property he was told such a small strip was not worth the price and could never be profitable.

Within a few hours after the $3,500,000 lease was drawn up another candy concern offered $10,000 more a year for the land, but it was too late.

CATCH BIG TROUT

St. Johnsbury Fishermen Lift 13 Whoppers From Lake.

St. Johnsbury, May 6.—What is believed to be the finest string of lake trout and salmon brought into St. Johnsbury since the season opened made its way into town on Tuesday evening it was learned last night. The catch was the result of a day's fishing trip spent in Orleans county by John F. Hinch, Charles H. Howe, William Swan and George Stevenson. These gentlemen were successful in gathering in 13 handsome trout and one good big salmon. They fished until they had taken from the waters all that the law allows.

The string was taken to Sherburne's restaurant, where the fish were weighed, the largest one tipping the scales at slightly more than seven pounds. The smallest one was about five pounds.

VESSEL OWNERS REJECT PLAN TO END THE STRIKE

Labor Secretary Davis Submits Compromise—Seamen Accept

BOARD BACKS OPERATORS

Discussions Will Be Resumed Next Week—Wage Schedule Is the Problem

New York, May 7.—A compromise agreement developed in Washington by officers of the marine unions and Secretary of Labor Davis was rejected unanimously when submitted yesterday to the executive committee of the American Steamship Owners association in New York.

It called for a retention of the eight hour day on ships, a guarantee of an hour overtime each day at one and a half times the basic hourly rate, a bonus for efficiency as indicated by savings of fuel and other supplies and a one year agreement with the unions. Presumably the unions offered, in view of other provisions favoring them, to accept a small wage reduction, considerably less than the 15 per cent share which went into effect on May 1 and is the principal cause of the marine strike, now in its sixth day.

The United States shipping board continues to stand by the side of the private operators against any compromise on the wage scale. The board's managing agents were instructed from Washington yesterday to disregard reports of a compromise, "as the board's position is exactly as previously stated." Nevertheless the secretary of labor will continue his discussion with the unions next week.

WELL, HOW'S THIS, MEN?

Court Says You Must Help Wife Prepare Breakfast.

Troy, N. Y., May 7.—Judge M. E. McTyghe in a decision handed down in city court in Saratoga Wednesday ruled that a husband must assist his wife in getting breakfast. LeGrande Weatherwax was arrested on complaint of his wife, who alleged that he did not provide enough for the house. Weatherwax counter-claimed by declaring that his wife would not get up in the morning and get a breakfast. The court directed that the man assist his wife in preparing the morning meal. The couple were induced to forget their differences.

WELFARE CLOSURES SERIES OF INDOOR ENTERTAINMENTS

Community Gatherings Proved Unusually Successful

AMUSEMENT FOR ALL AGES

Monthly Parties, Weekly Dances and Instruction Enjoyed By All Who Attend

The series of community parties that have been held at high school hall during the winter by the Public Welfare association on closed Friday evening with a special program of games, marches, and old-fashioned dances. There were fully a hundred in attendance, the larger portion, of course, composed of young people, but with a generous mixture of grownups who appeared to derive fully as much enjoyment from the festivities, although unable to stand the pace set by some features of the program.

Now that the series of parties has come to a close, the members of the Welfare association who have been actively interested in the different social gatherings during the winter and early spring feel confident that something really worth while has been accomplished. The original idea was a series of gatherings in which the community as a whole, and individually, might experience a feeling of actual ownership, social meetings that should recognize no barriers and which should be hedged about by no restrictions further than good conduct while in attendance.

That there was a real need of this nature has been amply demonstrated by the attendance and the interest that has been shown from the very beginning. Persons of all ages have been in attendance. They have not sat at the "side lines" but they have "gotten into the game" and have realized that the intervening line between happy childhood and gray hair, in many cases is only imaginary.

Since its organization the Bennington Public Welfare association has hung up many records of achievement, but the faithful workers who have carried the larger share of the load feel that no feature of the organization's activities has come closer to carrying out the fundamental idea of the association than the community gatherings at high school hall during the season of 1920-21.

Not only have the parties been successful socially, but they have showed a balance on the right side of the ledger. The net income has not been large—money-making did not figure in the original plan—but the "gate" in every instance has been larger than expenses.

In connection with the parties, Miss Ann Wallace, the recreation instructor, has held three dancing classes. The children have been taught folk dancing Saturday forenoons with an attendance of 332. The high school students' classes have had an attendance for the season of 533 and fully two thousand tickets were sold to those who attended the weekly classes for adults on Wednesday evenings.
