DEMOCRATIC TICKET. FOR CONGRESS—FIRST DISTRICT. W. A. JONES. OF RICHMOND COUNTY.

Tidewater people are greatly interested in all that pertains to or is said about the oyster industry. For this reason we give space to the below interview with the chairman of the State Board of Fisheries as wired from Norfolk to the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Rev. McDonald Lee, of the State Board of Fisheries, made tonight the following comments on the opening of the oyster tonging season:

[For brevity's sake, and other reasons, we omit the prosaic interview.]

Our only comment is to say that the new tide sounds well and the time we hope he may be assigned to the upper Middlesex circuit.—Southside Sentinel. Which same would tend to show that a preacher may sometime find honor in his own and neighboring country. Thanks, very much, but we will wrestle along with our work of pencil-pusher and oyster curator and be content, for there is little prospect of being called so high as the uninformed Norfolk correspondent puts us to the amiable Ryland invites us.

WE CAN see no reason for any disaffection in the Democracy of Virginia, or of the nation for that matter, over Mr. Bryan's noted Madison Square speech. As foreshadowed in an editorial in these columns two weeks ago, Mr. Bryan disclaims any commitment of the Democratic party to his way of thinking. And it is not well to lose sight of the fact that his remarks on government ownership were qualified, besides being those of a private citizen only. He has further qualified his utterances by intimating that the country is not yet ripe for government ownership, but that ripeness may be precipitated by the monopolistic and shady dealings of the railroads themselves.

Don't kill black-snakes, unless they become too familiar around the house. As they belong to the constrictor family, they do not bite. In battle, or when attacking a foe (and man is not considered by them as such), they wrap around the enemy and by stretching and contorting at temp to crush bones or pull the object in two. They are mighty servicable around barns and houses for keeping rats away, and about the only damage they do is to eat a few eggs. But one rat will destroy as many eggs—and more chickens. Some agriculturalists and stock-men buy black-snakes to rid the premises of vermin.

AT THE opening of another oyster season there is every indication that the supply will not be up to the demand. Naturally, then, prices will be higher than heretofore. This condition will become more acute as the years come, until some general way of procuring plenteous supplies of seed oysters is now the greatest one with Virginia planters.

What the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina does just as well for the Governor of Virginia to his guest from Maryland.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

But "one was afraid and the other dare not" so no one spoke up it was a "long time between drinks," and the suite suffered in silence that hot day at Jamestown site.

TAKES THE PALM. Stephen Birdall, a farmer, 58 years old, living near Georgetown, committed suicide by hanging himself by winding one end of a rope around his neck and the other end around a tall cormstalk in a field at his home yesterday. This beats the story about the whip-poor-will singing in daylight in a corn field in Virginia where the corn was so high that it obscured the light of the sun, causing the bird to believe it was night.—Alexandria Gazette.

That's all right; but didn't we say that this was the Southside Sentinel's "next"? Well, here she goes from our Urbana friend:

"A stalk of corn grown on 'Rose Gill' farm, just across the creek from Urbana, measured thirteen and a half feet from tip to tip and bore the weight of a young man balancing the scales at 150 pounds avoirdupois weight, who in order to reach the ear, which is a large healthy looking one and 9 feet from the ground, had to climb the stalk. The stalk of corn is tremendous in size around the body and was brought across the creek from 'Rose Gill' in a large skiff, which sprang sleek from the strain while on its way over, and was brought up through town by Rev. F. S. Scott, assisted by a large number of small boys, so as to give the Sentinel a glimpse of it.

ECHOES OF THE STORM.

The usual September equinoctial gale was a little worse than for several years. The Atlantic coast is strewn with rocks, and some lives were lost. A typhoon also visited the Asiatic coast, killing thousands in China, Japan and India. The fishing fleet at Hong Kong, consisting of coo junks, was totally wrecked.

The menhaden fishing steamer Atlantic, belonging to the Cape Fear Fisheries Company, was sunk by the Clyde Line steamer Navahoe near Fort Caswell, Wilmington, N. C. Only one mast and smokestack of the Atlantic were left out of the water. Pilot Harry Corbett, of Southport, is the only one hurt. The Navahoe was not damaged.

Monday night of last week when the State police boat Emeline was steaming out of Norfolk harbor, where she had gone during the equinoctial gale, she signaled a big iron tramp several times to pass to port, and received no answer. Her master and two seamen dead, her cargo shifted, heavily listed to port, her chart house gone, all save one of her boats missing, her bridge torn to pieces, the steel sides of her hull bent and her superstructure a twisted wreck, she was found to be the British steamer Aurora from a Texas port. She showed signs of being more heavily damaged than any steel ship which ever before entered the port. She had battled with a storm for thirty-eight hours or so, and was struck by a hurricane, below Cape Hatteras. Captain Adams and two of his men were in the chart house on deck when two great waves arose, one upon either side of the ship and rising to a point higher than the ship's bridge met and fell, crushing it. Then the receding waves, assisted by the awful wind, carried it away to sea, and it and the occupants vanished from sight. First Officer Johnson was thrown by a wave against a stanchion. The steward rescued him, but he lapsed into unconsciousness and was near dead from pain. The second officer is a hero, to the crew. He lay sick in his bunk with fever of 103 degrees when the master was lost. He was carried up and took command, and saved the ship. When he anchored and told of the loss of lives aboard and of the storm, he had not slept, and weakened as he was, with a badly crushed foot, tears filled his eyes and he could hardly speak. He was taken at once to a hospital. The third officer also suffered injury. His head was swelled to near double its natural size. Every man aboard the ship was bruised, sore and suffering, and all were sent to the hospital.

SNATCHED FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH. From Monday morning at 8 o'clock until Thursday evening following, as darkness was drawing near, thieving and starving but for three small fishes which were cast up by the sea upon the bit of wreckage on which they rode, and were divided and devoured raw, John Koerber and Karlsten Bernsten, seamen aboard the late three-masted schooner Nelson E. Newbury, rode a raft on the sea off Virginia coast, alternating between faint hope and deep despair, until the steamer Egda came along and saved them.

The story which they told simply, of their escape from death and the drowning of their shipmates, is particularly pathetic. They said that the Newbury sailed from Port Royal, S. C., September 8th, for New York, with cargo and a deck load of lumber; that they were becalmed outside for eight days, but on last Monday morning when they were off Charleston, a hurricane struck them, which, within fifteen minutes stripped every sail from the vessel. Next, the deckload on the lee side was washed and blown overboard. Then the cabin deck was washed away. Within a few seconds the vessel was turned over and all hands tried to climb over the weather side. A big sea came then and swept four of the six men off the wreck, and the survivors, who never saw them again, are confident they were drowned.

NEWS ITEMS. A Delaware negro was given thirty lashes and sentenced to 60 years for attempting to assault two ladies. A score of bodies were found Monday in the debris heaped up in San Francisco by the earth quake last April. The Tappanhook fair, held last week, was a great success; and this week Fredericksburg is in the midst of her big fair. When Miss Mary M. MacDonald, of Brooklyn, learned, three days before the time set for her wedding, that her fiancé had jilted Miss Viola Glover, of Newark, she became angry and by a ruse forced him to marry Miss Glover. In 1904 there was killed in India by snakes and wild beasts 24,024 persons—21,880 by snake bites, 796 by tigers, 399 by leopards, and the rest by other animals. The number of cattle killed was 98,582. The other side of the account shows that 65,146 snakes and 16,121 wild animals were killed, for which rewards of $35,000 were paid.

HEARST FOR GOVERNOR. William Randolph Hearst was nominated for Governor by the New York Democratic Convention and the State Democratic party will be merged with the Independence League. The two principal causes for the nomination are easily catalogued. They are: There was a deal between Hearst and Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, whereby Hearst pledges himself to remove Mayor McClellan from office, and whereby Hearst will tick Murphy to elect the Tammany local ticket this fall.

CONFEDERATE REUNION. The annual reunion of the Westmoreland Camp of Confederate Veterans was held at Montross yesterday, the 27th. Efforts were made to make the occasion one of unusual interest. Governor Swanson was the chief orator. He reached Namini in the early morning on the flagship Emeline from Old Point, and he and party were driven by a committee of gentlemen to Montross for breakfast. Hon. A. C. Braxton, Dr. J. William Jones and others were advertised to be present.

BOARD OF FISHERIES.

The State Board of Fisheries, in session Thursday at Hampton, heard applications from parties in Norfolk and Hampton for several thousand acres of oyster grounds off Ocean View. These petitions were not acted upon at this time, being referred to the Chairman and Secretary of the Board for investigation of the purposes for which the privileges are wanted, there being a belief that the petitioners do not expect to plant oysters, but want the grounds for exclusive crabbing purposes. The board's fiscal year ends September 30, and indications now point to an increase in the gross revenue over last year of about three thousand dollars.

Governor Claude A. Swanson and the members of his party, who spent yesterday at the Jamestown exposition site laying the cornerstone of the Virginia building, left for Richmond last night on the steamer "Commodore Maury," the new flagship of the Virginia oyster navy. The state board of fisheries is in session here today, the members having arrived this morning, and the flagship will return to Hampton as soon as possible. Owing to the meeting of the state board here today, Commodore W. McDonald Lee, chairman, did not accompany the governor to Richmond as had been expected, realizing that he could not get back here early enough.—Newport News Times-Herald.

The Old Dominion river steamer Brandon arrived here today from Norfolk at 12:30 o'clock instead of at day break as usual. The heavy fog caused the delay. After several times losing her bearings and making narrow escapes of running ashore, she anchored off Clarendon until the morning sun dispersed the white shroud over the river. The flagship of the oyster navy, the Commodore Maury, formerly the Emeline, left here for Norfolk today proudly flying the flag of the Governor of Virginia from her bow staff. Accompanying the Governor are Mrs. Swanson, Col. and Mrs. Eugene C. Massie, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Patterson, Miss Sallie Deane, Legh R. Page and John Lyons. They expect to return to Richmond Thursday. The Commodore Maury was delayed by the fog and arrived several hours later than expected. The boat has recently received new touches of paint and she looked as sleek and span this afternoon as a millionaire's yacht. The accommodations were found to be ample and excellent.—Richmond Corr. Petersburg Index-Appel.

While in Hampton, McDonald Lee, chairman of the State Board of Fisheries, stated that the Virginians were most cordially received at the conference with the Maryland Board several days ago. The Marylanders declared that they were willing and anxious to be on good terms with the Old Dominion authorities, and would do anything to advance the interests of both States. A definite agreement, under which the oyster police of the two States will work, was reached and it is understood that a Maryland police boat was sent to the Rappahannock river Monday.—Hampton Monitor.

"Rappahannock" is a reporter's slip. He should have said "Potomac." The entente between the States admits of naval operations across the line only in pursuit of offenders when apprehended in the navy's own or neutral waters.

THE SITUATION IN CUBA. Although the situation in Cuba has not been improved since the arrival of Secretary Taft and has, if anything, become more serious, the Secretary has not given up hope that a peaceable settlement may be found without disturbing Cuban independence. The Secretary, however, has not so far announced his plans, and the action he will take probably depends on the attitude of the moderate and Liberal leaders within the next few days. Pending a settlement of the insurrection, the American warships in Havana harbor are ready to land men, in addition to those now on shore, up to the number of 4,000, if necessary, to protect the American lives and property. A large force is also being mobilized at Norfolk and every preparation is being made to rush an army to the island if necessary.

Messrs. Taft and Bacon have informed President Palma of the outcome of the negotiations with the Liberals. The absence of a definite statement from the commissioners makes it impossible to say whether the plans carry the resignations of the present administration and the congressmen elected last year or not. But there is a strong impression that President Palma will remain and reorganize the cabinet.

Cuba today is practically without a Government. The Moderate, or governing party, has decided to abdicate everything in the nature of national, provincial and municipal government, and thus force the hands of the American Peace Commissioners and compel the United States to intervene for the second time in Cuba.

Annexation of Cuba, closely following armed intervention by the United States, is confidently looked for in official circles in Washington.

FISHING STEAMERS. Froehlich and Squires, of Bellows & Squires' works, were in Norfolk Wednesday for slight repairs. Steamer Dr. W. J. Newbill, Captain H. C. Bayton, returned to Irvington Saturday night from Baltimore, where she has been running summer excursion, and now takes the place of the mail steamer, Owen Dillard, Captain A. J. Hamilton at the wheel.

Loe Simmons and Chas. Callis, of Irvington, are having a gasoline engine installed in Capt. S. F. Simmons' large canoe, "Mammoth." This engine was built by Mr. Simmons while at the University of Virginia a few weeks ago. The gasoline boat will be used by Simmons & Callis in the shucking business they expect to conduct near Weems this season. A demand for higher wages recently made by members of the Baltimore lodge of the American Association of Masters and Pilots of Steam Vessels has been followed by a number of resignations of officers of several steamboat lines under the control of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The resignations are to take effect next Monday, and the disaffected men say that if their wishes are not acceded to by that time a tie-up of the steamboat traffic along Light street wharf will result. The lines that are concerned in the disagreement are the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway Company and the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company.

FISH AND OYSTER NOTES.

The warm weather had a depressing effect upon the oyster trade, but the equinox weather caused the demand for oysters to increase wonderfully.

According to the men engaged in the fishing business along Chesapeake Bay the catch for this season of the year is the largest in many years. It is also said that fish are bringing good prices in the northern markets ranging anywhere from $10 to $12 a barrel. The blue fish are now running and large ones are being caught.—Newport News Press.

It is estimated that there are now nearly five thousand boats, big and little, engaged daily in the oyster traffic on James river. This is double the number of any previous season, and the police and inspectors are having their hands full, though nearly all engaged in the business appear to be observing the call law and aiding the State Board of Fisheries in efforts to restore the rocks.

The first two working days of the oyster season—Saturday and Monday—were blank days for the oystermen, only one or two boats remaining out in the storm to sample the bivalves, but Tuesday dawned fairly calm and the entire oystering fraternity turned out. On inquiring of several of the condition of the Rappahannock rocks, we were informed that the old oysters were scarce, but that there was a very good "strike" and the little ones were quite plentiful. This being true, it is the duty of the inspectors to enforce the call law to its fullest extent, and thus prevent the oystermen from tonging up and removing this seedstock.—Southside Sentinel.

The Newport News Press comments as follows on the opening of the season on James river: The prospects for this oyster season are decidedly dull. It is generally thought that the oysters will be very scarce. The comparative scarcity is somewhat of a surprise, inasmuch as the customary deprivations on the natural rocks were prevented by the vigilance of the state's navy. Old timers, however, assert that the long-continued rains during the summer have prevented the oysters from striking. The river Saturday morning, even as early as daybreak, presented a strange picture, as far as the eye could reach were boats, boats of all kinds, sizes, and descriptions, in all at least 1,500, which is far more than has ever been on the rocks before. The market was too large, and the prices are exceptionally good. In face of the obtaining conditions, which grow worse each year, many of the oystermen are in favor of closing the river for two more years, which would undoubtedly prove beneficial to the rock but it would be also a hardship to the local tongers, who depend almost solely upon the river for a livelihood.

POLITICAL. Texas Socialists have nominated a woman for Congress. Richmond Republicans have refused the colored brother any part in their deliberations or as delegates.

Republic factions in Fredericksburg had a hot time, almost coming to blows. The Slomp forces were routed. "The plow boy of Pittsylvania" did honor to himself, his county and to the State in his speech at Radford on Saturday introducing the Great Commoner.—Danville Register.

Virginia got her fingers burned pretty badly investing in railroads and canals, and is not likely to take kindly to a proposition to buy up lines in the State and operate them on State account. Senator Daniel calls attention to Virginia's experience, which helped to place the debt of twenty-five millions that now rests on the State.—Staunton Dispatch.

About eighty delegates, representing the Republicans of the First District, met in convention at Hampton Tuesday and nominated R. S. Briarwood, master of Urbana, Middlesex county, to oppose Congressman W. A. Jones, the Democratic candidate for re-election. Of the eighty delegates only five were negroes, and the convention leaders declare they are "lily white." While there were no public declarations on the subject, a great majority of the delegates today seemed to be thoroughly in accord with the "lily white" proceedings in Richmond last week.

Some of the leaders could be induced to talk for publication, but several are known to have said that the First District organization would stand for a "white man's party." H. E. Owen, of Weems, and D. E. Jones, of Middlesex, were elected members of the State committee.

SOME BOAT NOTES. Two large schooners have been loading in western branch of Corrotoman river for W. H. Jesse. Steamer Pocumoke, of Indian Creek Fertilizer Co., broke down last week and was towed to Norfolk for repairs.

Fishing steamers Froehlich and Squires, of Bellows & Squires' works, were in Norfolk Wednesday for slight repairs. Steamer Dr. W. J. Newbill, Captain H. C. Bayton, returned to Irvington Saturday night from Baltimore, where she has been running summer excursion, and now takes the place of the mail steamer, Owen Dillard, Captain A. J. RICHMOND COUNTY.

SHARPS. Our farmers are taking advantage of the bright sunny days that we are now having and saving quantity of beautiful hay.

The public school at this place will open next Monday with Miss Lucy Barber as teacher. Miss Barber makes a most efficient teacher and the patrons are pleased to have her to instruct their children the coming season. Eli Sharp has just returned from a business trip to Baltimore. Miss Essie Lemone left last week for Farmville Institute, where she will attend school.

Stanley Barber, of this place, and J. Garland Uhrh, of Mundy Point, boarded steamer Saturday for Norfolk on route to William & Mary college, where they will attend school the coming season. R. B. Davenport, who has been in the Monumental city several days, extended his trip to Fredericksburg to talk in the fair.

Mrs. T. R. Hanks has just returned from a very pleasant visit to Mrs. A. F. Bagby at Tappanhook. While there she attended the fair each day. Mrs. May Taylor, who has been visiting in this vicinity several weeks, returned to her home in Norfolk Saturday.

Rev. S. P. DeVault administered the ordinance of baptism to eight candidates at "Westview" on Sunday afternoon last. Mrs. R. S. Davis, of Tidewater, was just returned from a very pleasant visit to relatives in Fredericksburg.

Miss Margarette Headley left last Saturday for Blackstone, where she will attend the Female Institute again this session. Miss Headley has many warm friends here who regret to see her leave. C. Beverly Brown, of Urbana, Robert Blundon and son, Oscar Leimone and Miss Lala Blundon, of Baltimore, and Miss Placidia Hudnall, of Tappanhook, and Miss Lucy Anderson, of Tappanhook, were coming to attend the Eschborn-Downing nuptials which was solemnized on Saturday evening, the 22nd.

Mrs. G. W. Allison is on an extended visit to her cousin, Mrs. Dr. Hume, in Wheeling, W. Va. Rev. J. T. Goodwin is helping Rev. S. P. DeVault in a protracted meeting at Farnham Baptist church this week. Miss Bessie Fisher returned to Norfolk Saturday to resume her studies at the High School in that city.

KATYDID. Col. John Harwood, Mrs. Harwood and their son, John, of Richmond, expected to arrive last week as pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Belfield at Ethel. Miss Belle Barber, of Farnham, will teach in the family of T. M. Arnest, Hague, this winter. Miss Lucy Arnest attending the Blackstone School for Girls.

KETCH-AWLS FROM EVERYWHERE. Miss Fannie Rock, of Lancaster, is a guest of Miss Emma Anderson.—Fredericksburg Star. Miss Viola Wheaton, of Wheaton, Va., is stopping with Miss Marie Bagby in Freemason street, on her return to Blackstone Female Institute, where she will resume her studies.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

Richard Claybrook and his family are visiting a Kinsale. Mr. Claybrook is a native here and an honor to our county, and he always has a loving welcome and sincere "glad to see you here," where in his happy childhood and early manhood he won the admiration and love of our people.—Westmoreland corr. N. V. News.

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, the matron and children of St. George's church school are enjoying a week's outing at Irvington Beach Hotel, of which Mr. Mitchell is proprietor. Miss Adelaide Gilden is staying with Miss Boggs during her sister's absence.—Fredericksburg Free Lance.

The Southside Sentinel is showing many indications of enterprise and prosperity these days. It has just put in an entirely new supply of body type and in its new dress looks as neat, fresh, bright and smiling as an 18-year-old girl on an Easter Sunday. It has added also to its job office and we hope sincerely that it will receive promptly more than the three hundred new subscribers necessary to meet the expense of all this improvement.—Exchange. So say we all.

Another Virginia newspaper has come to grief, the Old Dominion Printing Company, publishers of the Charlottesville Morning News, which made its debut last November, having yesterday made an assignment. It has long been recognized that there are too many newspapers in this country already, and many of those being published in the smaller cities and towns have a hard struggle for existence. It's easy enough to start a newspaper, but it's frequently hard enough to keep the thing going. The situation recalls Horace Greeley's poem: "Man's a vapor, Full of woes; Starts a paper—Up she goes." The business of starting newspapers has been tremendously overdone. In many communities more than can be supported and more than the public has any use for. An incidental result is that millions of dollars are annually spent trying to bolster up unprofitable properties.—Alexandria Gazette.

THINK OF IT!

This Pretty Matron Had Headache and Backache—Her Condition Was Serious. RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

99 Eleventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis. Dear Sirs:—A short time ago I found my condition very serious. I had headache, pains in the back, and frequent dizzy spells which grew worse every month. I tried two remedies before I came to you, but was discouraged when I took the first dose, but my courage soon returned. In less than two months my health was restored.

THE REASON FOR SO MANY FAILURES TO CURE CASES SIMILAR TO THE ABOVE IS THE FACT THAT DISEASES OF THE PELVIC ORGANS ARE NOT COMMONLY RECOGNIZED AS BEING CAUSED BY CATARRH. CATARRH OF ONE ORGANS IS EXACTLY THE SAME AS CATARRH OF ANY OTHER ORGAN. WHAT WILL RELIEVE CATARRH OF THE HEAD WILL ALSO RELIEVE CATARRH OF THE PELVIC ORGANS. PERUNA RELIEVES THESE CASES SIMPLY BECAUSE IT RELIEVES CATARRH.

"I'll Throw It Away If No One Will Have It." Did you ever feel like this or even say it about your gasoline engine when you couldn't get it to work? Well, it's your fault. You appointed yourself mechanic and did not work. Now be reasonable. Steam engines go to machine shops for repairs at least once a year. Gasoline engines should go likewise. We have a good machine shop at this point and we will make you say like you do when it works good—

"I Wouldn't Take $1,000 For It If I Couldn't get Another Like It." WE HAVE ON HAND AT ALL TIMES: Edison Batteries, Propellers, Brass Piping, Dry Batteries, Shafting, Iron Piping, Switches, Plugs, Wire, Oil Cups, Spark Coils, jump and contact, and most anything necessary for gasoline engines. Our prices we guarantee better than you have ever gotten. Now think a while.
