Whittaker—Friday, Oct. 13, at 7 a. m., Catherine Whittaker, in the sixty-seventh year of her age.

Deceased was the widow of A. J. Whittaker, who departed this life in 1888. About two years ago she had a stroke of paralysis, followed, six months later, by another stroke, and from these she never fully recovered. She had not been well for about three years and a half, but had not long been confined to her bed.

Mrs. Whittaker was a member of the Congregational church, and much beloved by all her acquaintances.

Funeral services were held at the residence in the eastern part of the city, Saturday at 2 o'clock, Rev. Hayes of the Presbyterian church, in the absence of Rev. Rogers of the Congregational, preaching the sermon.

The pall bearers were: J. H. Galley, H. T. Peery, W. W. Rice, A. W. Clark, E. O. Rector and R. L. Rositter.

JENNINGS—CHANDLER—At Omaha, August 18, 1899, by County Judge Barber, A. M. Jennings and Susan J. Chandler.

The JOURNAL must on his occasion frankly acknowledge its inability to get all the news, all the time; our hearty good wishes go with our friends for happiness and prosperity.

MILLER—SCHULTZ—Tuesday, October 17, by Justice Bayard Fuller of this city, William M. Miller and Miss Anna Schulz.

The Columbus Planing Mill, A. H. Free, proprietor, is ready to take all your orders for general mill work, in whatever shape it may come. Call and see. Sash, doors, screens, tanks, etc., etc., are some of the specialties, but everything in our line, we can do for you, on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. We have employed C. C. Hardy to assist us—a man well known for the thoroughness of his work in our line. 4

South Omaha authorities are not exercising any more vigilance against thieves than is becoming to them, that is, Joseph H. Sawyer, a ranchman near Whitman, sold some cattle in that market town, and in a very short time thereafter, he had been overpowered by three men, and $500 taken from him. He was a little too susceptible to influence, in a cigar store, of course, but there is always a more or less favorable opportunity for crooked work.

The knowledge reaches Fremont that George Smith, many times a millionaire, died in London yesterday at an age of 90 years. We was known here through his generosity to his relatives who have lived near Fremont. Mrs. C. W. Hyatt, now in California, has for many years received an annuity at his hands and J. Y. Smith and John Keith also received some of his bounty. Mr. Smith was reputed worth 20 millions when he left Chicago and it is supposed his estate is now worth more. Although these people known to Fremonters are distant relatives a small aside should they receive it would be a good pick up.—Fremont Tribune.

Capt. Charles W. Jena, the republican candidate for county clerk, is gaining ground every day, and is likely to continue doing so until the closing hour of election. The same thoroughness of devotion to the public that characterized his service in the army fighting against the Philippines, will doubtless be brought to bear in the office of county clerk. Whatever the law prescribes as his duty, that you will find him doing, exactly as laid down—honestly serving his fellow-citizens, according to the laws as provided, doing every duty conscientiously. He made an excellent soldier; he will make an able official, and there is no reason why he should not receive your vote.

Not a day passes but farmers are hunting hands to husk corn. Three cents a bushel is the regular wage, and a good corn shucker can make big wages at that price. Men are wanted everywhere at good wages for all kinds of work. Mr. Ott, the Burlington agent here, received word from the company last Thursday to pick them up fifty men if he could, to work on the road building fence, stock yards, etc. There is no possible excuse for an able bodied man being out of a job. Carpenters, masons, painters and all other mechanics have all the work they can do. It is quite different now from what it was in the good old democratic days of '96, when men were glad to get a day's work at an old wage.—Seward Blade.

We never knew well-borers so busy as within the last few weeks. J. C. Turner washed a "stubbler" well at the farm and Mr. Plath, the only man here that puts them down, had work three weeks ago, so Craig struck out for Eugene Bacon at Platte Center. He came the next day, and they soon had water from the new well—a depth of 110 feet. The old well, a few feet distant, was put down in 1873, reaching water at a depth of 96 feet. By the way, there is a difference in the depth to water now and twenty-five years ago, in more places than here. The David City Press says: Twenty-five years ago 36 to 40 feet was the average depth of wells in this town, but the water raised constantly until 1893, when 24 to 29 feet was about the average, since when the water has sunk 3 feet, and nearly every household is now short on water.

John Tannahill left this neighborhood Saturday last, after endeavoring to sell a cow, going away with a horse and buggy, saying that he was going to friends, mother and brother, we believe, living in Bellwood, to borrow some money if he could, to straighten up his indebtedness. Nothing has been heard of him or from him since then, and his friends are very anxious concerning him. The revelations of last week (elsewhere referred to) were a surprise to everybody, without exception, Mr. Tannahill always having borne a good reputation and generally regarded as an honorable man. Old friends remembered when, before financially involved, in the break-up of the Alexis Mercantile association, Mr. Tannahill did not only the fair thing but generously by creditors, he being one of the stock-holders, and giving up a goodly portion of private property that was exempt by law. Of course there can be no excusing what he has done, but it is well enough, after all, that Infinite Justice and Mercy dwell together.

Republican City Convention.
Pursuant to call, a number of enthusiastic republicans met at Council Hall Monday evening for the purpose of nominating a city ticket.

The meeting was called to order by Committeeman H. G. Cross, John Wiggins being elected chairman and E. H. Chambers, secretary.

John Hoffman and O. C. Shannon were placed in nomination for assessor. A ballot being taken resulted in Shannon 11, Hoffman 8, and Mr. Shannon was declared the nominee.

J. M. Curtis and Frank Taylor were nominated unanimously by acclamation for justices of the peace, and Marvin Eiston and Mike Welch, the same for constables.

The committee was given the usual authority.

Opportunity was given to sign the constitution of the Reese Club.

Before adjournment, the hall was crowded full of republicans.

Democratic Convention.
The democratic city convention was called to order Saturday evening at the council chamber at 8 o'clock, B. P. Duffy being chosen chairman and Charles Segelka, jr., selected as secretary.

After reading the call the chair remarked that the business would be taken up in the order named, and the first thing would be the selection of a candidate for assessor. Dennis O'Brien was named but positively declined. Then C. A. Newman was suggested, but he declared that he would not be here next spring to look after the duties of the office. The name of John Graf was then suggested, together with mention that he was not present to decline. He was declared the nominee.

Next came the selection of two justices. The name of Bayard Fuller for this office brought out some discussion. He was asked to define his political position. Mr. Fuller arose and said that he had always been a democrat; that his ancestors were life-long democrats; that he came from Virginia, a grand old state which was notorious for its democracy. He could assure this convention that he would this fall vote the state and county democratic ticket. This seemed to satisfy some, but not all. He was told that he did not go far enough in his declaration, and was asked to tell them how he looked on the National issue. He spoke again for several minutes and enlarged the memory of Clay, Jefferson, Jackson and others, but positively refused to endorse Bryan or the Chicago platform. He was, however, nominated. He will have some trouble to square himself with several prominent republicans to whom he stated last week that he would vote for Reese.

H. J. Hudson was named as the other justice of the peace, and Ed. Rosetter and John Schmoeker for constables, after which the convention adjourned.

Greek Carnival.
A Greek Carnival by home talent will be given in the opera house Thursday evening, Oct. 19th. Fifty or more young ladies and children assisting under the direction of Miss Pickert, who is conducting classes in physical culture in this city. Boss Erylene Knestrick, a reader of wide reputation, and former principal of the Western Reserve school of oratory, Cleveland, Ohio, will render some choice dramatic and humorous selections. Following are some press comments concerning the program:

"The statutory studies were most beautiful, the colored lights casting a ray of beauty upon the graceful study that was sublime. The minut, by twenty-four little masters and misses in court costume, was most entertaining, the little ones being natural in the extreme. The different numbers were given with a promptness and movement that would do credit to professionals. The next drill was charming in effect. It is the most elaborate entertainment ever undertaken in the city.—Webster City (Iowa) Tribune.

"The guests were delightfully entertained by Rose Erylene Knestrick, who gave a variety of readings that displayed her wonderful versatility and great talent to advantage. Her magnificent rendition of the "Sleep-walking scene from Macbeth" was a fine exhibition of her unusual dramatic ability, and her presentation of "How granda danced the minuet," was exquisitely beautiful and graceful. Other selections in a lighter vein convinced the audience and called forth hearty applause."—Fremont (Ohio) Daily News.

"Rose Erylene Knestrick was invited by the board of ladies managers of the World's Fair to deliver two addresses in the assembly room of the woman's building. This invitation she accepted and while in Chicago she represented her state in literary recital given in the Ohio building assembly room."—Cleveland Sun and Voice.

Prices of admission, 25, 35 and 50 cents. Reserved seats at Pollock & Co's drug store.

A Big Fraud.
There have been two working organizations effected in the state, one with headquarters at Omaha, the other at Lincoln, Mutual Hill Insurance company, that we understand were conceived in fraud, born in iniquity, and are being conducted right along as swindling devices for making in money for the promoters, without regard to any equivalent. There are, it seems, not so many victims in the southern part of Platte county as in the northern part, and there are not ten here where there are hundreds in the northern counties of the state. The charters of the companies provide for salaries of the officials as high as $8,000 each, annually. So far, however, it seems that they have not found it necessary to draw on their salaries, all the funds coming in, and they are reported among the ten thousands, having been consumed in "expenses" of various kinds, such as adjournment fees, mileage, etc.

Mr. Brown, an attorney of Wakefield, was in the city the other day in consultation with McAllister & Cornelius. It is understood from the state that those who have not paid money to those outfits need not do so, as they have no legal authority to do business, as they pretend, not having complied with the statute.

Monday, the sailing yacht Columbia won the first race against the Shamrock in the 1899 series, leaving her a mile and a half behind over a thirty-mile course.

The enormous business done by us keeps our goods moving so rapidly that nothing becomes stale. Everything is fresh. We pay spot cash for every bill of goods that comes into our store, that is why we are enabled to distance all competitors in quality and price.

Twenty-five years of experience in the business has taught us what to buy. We are constantly on the lookout for bargains. The best products of the country are to be found in our store. Among them the celebrated canned goods of Curtice Bros. We are sole agents for Chase & Sanborn's fine Teas and Coffees.

The same courteous treatment accorded to all. We solicit your patronage and will strive to please you.

Manila Hero at Church.
Harry K. Rightmire, Sergeant Major of the First Regiment of Nebraska Volunteers, who has once more made Camden his home, has received royal recognition, as the hero well deserves, since his arrival here. The greetings of the week reached their climax last night when he was actually forced to the front at Broadway M. E. Church and then compelled to hold a levee in the parlor of the church after the dismissal of the congregation. He attended the autumnal exercises and simply to please Dr. Street wore his regimentals. He quietly took his seat beside father, mother and sister in a pew in most unostentatious manner. But Dr. Marshall compelled him to go to the platform, which had been transformed into the bow of the Olympia, and introduced him to the admiring hundreds. The audience of two thousand burst into applause as he reached the ship and rose in greeting. Harry was equal to the occasion and made a splendid speech in which he provoked more admiration. Later he reviewed the Epworth League Guards and was greeted by the congregation, finding true the words of Dewey that "this hero business is hard work."

On Tuesday night, the young Manila hero found himself suddenly surrounded by a large company of friends at his home, 504 Penn street. The rooms had been tastefully decorated with the National colors, his picture forming the center of one part of the decorations and he fell back in astonishment. The attentions of friends made him do what Filipino heroes and bullets could not do. This reception was planned and hurriedly put in execution by Mrs. Rightmire and Miss Rightmire, mother and sister, who are justly proud of "our boy." Those who participated in this event were: Col. H. L. Hartshorn and wife, Mrs. Hartshorn, Sr., William Whately, Joseph Lee, Robert Hillman and wife, Crawford Hillman, Miss Ella Hillman, Mr. Wells and wife, Harry Wells, Mrs. West, Miss West, John Laughlin, New York; Dr. T. L. Laughlin, Philadelphia; Miss Carrie Cavanna, Richard Sheldon and wife, Joseph Smith and wife, Miss Bessie Smith, Mr. Knight, Miss Mand Keen, Captain Hand, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hunt, Miss Lake,
