—Father Dominic is now the Father Superior at the Monastery. He was recently from Ill.

—A gentleman by the name of Robinson, from southwest Missouri is here looking at the country.

—J. W. Early was heard from at Pittsburg last Thursday. He was well, and enjoying his holiday.

—Graves & Tigner have removed their boarding house to Dan. Ryan's old establishment on 11th street.

—Now that the Loup bridge will soon be reconstructed, it becomes important to look after the Platte.

—Episcopal social at Mrs. C. A. Speier's residence Tuesday evening, August 9th. All are cordially invited.

—Hon. L. Gerrard is about to erect a business house, 22,600 feet, on his lot on 13th street, east of Becker's.

—It is astonishing the amount of products and stock that pass East and West over the Union Pacific railroad.

—The first new wheat that we have heard of, brought to this market, went into the U. P. elevator Monday.

—Louis Berhaup, the merchant tailor, started last week for Chicago on a business and pleasure trip of two weeks.

—Rev. H. Fischer will preach in the German language, at the Presbyterian church, this city, next Sunday, at 3 p. m.

—Ed. Fitzpatrick sells eight hundred and fifty papers a week; 90 dailies each day; 25 copies of the Chicago Times.

—H. G. Brindley got hit in the left eye Monday by a base ball, while practicing. Beef-steak and a sling for a few days.

—Fred. Blaser and two of his children have been troubled with diphtheria lately—severe attacks. They are now improving.

—Mr. Rittenbender, formerly of the Osceola Record called to see us last week on his way home from the northern part of the state.

—The wheat crop of Boone Co., and indeed of most of the newer counties of the State, is said to excel that of the older portions.

—Farmers, bring your poultry, butter and eggs to Lamb's near the post-office, and get the highest market price in cash for them.

—Commissioner Wise, who is superintending the construction of the Loup bridge, believes that teams can cross over by next Monday.

—J. B. Shillito of Stearns Prairie leaves with us the finest lot of new potatoes we have seen—worthy to go with Murdoch's tall corn.

—Our ladies will be greatly pleased to see Miss Georgie Warburton at Kramer's store, and Miss Georgie will be pleased to see and wait on them.

—Mr. O. H. Archer, of the Journal force is visiting friends at Staplehurst, Neb. We are sorry to learn that his sore arm is worse.

—Wm. Tillman and Mr. Montgomery, telegraph operator at David city, were in town Thursday night last, and gave the JOURNAL a very pleasant call.

—The Lincoln Journal is preaching the gospel of hogs and corn for the material salvation of Nebraska farmers, and it is making a good many converts.

—Judge Geer was in Kearney co. last week on legal business returning home Wednesday. He praises that country very highly, and says the crops are good.

—We are informed that gambling has begun again in Columbus. It would seem as though there had been experience enough in that line to answer for the next century.

—Gus. Krause started for the east Monday. It has been a rule with us, (not without exception, however), never to announce a wedding before it takes place, and we don't do so now.

—Conductor Owen, who returned last week from a trip into southern Illinois and Indiana, says that there will be about one-fourth the crop there as here—the country is suffering for rain.

—The Messrs. Murdoch and J. H. Watts begin work to-day on the Monroe Congregational Church. E. E. Hall superintends the building, and it is expected to be ready for use by October 1st.

—The Odd Fellows of this city are contemplating an excursion over the A. & N. some time during the latter part of this month. Further mention will be made when the arrangements are completed.

—Fred. Matthews had a kick from "Black Knight" last week, which knocked the breath out of him for a little while, and came near injuring him very seriously. He is all right again, and is very thankful.

—The rush for the shipment of stock is so great that the Union Pacific company is sending out stock cars empty along the line in order to make time. Usually these cars are sent out from Omaha loaded.

—Our correspondent, who has been discussing city matters, challenges those who have been trying to make personal thrusts, to come out over their own signatures, and discuss the merits of the question.

—George Wise of Canton, Ill., brother to John Wise, Chairman of the Board of Co. Commissioners and brother-in-law to T. J. Ellis, spent several days last week among his friends here, leaving for Council Bluffs Monday.

—Every account is that the flax crop of Nebraska will be, this year, as it nearly always is, a first-rate one. Farmers find the crop a paying one, although they have no market for the straw. If we had that, it would pay richly.

—L. J. Cramer will attend the Institute at Schuyler a few days next week, after which he will spend a few days at the Hamilton County Institute at Aurora. Mr. Cramer loses no opportunity to keep at the front in his profession.

—"One hundred young women of Holyoke, Mass., are going west where they spell it with two y's. Spell what—marry?—Omaha Republican. No. Holy yoke.—Lincoln Journal. Y. Y; funny we didn't tumble to it.—O. Republican.

—Mr. Marshall Smith will accompany his wife west to-day, for the benefit of her health. It is hoped that she will be benefited by a lighter atmosphere. Her many friends wish her a safe return home, and a speedy recovery of her health.

—Robt. Clark was called to Fort McPherson last week to take charge of the telegraph office there in the absence of the regular operator. For one who has picked up the art outside of his legitimate business, Robert is certainly "old lightning" on a wire.

—The walls of Wilder Lodge, I. O. O. F., this city, are adorned with a fine, large, neatly framed picture of Phil. B. Bonesteel, presented to the lodge by Mrs. Kittie L. Bonesteel. Mr. Bonesteel was the Noble Grand of this lodge, at the time of his death.

—Mrs. J. O. Tasker, who was bit on the hand by a rattlesnake in June, has felt no serious effects from it. The wound was bathed in carbolic acid. Bicarbonate of soda (common baking soda) saturated with vinegar is said to be an excellent remedy by those who have tried it.

—David City, Arcade and Bellwood are reaping a harvest of business from our south-side friends in Butler and Polk, who have not been able to reach Columbus readily, since the flood carried away our bridges. It is to be hoped that this state of affairs will not long continue.

—The committee on Platte bridge report that the situation is a great deal more favorable than they had supposed before examining. Not a pier is gone—all are standing; just as they did before the flood, and there will be no trouble to make the crossing in a short time, by rebuilding the super-structure.

—Mr. McVicker says that the Fall is the best time to plant box-elders and ash, and that all trees set out should invariably be mulched, and mulched all the time. It has become a common thing in Nebraska to plant trees just as you would corn, and cultivate them the same, for two seasons, after which they can take care of themselves.

—Mr. and Mrs. Merritt of Norfolk passed east through Columbus, Monday. The lady has been longing to go to her old home in the east, and could not get the consent of her husband, and on Saturday last, while walking with a young lady she suddenly started for the river, throwing herself in, and floating down. She was rescued, however, and now makes her trip.

—Charles Segelke's team took fright one morning last week and started on a run down 11th street. Charles jumped into the wagon from behind, caught hold of the lines and brought his team to the "right about" before they had run a block. But Charles and every other man should make his team secure, then, if they scare at falling boxes or anything else, they will not be so apt to get away.

—Albert Stenger has cut, with a self-binder, 130 acres of grain. If the men who bowed their backs reaping with the old sickle, could arise now from their slumbers, and look upon the way their grand-children harvest their grain, they would feel like acknowledging that they had lived in an inferior age, so far at least as labor-saving machinery was concerned. What will our grand children have to say of us?

—We like to see an editor feel happy, and here is one, evidently—the Madison Chronicle man, and the occasion of his hilarity, let him tell it himself: "If you want to see the boss calf of the county call at ye editor's stable and you can be gratified. When it was twenty-four hours old it weighed 125 pounds and we were offered a ten-dollar bill for the same. It will be two weeks old to-morrow and there isn't a calf in the county, of the same age that will come up to it in size or weight."

—The best butter in the New York market goes from Iowa, so we see it stated in some of our exchanges. We are assured that first-class Nebraska butter ranks just as high as Iowa. Theirs is an older settled state, and doubtless the facilities for handling butter, the stables, the milk houses, &c., are, on the average, better than those of Nebraska, but our folks are learning fast, and nothing will bring them to the front quicker than to know that the gilt-edged butter made by the Nebraskans who mean business, brings twenty cents a pound the year round. This price ought certainly to be an inducement for the men of Nebraska to go to work and provide the best of milk houses and other facilities for making good butter.

—The Omaha Republican of Saturday contained a detailed account of a horrible accident which happened at North Bend last Friday evening, to Mrs. Williams. She ran up behind a train standing at the depot, and called to a gentleman in the caboose, with whom she had business, and before he had time to get to her the train moving backwards had struck her, knocking her down with her neck over a rail, and two cars passed before the train could be stopped. Her head was completely severed from her body, and, strange to say, she received not a bruise or a scratch anywhere else, upon her head or body. She was an excitable woman, and a man by the name of Robinson had just played upon her the scoundrelly trick of selling her a piece of land that he had already sold to another, receiving pay from both, which fact probably so occupied her mind that she was unconscious of where she was standing, intent only upon conferring with a man who purposed aiding her in securing the street of the scoundrel who had defrauded her.

—Invasion of the Rights of an American Citizen by Germans. Several weeks since Mr. Arnold Oehrich of the firm of Oehrich Bros. of this place went to visit the home of his mother at Elmshorn, Holstein, Germany. He had been there about thirty days, when one morning before he was yet out of bed, two policemen made their appearance, put him under arrest and took him before a police judge, who said that he must go to the fort for a year, work at hard labor for a year, or pay a fine of 200 marks, about $50. Mr. Oehrich paid the 200 marks, and asked the Judge if that was all he wanted from him. On his saying that it was, Mr. O. said that now he would see the American Consul at Hamburg about the matter.

—After he had started for home the Judge sent his marshal to request him to call at his office before going to Hamburg. On returning, the Judge inquired concerning his passport, and was informed that Mr. O. was an American citizen. He went to Hamburg and returned in a few weeks. The day following his return, the Judge tried to get his papers from him, and was determined to send him into the army, but Mr. Oehrich told them to keep their hands off him, and he left on the 1st of July.

—We suppose that rather than waste his time prosecuting for false imprisonment, Mr. Oehrich will make his way to America at the earliest opportunity, but it must be very annoying for an American citizen (as much so as any of us, although not born here), to be treated thus, and Secretary Blaine should make it so lively for these swindlers that they will never dare undertake their game again.

Franciscan Monastery. On Sunday, the 7th of August, the festival "Portiuncula" will solemnly be celebrated in the Church of the Franciscan Fathers. The faithful, after worthily receiving the Sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist, can gain a plenary indulgence as often as they visit said church and say some prayers according to the intention of the Supreme Pontiff. Masses will be said at 6, 7, and 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock there will be Solemn Highmass with sermons in English and German. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock Solemn Vespers and Benediction.

City Items. One of the members of the City Council tells us that a JOURNAL correspondent, in treating of city matters, should remember that the city debt is less than $4,000; that warrants are worth from 80 to 90 cts. on the dollar; that the publication of the ordinances in pamphlet form, can not cost the city $200—all the printing for the year, including every item for publication of ordinances in newspaper, and in pamphlet form, for job-work, everything in the printing line, cannot cost more than $150. He suggests, too, that if there were a good attendance of citizens at the meetings of the Council, and a complete publication of their proceedings by the newspapers, there would be less occasion for fault finding.

Platte Center. Hon. T. C. Ryan was made happy by the addition of a little girl to his family last Friday night.

P. F. Doody, who has been in Colorado for the last three months, writes that he will be among us by the 1st of August.

Last night our population was again increased by the arrival of a young miller, the son of Robt. Price, our Platte Center miller.

Dr. Wm. Edwards purchased a farm of two hundred acres from an Italian by the name of Barbero, last week, four miles north of town.

Sometime during next month, the mail for Oakdale and other offices on the same route will be supplied from this place instead of from Columbus, as heretofore. X.

A Good Thing. J. E. Elliott has invented a combination drive well that promises to make a big revolution in the business of supplying water. Any number of wells may be included in the combination, the tops being drawn toward each other in an easy curve, and enclosed in a large inverted funnel, closed below, the streams joining and forming one current as the water is pulled out by suction.

A trial was made Friday last with the fire engine, on a well of this kind, having five supply tubes, and it gave excellent satisfaction.

Heretofore Columbus has started out on a system of large wells lined with plank, but this looks as though it would be a decided improvement, and will probably be adopted.

There is every indication that our section of country has an unlimited supply of water, when you go down into the coarse gravel, and the theory of this invention is that with such supply pipes you form the equivalent of a well as large as (perhaps larger than) the area enclosed by them.

There are several advantages to the new well, among which are—its cost, compared with the other, one-half or less; cost of repair, merely nominal; the water would be always pure; comparatively no trouble to attach hose.

Bridge Meeting. A called meeting of the citizens of Columbus was held on Saturday last at the Town Hall.

Col. John Rieky was called to the chair and David Anderson elected secretary.

About all the business interests of the city were represented, and the object of the meeting as stated by the chairman was to take some action and devise the necessary means, to repair the Platte river bridge, eleven spans of which were washed away last March, by the ice and water, and also to inquire into the reason of the great delay in constructing the Loup Fork bridge, and urge its immediate completion.

Mr. Robinson, the contractor, being present gave his reason for the tedious manner work on the Loup has been delayed, and promised to have his contract fulfilled in about seven or eight days, when we may again expect to have our former trade from south and west of the Loup renewed.

Remarks were made by Mr. Becker, Mr. Kramer, John Wiggins and others, concerning the proper course to pursue in rebuilding the Platte river bridge, and on motion of J. E. North, it was resolved that a committee of three be appointed, consisting of John Rieky, John Wiggins and G. A. Schroeder for the purpose of investigating the condition of funds available for the speedy repairing of Loup and Platte bridges, and to consult with the county commissioners in regard to the early completion of said bridges. Also to examine the contract made for driving piles, and putting on the caps for the Loup bridge and to see if work has been done according to contract.

On motion of Mr. Becker, this meeting adjourned to meet again at call of committee as above designated. D. ANDERSON, Sec'y.

Refunding Bonds or Not. EDITOR JOURNAL: As the city council have not, as I am aware, complied with Subdivision 31, Section 69, Chap. 23, Laws of Nebraska, 1881, page, 183, which provides that— "The council or trustees shall cause to be published, semi-annually, a statement of the receipts of the corporation and sources thereof, and an itemized account of expenditures, with a statement of the financial condition of the city or village," the exact amount of our city debt cannot be ascertained, but is supposed to be little less than five thousand dollars. The ten thousand dollars in bonds proposed to be voted by a few parties included the debts of the city incurred during the present year, as well as its outstanding debt incurred during previous years. Now if we assume that $5000.00 in cash is necessary to liquidate such outstanding debt, the following estimate will show that the city in ten years, when the bonds fall due, would lose $3,354.37 provided our municipal affairs could be managed on the same basis as they were during Mr. Becker's administration, and the city pay at the rate of $1500.00 per year on its old debt.

STATEMENT WITH REFERENCE TO BONDS. Am't of interest bearing bonds at 7 per cent, necessary to raise $5000.00 in cash if bonds sell for 95 cts. on the dollar $5263.16 Cost of an election 50.00 Estimated cost of negotiating bonds 100.00 Ten years interest 2654.21 Am't paid at end of ten years $3047.23

AGAINST BONDS ON BECKER'S PLAN. First payment on indebtedness $1500.00 Principal drawing 10 per cent. interest 2500.00 First year's interest 250.00 Second " 225.00 Third " 198.00 Total amount paid in three years at the rate of paying $1000.00 a year $3573.00

RECAPITULATION. For bonds $3047.23 Against bonds 3047.00 Difference against bonds $334.23 Let us grant, for the sake of argument in favor of the funding process, that the bonds can be negotiated at par, that it will cost nothing to negotiate them or call an election therefor, how stands the matter then? $5,000.00 drawing 7 per cent. interest in ten years, would equal $8,500.00 principal and interest, thus leaving a difference against bonds between that sum and $5693.00, which equals $2807.00.

Again, it will be seen at the end of three years on the above hypothesis we would have no city debt if we didn't vote bonds. On the other hand, our bonded debt then, including accrued interest, would amount to $6050.00. But it may be argued that the interest will have to be paid annually. Grant it. The principal, $5000.00, cannot be paid for ten years. It has been asserted by good authority that there is more than enough taxes levied for this and previous years, which might be applied towards paying off the old debt. It is very hard for the city to be sued on its outstanding orders, but the judgments which have been rendered thereon are trifling in amount, and they have all been paid up, I believe. Who are likely to sue the city again? When such is the case, some way may be contrived by which the matter can be met. It is not best to cross a bridge till we reach it. Furthermore, city warrants have not the qualities of negotiable paper, their consideration can always be enforced into. Some of our outstanding paper may have been illegally issued, but if we vote bonds to pay it off, when paid, our money is virtually lost.

It was stated to the writer by a member of the city council, that on Monday, July 25th, a resolution was introduced before our city fathers for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the city's title to Frankfort Square, whether it could be divided into lots and sold by the city, but was voted down, there being a tie vote, the Mayor voting in the negative. It would seem that the subject is worthy of consideration, for if that property could be sold, its proceeds applied towards paying off our obligations, and the amount of taxable property increased, the interests of our little commonwealth would be much better conserved, for as it stands fenced in, it is of no use only for growing weeds, and paying the overseer of streets out of city funds for harvesting them.

BYRON MILLETT.

Gambling. According to Lexicographers a gambler is one who plays for money or other stakes, and this vice is not confined to cards, billiards, pool and such games, but takes in horse racing and kindred matters which however innocent in themselves when kept in proper bounds, yet seem to lack the excitement so much sought after, unless there is a pecuniary value attached to their success or failure. Of the evil resulting from an indulgence in the first of these games, this community has but too recently had a sorrowful experience, but let those who would punish the violators of law in these respects, see to it that their hands are clean before they commence throwing stones, for under the moral law sin is the same whether the degree be large or small. We may endeavor to hide the deformity of the thing under the name of driving parks, agricultural fairs, &c., but the cloven foot is there, and sooner or later its hideousness will show its effects. Agricultural exhibitions when properly conducted tend to the development and improvement of any neighborhood, but if the evils referred to are to be considered as necessary adjuncts then it would be better to remain undeveloped.

A LOOKER ON. TEACHERS' INSTITUTE. To the Teachers of Platte Co. The Annual Normal Institute will begin Monday, August 22d, 1881, and continue for a term of two weeks. All those who expect to teach in the county are requested to attend. During the last two days examinations will be held for both county and state certificates. During a portion of the term, Hon. W. W. Jones, State Sup't., will be present and take part in the exercises. J. E. MOSKIER, Co. Sup't.
