Generally speaking, cold feet, like other local maladies, comes of low general vitality, and the real cure is to be sought in lifting up the general force.

The seven wonders of the world are among the traditions of childhood, and yet ninety-nine persons out of one hundred can not name them.

Orchard Grass and Alsike Clover. In answer to an inquiry the editor of the Massachusetts Ploughman says: "We have tried orchard grass pretty thoroughly, and have come to this conclusion: If most of the other grasses on the farm are late, that is, if they are mostly timothy, red top, etc., we would sow orchard grass, because it is desirable to have some fields that can be cut earlier than others."

A BITTER CONTROVERSY.—The temperance organs are waging bitter war on the manufacturers of alcoholic beverages, and their attacks are resented with equal bitterness by the latter, who seem determined to prosecute the quarrel to the bitter end.

MILK OF DISEASED CATTLE.—Mr. Henson, in a paper upon the milk of animals diseased with the cattle plague, announces, as the result of one of his researches, that neither the flesh nor the milk of animals suffering from this cattle plague—contagious typhus—will convey the disease, although they may suffer greatly in their nutritive properties.

Feed for Producing Milk. The Practical Farmer says: "It is well settled in the opinion of all our best dairymen that bran greatly promotes the milk secretions in cows, and it is fed almost universally. Equally mixed with corn-meal is the usual proportion. This mixture seems to promote quantity and quality of milk.

Spices Cleaning.—Simple salt and water cleans and preserves matting more effectively than any other method. Pepp tea cleans grained wood. Oil-cloth should be brightened, after washing with soap and water, with skim-milk. Salt and water washing preserves bedsteads from being infested by vermin, also mattresses. Kerosine oil is the best furniture oil; it cleanses, adds a fine polish, and preserves from the ravages of insects.

Colonel Sir Henry James in a recent lecture on the pyramids of Egypt, stated that in the King's Chamber, inside the pyramid, some of the stones were thirty feet long. These stones, weighing some ninety tons, were not found in Egypt at all, but were brought down the Nile a distance of five hundred miles, and then placed in their present position one hundred feet above the level of the ground.

HOME READING.—One of the most pleasant and noblest duties of the head of the family is to furnish its members with good reading. Let good reading go into a home, and the very atmosphere of that home gradually but surely changes.
