Ed. Rosinger, night policeman, has returned from Omaha, where he attended the wedding Monday last week, of his brother Patrick, to Miss Kate Fleming.

The Modern Woodmen camp meeting at Leigh last Thursday was like an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, say those who were in attendance from here.

There are challenges and rumors of challenges all through the political air in this section; when matters settle down to definiteness, THE JOURNAL will make note of all debates.

There is a great deal of zeal in the world for reforming men and society—that is for making them conform to our ideas—which is in spirit thoroughly uncharitable and wicked.

R. W. Murphy, who has been here so long with the Theatrons, left Saturday for Kearney, where he has a position in the Midway hotel. He says he will show the Kearneyites how to shout for McKinley.

Representatives of the Union Pacific and the B. & M. railway companies met the city council Monday to talk over the situation with reference to the opening of Kummer, Madison and Platt streets.

John Grodzulesch visited THE JOURNAL office Saturday, and he says that people in the country are just about as much interested in politics as are the people in town. The country is all right.

Out-down the weeds that are maturing seeds to grow more weeds another year. Cut them down in front of your own premises, and on the same. If we should all do this, what a handsome city this would be!

Tomorrow, Thursday, evening at 8 o'clock, the republican delegates of the Third district meet in this city to select a candidate for congress. The eighteen counties of the district will be represented by 303 delegates.

M. C. Calto has a novelty at his premises in the way of an apple tree. It bloomed regularly the past spring and bore some fruit, and now it is in bloom again. This is the only instance of the kind we have heard of here this year.

Mrs. J. T. Moore, wife of Editor Moore of the Hampshire Herald, was brought Thursday to St. Mary's hospital, where her physician, Dr. Geor, conveniently treats her. The doctor entertains hope of her recovery in a few weeks.

I. Gluck has been raising the rear part of his home dwelling house, and making other improvements. At his property across the way, he has had some of the trees cut down, and others trimmed up, forming umbrellas tops and letting the sunshine and air in.

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Bon parade, Omaha, Thursday evening, Sept. 3d. What a crowd it will attract! What a royal spectacle it will be! Ask the local agent of the Burlington Route for full information about special state fair trains and low state fair rates to Omaha.

John Eisenmann has left with us some splendid specimens of potatoes, the varieties being Early Ohio, Triumph, June Eating, and one other (name unknown), but which often reaches a remarkable length. These samples are all large, notwithstanding they were planted the last of April.

Mrs. Laura M. Carver, who will be remembered by many JOURNAL readers as the grand daughter of James McAllister and daughter of James McAllister, Jr., of the city visiting relatives. For the past year she has been in Europe, with the special object of learning French and German.

S. Brainerd Sons Co., 151 Wabash avenue, Chicago, have sent us a copy of their "Silver Songs," a free silver song book for this campaign. The songs are probably as good as any of their kind. Of course THE JOURNAL thinks the kind are not the right standard, but if such songs must be sung, this little book is as good as any.

Another "Boston notion" is baths in connection with school houses. The advocates of the plan say that the death rate among Boston teachers is about the highest in the world. It is found that school baths conduce to discipline and good order as well as to health and the formation of decent habits and the care of the person and of clothing.

Rev. DeGaller returned sooner than he had expected to do from his summer vacation. At Detroit, Michigan, he first learned of the death of his only brother, Otto, at Amsterdam, Holland. He had not seen him for thirty-one years. He was 55 years and 7 months old and had retired from business about two years before his death, which was of apoplexy.

Thousands of people visited the Grand Army camp grounds at Lincoln Sunday. A great many teams with visiting families arrived and went into camp. Quite a number of patriotic speeches were made. The formal opening of Camp Churchill took place Monday. Baker Post of this city have been assigned quarters in camp and will be glad to welcome all comers.

Friday evening D. M. Sullivan and George Duffy gave a dance at Orpheus hall in honor of Miss Margaret and Miss O'Toole of Omaha, who have been the guests of Miss Mollie Beatty and other friends in the city. After the dance refreshments were served. The music was by the Mandolin club, and all present part of a very enjoyable evening. The Misses O'Toole left Saturday for Denver, where they visit friends.

The speech of Hon. J. E. Fritch of Fremont was so good an argument for sound republican doctrine that he has been solicited to deliver another later in the campaign, which he has consented to do.

The Wild West show is billed already for Omaha October 10th. It is one of the great shows of all historic times, and doubtless there will be a large crowd to greet them at Omaha. The Wild West is the family of a Nebraska man, and W. F. Cody, familiarly called "Buffalo Bill," has set a pace for future showmen.

Farmer Harrison of Ashby Park, who has given a great deal of thought to the problem of good roads, says that if two wheels were hitched with longer double-tracks and neck-yokes, so that horses would be directly ahead of the wheels, there would be no noise, as horses will not walk in ruts, and thus the making of ruts would be prevented.

While in Columbus last Saturday, says the Schuyler Star, we saw a dozen corn stalks that averaged fourteen feet. On one it was nine feet to the first ear of corn. The farmer said he had forty ears and the average of the height of the stalks was twelve feet, and what was puzzling him was how he was going to haul it. He will either have to use stiles or carry a step ladder.

Ralph, son of James E. Hudson, and grandson of Judge H. J. Hudson, died at Pine Bluff, Arkansas, last week after a short illness. He was in the 20th year of his age. He had gone to Arkansas, and not finding matters so prosperous as his father's home at Bakerville, California, and had reached Pine Bluff, when he was taken ill. His brother George arrived here Monday.

Mr. Goulding of Kearney called at JOURNAL headquarters Thursday with Col. Meagher. Mr. Goulding represents the Union Pacific immigration and passenger interest, and is just now looking for the G. A. R. encampment at St. Paul, Minnesota, Sept. 1-4, to swell the crowd that will go there on Union Pacific lines. We learned from him that the headquarters' train will leave Omaha Monday evening, August 31.

Next week Thursday evening, September 3d, at the opera house, J. J. Simpson of Lincoln will give an exhibit of the wonderful capacity of the new Edison phonograph with concert and piano selections, talking, etc., are reproduced with great exactness, and make a fine evening's entertainment. Ten cents is the price of admission, and Mr. Simpson should be greeted with a crowded house.

Sunday night a week ago, who came as a party of serenaders, who joked to John Eisenmann's place to put up the charivari still customary in some places on such occasions. The noise, (at a little distance) was not sufficient to overcome the organ and the voices of the singers inside the house, and when, afterwards, it was learned that the marriage did not take place till the next day, the serenaders concluded that they had played a joke on themselves.

We are in receipt of a copy of "Our Home News," a little paper issued by the Nebraska Home for the Friendless at Lincoln. Perhaps there are some of our readers in need of the offices of this institution, who are not even aware of its existence; its object is "to give shelter and protection to homeless women and children of Nebraska and to place surrendered children in permanent homes." Mrs. M. Williams, superintendent, may be addressed by any one interested.

Rev. Z. C. Rush of Madras, Calif., was in the city several days last week and preached Sunday morning at the Baptist church to a crowded house, and among the number were a few of his old congregation. His theme was the Second Coming of the Savior, the main thoughts being that the scriptures state it as a fact yet to be, not, however, disclosing the time. The exhortation was to be ready at all times, and patiently wait. Mr. Rush was to preach at Bellwood Sunday evening, expecting to return, and start for his home today.

The picnic on Shell Creek Sunday, given by the Farmer Boys' Cornet Band was well attended, there being quite a large number who went out from town. The day was most beautiful for outdoor sport and the boys had everything arranged so that all could enjoy themselves. Dancing was kept up until a late hour. The game of ball was a considerable affair, the Shell Creek nine being too many for the Scottsdales. Only five innings were played, the score being 10 to 2 in favor of Shell Creek. Umpires, Colquhoun and Lebo. The speeches of "Cody" Priest and Peter Smith gave zest to the occasion.

We have a state law which provides for the free attendance of students whose education cannot be profitably carried further in their own district, at some neighboring public high school, tuition at the rate of 50 cents per week being paid to such high school by the county in which the student resides. The law has resulted in bringing into the high schools of the state, during the first year of the law's operation, more than 2,000 students from the country districts. In Platt county, the state superintendent has designated an approved list of high schools for this purpose: Columbus, Humphrey, Lindsay and Platt Center.

On Saturday morning last the body of Louis Wettaver, who died at Central City, was received here, and, at the residence of Henry Loska, was viewed by friends in the city. At 11 o'clock, under the escort of the Modern Woodmen of the city, (the pall bearers being Louis Held, Carl Schubert, Henry Rieder, Arthur Pohl, Mr. Schober and L. Plath) the remains were taken to the Shell Creek Lutheran church, and after a sermon by Rev. Miller, were consigned to their last resting place. There were many friends of the family present, who sympathized deeply with the afflicted ones. Mr. Wettaver leaves a wife and four young children. He was in the thirty-third year of his age. He was born near Shell Creek postoffice, and had lived at the place of his birth most of his life, but recently had been engaged in mercantile business at Central City, where he died.

District 44 and vicinity.

F. W. Young had some fine fat hogs in the Columbus market Thursday; $2.45 was the price.

Wet weather has very much retarded grain stacking. Thrashing out of the sheaf has also been very slow in consequence of frequent showers.

We would advise those having young cattle and who are obliged to sell them, to consult some responsible farmer before putting them on the market, as they are worth more at the present time to farmers than the general market affords.

The lodged straw and heavy growth of vegetation on the stubble fields makes it very difficult to do fall plowing. Some farmers are moving the weeds and then burning them when dry enough and we believe that to be the best way to do the work thoroughly.

Thomas Johnson and Owen McCann have each a piece of fine buckwheat in full bloom, and what is more beautiful! Let every farmer plant two acres of that grain for two years in succession and harvest before shelling out and we will venture to say that he will never discard that crop afterwards.

Winter wheat was the best crop harvested here this summer, so far, and to those who cannot find work to keep them busy on the farm we would say to commence now to fall plow. Plow the ground thoroughly not less than five inches deep; then harrow until pulverized. Then, with a press drill plant the ground to fall wheat, putting the seed about three inches deep in rows and seed about this latitude is preferable, remember, then, you will have to rustic out of your cornfields about the first of July to gather the grain.

The "McKinley Tin" Case. Last week C. W. Talbitter received a number of "McKinley Tin" cases from his brother-in-law in Niles, Ohio. These cases are made by the Niles Tin Case company, and are souvenirs of our next president.

A REMON-FRERE DEMOCRAT started the Bryan club at Lincoln the other evening by a proposition to them to organize a syndicate for speculative purposes. Silver-bar silver was quoted the equal of gold in New York at 67 cents an ounce Nov. 67 from 1.59 to 62 cents. And what would be later than to invest now and wait till after the election of Bryan, and sell at 1.29? President O'Leary showed signs of anger, but only said "You're no democrat," but the stranger quietly replied "You're a liar. I have voted the democratic ticket thirty years, and I will be voting the democratic ticket when your man Bryan will be running for a county office on the pop ticket."

A. M. TRUE arrived home from the City of Mexico last Wednesday for a month's visit. He is wearing a suit of clothes which he paid $50 for in that free silver country and which any Tecumseh merchant would duplicate for $10. Mr. True has been in Mexico for about nine months, but he has utterly failed to detect the beauties of free silver. He says the most of the Mexicans are hoping that Bryan will be elected for the reason that they expect free coinage by the United States will double the value of their depreciated money.—[Tecumseh Chief.]

In 1893, observes the Omaha Bee, Bryan's personal organ, the Omaha World-Herald, so was firmly convinced that the United States should not restore the value of silver to $1.29 an ounce that it kept its article denouncing "the dishonest ratio of 1 to 16" standing at the head of its editorial columns for over a week.

Twenty-seven years of protection (1895 to 1898) decreased our public debt $1,747,301,878. Three years of free trade (1893 to 1898) increased our public debt $262,329,630.

At West Plains, Mo., the grand stand at the ball park, where a game was in progress Sunday, was blown down and fifteen persons injured.
