COURTS.

CHANCERY COURT. Hon. E. A. Hancock, Chancellor. Capt. Clem Arledge, Clerk and Master.

CIRCUIT COURT. Hon. J. J. Williams, Judge. A. B. Woodard, Attorney General.

COUNTY COURT. John W. Williams, Judge. Wm. E. Taylor, Clerk. Hop. T. Taylor, Deputy.

A number of cases of measles in town. Chancery Court meets next Monday.

Several commercial necessities have visited our merchants lately. Mr. Haley is buying cattle to take to his farm near College Grove.

Nails will be in demand this year—to nail the lies told on candidates. Mr. W. W. Gordon joined the Knights of Honor last Monday night.

We are still behind with our paper. But it won't be so long, as we have "hid in" some coal. Mrs. Frizzell, of Belvidere, is visiting Nashville, the guest of Mrs. John Frizzell and other friends.

Another cold wave, accompanied by a light fall of snow, passed over this section since our last. To those who pay their subscriptions promptly we return thanks; to those who don't, we don't.

Mr. Joe Baker has become a partner with Mr. C. H. McCloud in the mercantile business at Belvidere. Johnnie Jackson says it is wholly unnecessary to invite him to a Leap-Year party, as he is "engaged." So note it.

Maj. Jack Greer and Mr. Dol. Adams, of Bedford county, spent several days here since our last. They are both good "mixers." Col. Ovid Allen, of Cold Water, Michigan, is prospecting in the Belvidere district, and well pleased. He is the guest of Capt. Mather.

Mrs. B. A. Oehmig returned home from New York, whither she has been visiting relatives for two or three months, last Friday. C. C. Holt, formerly a conductor on the N. & C. Railroad, and who was well known by many Winchesterians, died at Wartrace on the 17th inst.

One of our young men was attacked with spring fever last Sunday, and put himself under a straw-hat. Mercury only a few degrees above zero. Rev. J. Eollenbacher, of Belvidere, is going to establish congregations in Chattanooga and Nashville, and will labor services in both cities regularly.

Miss Jennie Hunt, daughter of Mr. J. T. Hunt, who moved here from Rutledge county about three years ago, died to-day, after several months illness. She was about 19 years of age.

Mr. J. B. Hoke was assigned to duty as Collector Hughes last week as storekeeper at McClure's distillery, in place of Mr. Rickman, the regular storekeeper, who is off on a leave of absence.

Mr. Thomas Nance, of Bedford county, moved his family here recently for the purpose of educating his children. They occupy a portion of D. C. Allen's house, near Mary Sharp College.

The road overseer for this road district will have a time getting some of the down boys to work the road. If he gets any work out of them he will have more than anybody else ever did.

A large audience listened to Col. Aves' temperance address at the C. Church last Friday night. Some thirty or forty names were added to the membership roll of the Prohibition Club.

Mr. W. F. Morse, of Texas, has purchased the "Anna Finch farm," near here. He and his family arrived here last week. We extend a hearty welcome to them.

It is thought by some that under the new order of things it will be a long time before any work is done on the roads leading to town. And even if our streets should be worked, there would be no attention given to side walks, as the road law makes no provision for sidewalks.

Three inches of snow on the ground here to-day—Thursday morning.

Can it be that "Carol," of Alto, has sung his last song?

T. B. Belvidere.—We "long" for a letter from your section. New pupils continue to arrive at our schools.

Fresh pork was retained on our streets last Monday at 5 1/2 cents per pound. Another new advertisement from Wiley S. Embrey & Son. Read it.

We are receiving new subscribers every day, and are glad to be so kindly remembered. Dr. J. B. Davis will bring his fine horse, "Fleet," back here in a few weeks.

Mr. B. S. Henderson will go to Texas on a visit when the Spring time comes. Many of our citizens failed to pay corporation taxes before the town clerk died.

What has become of "Charon," of Maxwell? Did he exhaust the vocabulary in his last letter? We think that our farmers would find it profitable to cultivate more of their lands in grasses.

Sixty cents per bushel is the ruling price for meal in this market. Flour, $3 per hundred pounds. Even "X," at Decherd, is becoming slow to write. Can it be that he has gone into his little sepulchre?

All sorts of talk about a "blind tiger" being in town. We haven't seen the "animal," but have seen his tracks. A number of our citizens received certificates of membership in the Chattanooga Literary and Scientific Circle last week.

There is plenty of fine marble within a few miles of Winchester, and some of these times somebody will make money by quarrying it on a large scale. Some of the "boys" cut-tailed an oyster-can one day last week. Their "sanguine expectations" were fully realized, but it was a dog-gone mean trick.

Editor Home Journal: I received your sample copy. I like it, and will take it. Send it on. Will give you the money next Monday. ZACK. Mr. El. Jones, of the Tracy City Mountain Eagle, accompanied by his wife, spent last Sunday in our town, and left Monday for Fayetteville.

We are pained to learn that some young folks misbehaved during services at the Methodist Church last Sunday night. Hope they will not do so again. Those people who "march right to the front" in "supplying long-felt wants" hardly ever find their way back to the rear without the use of "specks."

It is the belief of some that we will have an oil well within a few miles of Winchester next Spring. The machinery for boring has been ordered. More anon. Warner Henderson has been enjoying the emoluments of a desk in the County Register's office. There now! We always predicted a brilliant future for "that boy."

Our Estill Springs list is increasing rapidly, and will soon be second to none in the county. For this increase we are indebted to our clever friend, Esqr. W. B. Gossage. As has been the case every winter within our recollection, those who are so improvident as to not lay in wood and coal before cold weather promise to "never be caught in this fix again."

Willie Simmons still ranks as the most polite young man that navigates High street. He caught the "complaint" from his "boss," Johnnie Hutchins, who is a "dyed-in-the-wool" Chesterfield.

For the convenience of the public Mr. Matt Potty has moved his stock of leather and leather goods, also his repair shop, from the tanyard to Baugh's old stand on the Public Square. This is a great convenience. See advertisement.

As "R. Styx," of Estill Springs, did not comply with our request, we suppose the wild waves in that section are not saying anything just now. But if he persists in remaining silent much longer we'll make our editor give him "fits" again next summer.

W. W. Gordon, salesman at Major Baugh's is becoming quite popular with the trading public, and we are glad to note it. "Billie" "got his start" in this office, and it is quite natural that he should rejoice at seeing him successfully riding the waves of popularity.

The report reaches us that a young man in our county, on being reprimanded by his mother recently, struck her in the face with his fist. No punishment is too severe for the man who would strike the one in all the world that should command his love and veneration.

Capt. S. D. Mather has been appointed correspondent of the Southern Emigration Association, and will have Winchester made a terminus of some of the monthly excursions which will extend from Chicago and New York and southwards. This arrangement will bring a great many visitors to our county, and contribute largely to the development of our resources.

The great trouble with some young men in this place is that so soon as a little "down" makes it appearance on their upper lips they think themselves good; and, worse still, show a want of good breeding by trying to be too familiar with men who are old enough to be their daddies. We hope it won't become necessary for us to be more explicit on this subject hereafter.

Elk river has been unfordable for several days. Hon. Jno. R. Oliver and Linsey Jones represented Estill Springs here last Tuesday.

Winchester is not overrun with trade now, but so soon as we have pretty weather look out for a stir. Is the young man who parts his hair in the middle a "dude"? If so, his name is legion in this section.

Father J. W. Gavin will hold services at the Catholic Church in this place next Sunday, Jan. 27th. We have but little regard for "dose peebles" who read "order peebles" papers without paying for them.

Thanks to our Postmaster for kind favors during the "real famine." He is a thoroughly obliging gentleman. Jas. N. Logan persists in living a life of celibacy. Change, "Peggie," change. It is not too late to do good.

One of our merchants has sold between nine and ten thousand yards of domestic and sheeting during the past two months. So far there has been no boisterous conduct on our streets this year. At least, if any, it hasn't come under our observation.

Mr. John Slatter, of Atlanta, Ga., son of the late John T. Slatter, of this place, was married to Miss Ono Gibbs at Deatur, Ala., Tuesday. Mr. N. R. Martin, who has been selling out Mr. Weber's stock of goods in the Ransom block, has nearly completed his work, and closed the house.

Nearly all of our lawyers were in Nashville last week. We were sorry for that city; but they ought to put up with them one week without grumbling, since we have to stand 'em all the time. We wore our teeth off down to the gums last week trying to masticate a piece of "nice round beefsteak" purchased from one of our butchers. He said "it staid fat too long before it was killed."

Dick Taylor, jr., looks much better since his late protracted spell of sickness. As usual, he always carries his tail feathers up and wears a serene smile. Dick is not a minnow among whales by long odds. Mr. Moses Taft wants his father, Mr. W. M. Taft, to go to Nashville and live with him. This shows a commendable spirit in Moses, but we have always looked upon Moses as being an extra good boy.

We are frequently annoyed by visitors who persist in talking to us while we are setting type. We love to have visitors, but would prefer that they not talk to us while we are setting type—except on business matters. One of our young men boasted in our presence one day last week that during the late snow he "killed sixteen acres on one rabbit of ground," and we were confirmed more than ever that the spirits of just men were not made perfect.

To those who want to fertilize their land this spring we recommend that they try Mr. I. H. Heikens' ground limestone. We experimented on our garden with a small quantity last year, and it increased the products at least three-fold. We don't propose to publish a directory for the purpose of making distinction between our business men. They are all "prominent," whether they advertise with us or not. As we have often said, no town in the State boasts of a better class of business men.

Old 200-pounder is a most agreeable gentleman in every respect outside of his religious views, which he will bring up in conversation on all occasions. In fact all other subjects, to him, are lost to view, and thus, we fear, will become "unknown, unthought and unused." We don't like to hear people "make war" on mothers-in-law. Suppose their mothers were mothers-in-law—how would they like to have sport made of them? Nine times out of ten the man who speaks disparagingly of mothers-in-law is not worthy to have a mother-in-law, or wife either.

Some people will try to excel in everything. We were aware that a number of people hereabouts carry the left hind leg of a rabbit in their pockets "for luck," but in passing up the street the other day we overtook a Rebel who had a whole rabbit-skin in his pocket, and even then didn't seem to be overly happy.

There is a perfect "jam" at our post-office at the opening of the northern mail, and we are sorry to note that a few persons, who evidently want to "show off," are in the habit of standing in front of the delivery to read letters, to the discomfort of others who want their mail. "Fire and fall back," gentlemen.

J. E. Ward, of Fayetteville, was in town Tuesday. The cold weather has been severe on the Loafers' Club.

Have you paid your taxes? February 1st is waxing near. George Thompson went to Monticello on legal business Monday. Mrs. Nancy Pryor is dangerously ill with inflammatory rheumatism.

Floyd Estill has in view the organization of a quartette club. More trouble ahead. There are some things going on here that we do not like to see. But we are not the "powers that be."

The distillers of our county had nearly 50,000 gallons of distilled spirits in bonded warehouses on the first day of this month. All sorts of threats are being made about what will be done at the March term of our Circuit Court. "We'll see what we will see."

It will soon be time for farmers to commence complaining that the prospects for a good wheat crop are gloomy 'Twas ever thus. Capt. Isaac Estill is "figuring" to purchase property and become a citizen in the "west end"—in which case he would be our neighbor.

People who keep cattle in town, don't feed them, expecting them to live by foraging from farmers' wagons, have seraway stock now. Shameful! We learn that Mr. John West, of Handland district, while carrying a heavy load on his shoulders a few days since, fell and was severely hurt.

The pastorships at the Baptist and C. P. Churches continue vacant. Only one stationed pastor in town—Rev. J. T. Curry, of the Methodist Church. We understand that our Circuit Court Clerk's office presents a neater appearance than formerly. A wife never fails to learn her husband to keep things neat.

Mr. W. W. Petty has become a citizen of Winchester, and is doing business for his son at Baugh's old stand. He is a good man, and we are glad to number him among our citizens. The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of our Circuit Court in the case of the State vs. Moses Miller, for assaulting Mike Madden at Cowan Miller goes to the penitentiary for five years.

All our lawyers, except Jno. R. Beasley, returned from Supreme Court last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. B. remains until a decision is rendered in the case of Franklin county vs. the N. & C. Railroad for taxes. Mr. Hugh H. Embrey, our prominent young merchant, left here a few days since for Owensboro, Ky., at which place he will be joined in wedlock to Miss Cecil Tyler, formerly a pupil at Mary Sharp College. (Continued next week.)

See here, ladies, some of our marriageable young men are anxious for the Leap-Year party. But we would advise you to go slow, especially in making proposals, for some of the marriageable men around here are of the scrub species, and might, by accepting, involve you in a life of trouble. County Trustee, R. G. Smith, visited Nashville this week, and collected the amount of taxes due from the N. & C. St. Louis Railroad Company. The amount paid him by the company boots up the snug little sum of $5,948.00—$2,382.16 of which sum was for county tax, $2,382.16 for school tax, and $1,184.58 for highway tax.

Register Ashley, in connection with Esqr. H. R. Estill, now occupies the office formerly occupied by Messrs. Davis, Martin & Taylor, and the latter named gentlemen occupy the upstairs room in the same building. Mr. Ashley had been using the Traverse jury room, upstairs in the Courthouse, which always conflicted with his work when Court was in session.

In the case of our County Court Clerk vs. Isaac Vanzant, a distiller in our county, the Supreme Court decided last week in favor of the defendant. The question was whether Vanzant was liable to the tax of $150 as a wholesale liquor dealer. The Court held that a manufacturer who sells articles manufactured by him out of the products of the State is not a wholesale dealer.

New Family Grocery 1884. EVANS & ARLEDGE, on the south side of the Square, in Winchester, have just received a most superb stock of FAMILY GROCERIES, such as Sugar, Coffee, Salt, Canned Goods, Oysters, Sardines, Pickles, Soda, Cheese, Crackers, Candles, Tobacco, Cigars, Snuff, and also BLACK-SMITH'S SUPPLIES.

They will sell at extremely low rates, and invite all to come and examine for themselves. Their goods comprise all needed in the household, and are fresh and warranted. Jan 6

WILEY S. EMBREY & SON, Dry Goods, Clothing, Carpets, Boots, Shoes.

The past season has demonstrated several facts to us of a very gratifying nature. It's easier to sell goods from a big stock. It's easier to sell goods when you let prices be the talking. It's easier to sell goods when you are attentive and prompt in serving the wants of your customers.

Our ambitions are to show better values than any competition; to show a better stock than any competition; to show a better grade of goods than any competition. We intend to push business for all it is worth for this Spring season; and, to enable us to have room for light goods, we are pushing heavy goods. Below we submit a few prices, but only a few, as every line of goods is selling for less than value with us. Our Clothing stock is too large. It must be reduced.

Best Prints, all... 5 cents. Best 4-4 Sheeting... 20 cents. Best Sea Island Cotton—4-4... 12 50. 1 case 4-4 fine bleached, better than fruit... 8 cents. Best Drilling... 8 00. Cotton Cheeks (best)... 5 50.
