'FAFF.

The past month's dry spell was broken last Friday and it has permitted many growing crops that were perishing for the want of rain. We are looking forward for a plenty of rain as there is almost always a rainy spell at this season of the year. German clover recently sowed, will be benefited by it as well as late corn crops, but I think the latter will be short. Take it all in all this year has been a trying one on corn.

Capt. Ward, of Baltimore, was here last week, loading canned fruit for J. W. Spencer & Son. The factory will close this week as the tomatoes have about played out in yield. The crop in this section was shorter this season than it has been for several years and the pack will be smaller than expected. Mr. Spencer was lucky in securing good men to pack his fruit and has been painstaking in capping his cans which is very important. He talks of doing a larger business here another season and contract with growers for larger acreage of fruit.

E. J. Marsh and little son, Lawrence, of Miskimon, was here last week. Mr. Marsh is always welcomed here as the people have found him to be a straightforward man in his business as well as other relations.

The trap fish business is dull and the catch continues small. Take it all in all it has been a very discouraging season.

Oyster season is open and the catch good, but prices are a little dull.

As I often heard my grandmother say when I was a child, at this season of the year provide the household with plenty of canned fruit and if you haven't the fruit in your own orchard to can buy it from other places. No canned fruit is like that put up at home. Such lessons from our grandparents are worth much fortune to the young.

Merchants are stocking themselves up with their fall and winter goods.

I am glad to learn that Dr. Lickel has located at Downings, my old home place, from whence I did much writing for this paper. The people of Downings will welcome this young physician in that community and I feel sure he will build up a large practice as he will have a large field to work in. That community has been without a physician for about five months.

Walter Palmer, of Saluda, was in this community last week in the interest of his business.

The young students are leaving their homes for different schools, to be absent about nine months, and the dark cold winter will visit us before school expires and they return to their homes. While you are absent from home, dear young friends, spend your time diligently on your books so that when you leave the place of instruction you will be ready to fill some important position that is awaiting you.

The calf market is good, prices ranging from 8 to 9 cents a pound. Keep your live stock in good shape and keep your milk cows well bedded and with plenty of fresh water and you will be amply paid for the trouble.

Two persons were baptized at the wharf here last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. C. A. Hall.

Capt. William Taylor, who has been confined to his room for about four weeks with a broken leg, is up and going about on crutches and hopes to soon be walking on both legs. This misfortune has seriously interfered with his summer's work. But it is the ways of Providence which sometimes humbles a man and makes him as helpless as a new born babe.

A. M. Wicker, of West Virginia, has been in this community visiting friends. He returned on last Friday evening to his home.

W. C. Fitzhugh and T. J. Johnson, traveling salesmen, were here last week.

It is stated in Maryland that fresh pork is twelve cents a pound and it is thought will be higher before Christmas. Pay attention to your hogs.
