SCHOOL NOTES

The fourth grade numbers 24.
John Dunn is absent this week.
The agriculture class have completed a hot bed 14x3 feet.
The Mediaeval history class is studying the Reformation.
A number of pupils of the fourth and fifth grades have returned.
Many of the primary pupils are getting back to their work again.
Several pupils returned to the second and third grades this week.
The U. S. history class has begun a detailed study of African slavery.
Mazie Smith has returned to school again after an absence of a week.
The pupils in the second room are learning to paint tints and shades.
The ninth grade are pleased to welcome back several members of the class.
Last Saturday eve the boys of the H. S. gave a very enjoyable skate to the H. S. girls and teachers.
Pupils are not permitted in the building until after the first bell, except by special previous appointments.
We are sorry to lose Ardell Handy from the third grade. She has moved to Kilgore. Ardell is a faithful pupil.
The ninth grade English class have completed the study of Enoch Arden and will now begin Lowell's Vision of Sir Taunfal.
The high school students and teachers have enjoyed a number of fine walks after schools hours during the pleasant weather of last week.
The U. S. history class was favored by two fine talks last Tuesday morning, one on books by Harold Yeast, and one on mints by Edward Cohota.
The primary pupils want to take part in the field day exercises, so Prof. Bettenga has arranged a short race for the boys and a sack race for the girls.
The Whittier society of the second room elected new officers this week. Walter Graham is president; Charles Morey, secretary, and Leotta Bowers, president.
The O'Neill-Valentine inter-high school debate will be held in Valentine next Saturday evening, March 19, in the opera house. Admission 25 cents for adults, 15 cents for school children.
L. M. Kendall, secretary of the state Y. M. C. A., from Lincoln, addressed the high school last Friday afternoon. He gave a very interesting and helpful message and we wish he could come oftener.
The warm spring days last week gave us the garden fever and a number of the primary pupils have started little gardens in boxes which are placed in the windows. Sometimes these little outside things seem useless, but one has only to see the little ones eagerly watching for the first plant or see whose garden will show the first sprouts to realize that it is really the foundation for agriculture which is taken up in high school work. It is a good idea to let the child have a small space in the large garden at home where he can plant and care for a small garden of his own. It not only awakens a new interest in him concerning the wonders of nature but forms one of the best kinds of recreation.

The Valentine junior normal begins June 6th this year. The instructors are: W. T. Stockdale of Madison, principal; Miss Kate Driscoll, Supt. D. F. Story, Supt. E. P. Bettenga of Valentine; Supt. O. R. Bowen of Pierce and Supt. H. H. Reimund of Crawford.

The seventh and eighth grade room is still making great progress in penmanship. Last week Mrs. Miller sent specimens of the writing to Miss Carlson to be graded. The highest in the eighth grade were Amanda Reagle, 95, and Mina Keister, 95; and the seventh grade, Martha Haley, 92.

The seniors of the normal training class in the high school, Margaret Haley, Florence Jackson and Edna Hobson, have just received the returns from Lincoln for their examination which they took a month ago in civics and arithmetic. Such excellent grades as they made is very gratifying to them and to Miss VanDriel who had their reviews in the above branches in charge. We all take pride in the fine showing they made. They expect to take the examination in geography and grammar next week. They are to be examined in the five essentials and theory and practice, also orthography, penmanship and book-keeping, after passing which successfully they will receive state certificates.
