Exports. There was a noted improvement in the shipping of lumber from Alpena last week, the number of vessels reporting at the custom house being 14. They carried cargoes as follows:

Four cargoes of 1,450,000 feet of lumber, 300,000 lath and 70,000 shingles to Cleveland; two cargoes of 801,000 feet of lumber to Toledo; one cargo of 390,000 feet of lumber to Lorain; three cargoes of 300,000 feet of lumber and 7,000 posts to Detroit; one cargo 290,000 staves to Sandusky; one cargo of 250,000 feet of lumber and 1,000,000 shingles to Tonawanda, and one cargo of 400,000 feet of lumber to Buffalo.

Notice—Teachers' Examination. Owing to the fact that the number of persons holding teachers' certificates is not sufficient to supply the needs of the schools of the county, and to the further fact that the Board of Examiners does not approve of the granting of special certificates, now, therefore, it is ordered that a special examination be held on Friday, Sept. 29, 1898, at the COURT HOUSE, at the city of Alpena, commencing at 9 o'clock A. M.

Applicants for certificates who have not paid institute fees for the current year will be required to do so at the time of enrollment. If any applicant has paid in some other county, such applicant will please present to the Commissioner at Alpena since the opening of a receipt for the same. By order of the board.

JAMES A. CASE, County School Commissioner.

Cinderella. This charming opera was given at the Opera House last evening, to a good house, and the rendition was a very agreeable one. There were about one hundred children who took part, and all are deserving of praise for the manner in which they acquitted themselves.

The opera is full of beautiful scenes and incidents, and is only to be seen to be appreciated. The cast was as follows:

Flora..... Florence A. Dooling
Cinderella..... Mildred A. Gelling
Gaston..... Ethel O. Ekanes
Governor..... Florence C. Schreyer
God-father..... Florence C. Schreyer
Fairy Queen..... Mary Comfort
Prince..... F. E. Owens
Linda, a Valet..... John W. Mumford
Alfred, a Tutor..... Edward A. Denton
Alfred, a page..... Leon Ames
Lord Balthazar, Bankrupt Baron, John Gavagan
Butler, The Kings Foot, Earl D. Shannon

The grand march of 100 children was very fine, while the skillful piano playing by Miss Brand was admired by all. There were five dancers, Fairy, Japanese, Fishers, Gypsies and Peasants. All in all it is one of the finest amateur entertainments given in the city.

There will be a repetition of the opera this evening, and those who have not seen it should not miss the opportunity.

Last Week's Tragedy. For the past week the shooting of James Heiler by Willington Scrimshaw, at Partridge Point, has been the principal theme of conversation on the streets, and the examination of Scrimshaw and Collum and his wife took up the most of Justice Gjordur's time till Saturday noon, when the case was left with the Justice, who held his decision till Monday.

During the examination Scrimshaw gave testimony in substance, that on 19th he went to Partridge Point with a team, taking Mr. and Mrs. Collum down there to work for him on a farm. Heiler and Calvert came there in a boat and went off into the woods, but afterwards returned. Scrimshaw drove up to his shanty and unloaded the stuff from his wagon. While Scrimshaw was unloading his team Calvert and Heiler came along, and after some conversation, Heiler went to the shanty, and spoke to Mrs. Collum, and in the course of their remarks, he heard Heiler call Mrs. Collum a liar, and a and Mrs. Collum procured a pitchfork, when Heiler seized the woman with one hand and the fork with the other. Scrimshaw says he then went up to them and asked what was the matter, and asked Heiler to behave himself, that he did not want any trouble there; that he tried to get to Heiler, but the times of the fork were in the way, and he could not get hold of him or the fork. On turning around he saw the gun, which he picked up, and it went off, and Heiler fell. Scrimshaw says he didn't know the gun was loaded. Went to his head and tried to raise him up; spoke to him but he didn't answer. Calvert came up, and they soon had the body in the wagon, covered with a blanket, and started for town, bringing the body to its late boarding place. Then Scrimshaw came on to the police station and surrendered himself, when he was locked up.

Dr. Frank Calvert testified substantially that he met Heiler on the 19th, at the gas works, and was with him up to the time of the shooting. Asked Heiler to get on a sail, and he arrived at the point about 10:30. Heiler said Mrs. Collum was mad at him for talking about her. Heiler and Scrimshaw talked, and seemed good natured. Was standing near the shanty. Heiler moved toward the shanty and spoke to someone, and seemed to be in conversation with someone inside. Heard Heiler say "you are a—d liar," and then some one stuck a pitchfork out, aimed at Heiler's abdomen. He grabbed it and turned it aside, both hands holding the fork. Almost within two seconds saw the point of a gun, heard the report, and saw Heiler fall, and went to his side. Knelt down by him and he struggled a little but did not speak. Spoke about murdering a man in cold blood, and Mrs. Collum said he got what he deserved. Told Scrimshaw he would have to take the body to town, and had to ask him two or three times before he helped put the remains in the wagon. Asked for a blanket three or four minutes before they would get on. Mrs. Collum again said he got what he deserved. Asked Scrimshaw why he shot Heiler, and he said he was a dangerous man and he shot him.

On Monday the Justice decided to hold Scrimshaw for trial in the Circuit Court, in November, on a charge of murder in the first degree. Mr. and Mrs. Collum were discharged.
