CITIZENS' TICKET.

FOR THE SENATE,
 M. H. CLAYTOR,
 Of Roanoke County.

FOR THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES,
 B. A. JONES,
 J. L. HANNAH,
 Of Roanoke County.

To the Voters of the Fourth Senatorial District and the Election District for House of Delegates, composed of Roanoke and Craig and the City of Roanoke:

We, the undersigned members of the steering committee, appointed by the Petersburg "Fair Elections Conference," endorse the action of the conference held at Salem, and urge all voters in said districts in favor of honest elections, irrespective of party lines, to vote for the candidates nominated by that conference, viz: For Senate, M. H. Claytor; For House of Delegates, B. A. Jones, John L. Hannah.

Respectfully,
 JAMES A. WALKER,
 E. P. BUFORD,
 W. T. SIMPSON,
 October 7, 1895. Committee.

RELATIVE to the communication printed in another column of THE TIMES this morning the editor would say that Mr. Watts is welcome to use reasonable space in THE TIMES to justify himself before the people if he can.

THE Democratic machine grinders are whistling in the woods. The closer and darker the clouds of defeat gather the louder the "boys" whistle. Keep it up, "boys," if it makes you feel more cheerful. It will certainly not affect the result next Tuesday.

SOME very ridiculous and amusing things occur in a political campaign. A few days ago the Democratic machine managers appointed a committee of one to steal the files of THE TIMES that they might be culled for political thunder to be used against the candidate for the senate on the Citizens ticket. The gentleman (?) entrusted with the job reported to his bosses yesterday that "the thing could not be did."

GENERAL COXLEY's son has left home with the avowed intention of going to Cuba, where it is supposed he will join the insurgents in their struggle against the haughty Spaniards. The love of adventure must be a strong trait in the Coxley family, judging by the erratic career of the General himself in his "grand" march to Washington at the head of the Commonwealth army and the subsequent course of other members.

THE Democratic party heels are telling on the streets that if the election had occurred a week ago the Citizens ticket would have been elected, but now the machine crowd has got its second wind and their candidates are almost out of the woods, and still gaining. Boys, that sort of figuring won't do. Your slate has a crack in it. Next Tuesday will be one of the best days in the year for snowing your candidates under.

THE President and Secretary of War, on the recommendation of General Miles, commander-in-chief of the United States army, have changed the name of Sandy Hook to Hancock Point. While it may be very well sometimes to alter the name of a place, the wisdom of this change is very much to be doubted. Sandy Hook is both euphonious and appropriate, and has in its favor a long line of historical associations. Hancock Point, on the other hand, has none of these recommendations, and, besides this, the gallant American soldier, whom it is thus attempted to honor, does not need such a reminder to keep alive his memory in the hearts of his countrymen. His deeds are a part of the history of the great American republic.

THE MILLER BILL.

We publish elsewhere "A Scrap of History" from the Salem Sentinel, which speaks for itself. In general terms it gives the aims and purposes of the Miller bill, with the vote of those who favored it when it passed the State senate in February of last year. The people of Roanoke will remember the excitement which the attempt to secure the passage of this most obnoxious measure caused here and in other portions of the commonwealth.

The author of the bill was Senator Miller, and its purpose was to nullify the effects of the local option law of the State so far as it applied to cities and towns with a population of 2,500 and over. It was a most unjust and unwise measure, and it was openly claimed that one of its main objects was to defeat the decision of the people of this city and Staunton in refusing to license the sale of intoxicating liquors.

It was plainly at variance with all Democratic precedents and with every principle of home rule, which has ever been a sacred tenet of that party. Fortunately, after it had passed the State senate it was killed in the house of delegates, where its revolutionary tendencies and oppressive features were fully realized. The senator from this district advocated this bill and voted for it on its passage. The advocacy of such a bill means that he who advocates it considers himself a better judge of the wants and needs of a city than the thousands of voters who conduct its business affairs.

BRITAIN LESS BELLIGERENT.

It is said to be the impression in official circles at Washington that the reply of Lord Salisbury to Secretary Olney's note will be different from what the semi-official utterances of the London papers had led the world to suppose.

It is believed that these expressions of views indicated the course the British premier at first desired to take; but it is thought now that he has concluded not to press matters to an issue, while so many other complications are threatening the government, and will either give an evasive reply or refrain from any aggressive course likely to lead to a crisis.

The British ministry, when a Presidential campaign in the United States is near at hand or pending, are accustomed to take much of the diplomatic talk on this side of the water as buncombe and Lord Salisbury was at first disposed to so regard Mr. Olney's note in regard to Venezuela; but it is believed he has since learned that the administration is thoroughly in earnest and will therefore pursue a more circumspect course than he at first intended.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.

Some Facts About the Infamous Miller Bill.

From the Salem Sentinel of October 24.
 EDITOR SENTINEL.—On page 264 of the journal of the senate, of Virginia, under the date of Friday, February 2, 1894, we find the following:

"No. 136, senate bill to amend and re-enact title 13, chapter 26, sections 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586 and 587 of the Code of Virginia of 1887, entitled, to provide for submitting the question of liquor license to the qualified voters of counties, corporations and magisterial districts, was taken up, read the third time and passed—yeas 17; nays 10."

"On motion of Mr. Walton the vote was recorded as follows:
 'Yeas: Messrs. Arthur, Thomas H. Barnes, Berry, Echols, Fairfax, Flood, Green, Hay, Herbert, Jones, Little, Lovenstein, Miller, Mushback, Parrish, Washington and Watts—17."

This bill will take its place in history as one of the most dangerous measures ever advocated in the Virginia legislature. The object of the bill was to take from the people of all the cities of Virginia the right to vote on the question of local option. It was one of the boldest attempts ever made in the name of Democracy to put the yoke of tyranny on the people of this State. Fair-minded men engaged in the liquor business denounce this bill as most revolutionary and dangerous in its tendencies. This bill passed the senate, but was fortunately killed in the lower house. The record shows that the Hon. J. Allen Watts favored this bill and voted for it. CITIZEN.

The Political Bulldozer.

The political bulldozer has two legs, and walks on end just like a man. He has not the courage of the ruffian, nor the suavity of the pickpocket. He is meaner, if possible, than the common rogue, and has all the instincts of a third-class bull terrier. You will find him among all classes of society, and the more respectable he is from his associations the more disgusting his presence becomes to the honest voters. Around the polls his influence is only equalled by his cowardice, and even his associates despise him. By shrewdly seeking his victims from among the non-combatants he assumes the pretensions of the hero, and quite often manages to deceive the people for years with success; but the political bully, like all other outrages, has his day of petty importance, and when his defeat comes it is as crushing to him as it is agreeable to all respectable voters.—Exchange.

"Happy Southern Hunting Grounds."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Under the title of "The Happy Hunting Grounds of the South" the Southern railway has in press a beautiful and comprehensive book appertaining to the hunting and fishing of the States through which that system extends. This is the first time that such a publication has been attempted, exhibiting in such an attractive manner the almost innumerable resorts for sportsmen in the South. The publication will be issued prior to November 1, 1895, and will be obtainable through any of the agents of the Southern railway system.

Startling Armenian News.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 30.—The most alarming news yet received from Armenia was made public here to-day. It is stated that the situation is so grave that in the Zoltout mountains and in that district there are 26,000 Armenians in open revolt against the rule of the sultan. The Turkish government, in view of the gravity of this outbreak, has called out the army reserves.

How the Christian Should Vote.

EDITOR OF THE TIMES:—The Democrats are claiming that all that has ever been done for the cause of temperance in Virginia was done by the Democrats. This is not a fact. The present local option law was passed by Republican and Democratic votes, numbers of the most prominent Democrats in the legislature voting against the local option bill, while nearly all of the Republicans voted for it. The local option bill was not passed as a party measure. Now we hear that the temperance people stood by the Democratic party two years ago. Yes they did and what did they get by it? Why one J. Allen Watts, who they fought for and elected, went to the senate and voted to repeal local option in towns and cities of 2,500 people and over, and in the face of this the Democrats again nominated Mr. Watts for the senate and are now asking temperance men to vote for him. What for—give Watts another opportunity to vote against local option?

Capt. W. W. Berkeley, in our fight in the city of Roanoke for local option, although not a resident of the city, took sides with and spoke in favor of the whiskey men and then went to the city of Richmond as the paid attorney of the Virginia Brewing Company to use his influence to have the local option law repealed, but the Captain is reported as saying that he only did what any other attorney would have done. Well if this is true it doesn't make it right. An attorney's business is to represent his client in court and not to lobby to secure the passage of bills in favor of the whiskey men. Is it right to take a fee and try and impose a curse upon a community?

Major McCartney is a distiller and a barkeeper, having taken out a barroom license since this canvass began. From such a combination can we expect any legislation favorable to the cause of temperance?

Christ said: "He that is not for Me is against Me." Now, Watts, Berkeley and McCartney are not for local option, and, therefore, they are against us. Christian men, the Bible, which you claim as your guide, says that all you do must be done for the glory of God. Can you vote this Democratic ticket, and say, with a good conscience: "I do this for the glory of God?" A ticket more favorable to the whiskey men could not have been found in the district.

Voters, remember the record of the Democratic candidates on the whiskey question when you go to vote, and also remember that the Citizens ticket offers you Claytor, Jones and Hannah, good and true men, against whom not one word can be truthfully spoken.

Well, well! We see from THE TIMES that Captain Rogers, Democratic chairman, made an apology to the people of Roanoke for having McCartney on the ticket. What next? A CITIZEN.

SOUTH CAROLINA CONVENTION.

The Patton Substitute to the Suffrage Bill Voted Down.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 30.—The constitutional convention devoted the day to a discussion of the Patton substitute requiring as suffrage qualification service in Confederate or Union armies or descent from such, with property and educational qualifications. The debate was mainly as to the constitutionality of the subject. It was killed by a vote of 117 to 20.

An amendment striking out the property qualification but retaining the understanding the constitution clause for all time was voted down by about the same vote. Senator Tillman made a short speech on this question, but he did not cover the whole suffrage question.

Don't Believe We Want War.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The few comments made by the London press upon the war-with-England predictions of Senator Chandler, in a paper, the Evening Monitor, of Concord, N. H., on October 28, may be regarded as summed up by the Standard in the following utterance: "Senator Chandler may excite enthusiasm among the riff-raff of the great towns, but his prophecies, we may be assured, will be received with indignation and disgust by the great bulk of the people of the United States."

FILIBUSTERS SAFELY LANDED.

How a Party From Canada Reached the Cuban Coast.

COPYRIGHTED 1895 BY THE AMERICAN PRESS.
 KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 30.—There seems to be but little doubt that the two boats, containing thirty-four Cubans and the two other boats, having on board thirty-two cases of arms and ammunition, which were picked up off New York by the steamship Laurada, Captain Hughes, as the latter reported on his arrival here yesterday, as exclusively cabled the Associated Press, composed the expedition, headed by Carlos Manuel Y' Cespedes, which is said to have left Canada for Cuba about October 20.

The Cubans are supposed to have made their way down the coast or through New York State, and to have embarked in the boats which were picked up by the Laurada. The latter is a British steamer owned by J. B. Kerr & Co., of New York. When the Laurada neared the coast of Cuba the men picked up by that vessel off New York, as already detailed, asked to be allowed to land and subsequently did so near Guantanamo, on Sunday last, October 27.

Among the Cubans landed, in addition to Cespedes, it is said were Captain Jose Lopez, Dr. Serafin Martinez, Tamiro Cespedes and a number of others. One version of the affair is that over 100 men composed the expedition which landed near Guantanamo. Cespedes, the leader of the expedition is the son of the first president of the Cuban provisional government. He is well known in New York where he was educated. He holds the rank of general in the Cuban army.

Trouble at the Washington Navy Yard.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—There is trouble at the Washington navy yard, caused by the removal of a war veteran named Waldemeyer. It was alleged that he was dropped because of want of work on hand, yet a score of other men were retained in the same shop. Secretary Herbert has had a thorough investigation made by a special board, and will require Captain Jewell, the superintendent of the yard, to explain the matter.

Milwaukee Wants It.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 30.—Local Populists and business men held a meeting and decided to make an attempt to secure the Populist national convention for Milwaukee. It was decided to raise a fund of $5,000 to pay the expense of the convention, and a committee was appointed to look after the matter.

Wild West Show Man Killed.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 30.—Albert Emmett, of Manchester, N. H., a waiter in the feeding department of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, was shot and killed at 1 o'clock this morning. It is almost certain that the shooting was done by James Doyle, a former pal of Emmett's, as Doyle is missing.
