MURDER OF DR. CABELL.

Prominent Danville Physician Killed by a Tenant.

Danville, Va., August 28.—Dr. John R. Cabell, one of the most prominent citizens of this county, was assassinated at his country place, near Callands, twenty-five miles from this city, Thursday night. Dr. Cabell owned three farms in the Callands neighborhood, one being his old home place. For several years he has resided in Danville and had tenants on the farms. He left here several days ago to look after his business at Callands, and the next heard of him was a brief message received here to-night that he was killed Thursday night by Edward Hankins, the tenant on the old home place.

Hankins' management of the farm being unsatisfactory, Cabell had notified him of his intention not to rent Hankins the place for another year. Hankins had as a compromise between the free-grabbers and the anti-free-grabbers in the City Council, The Times respectfully suggests to the city engineer that he trade his horse for a bicycle.

The New York World claims that the increase in the price of wheat and corn over last year is worth $275,000,000 to the people of the United States. This is quite a nice sum for prosperity to begin with.

The Richmond Times wants a law enacted authorizing every cross roads bank in the country to issue money based on its boom (or bum) securities, but shudders at the idea of having the national Government issue money based on its revenues and general credit. The Times is a good organ and is excusable for its vagaries.

A HIGHER EDUCATION.

To-day the anticipations of thousands of boys and girls are busy with the coming year at college. It is to the credit of American parents that an important number of them have never allowed their children to entertain any other idea than that of going to college.

It, and there it was found by Mrs. Hankins, who returned home about 10 o'clock last night.

Hankins has a bad record. In August, 1872, he had a difficulty with James A. Jackson, at Callands, and cut Jackson to death. Hankins fled and was afterward arrested in West Virginia, brought back here, and convicted of murder in the second degree. He served a ten-year term in the Virginia Penitentiary.

Dr. John Roy Cabell was one of the best known citizens in Pittsylvania. He was a brother of Hon. George C. Cabell, ex-Congressman from this district. For many years he was a practicing physician in the county and amassed a fortune. He moved to Danville ten years ago. He was seventy-four years of age. Friends who went to Callands this morning for the body will not return until late to-night.

The injured so far as known, are as follows: John Chreaves, of Atlanta, fatally hurt; J. C. Sewine, Birmingham, severely bruised. Three trainmen were injured.

SENATOR MORGAN EN ROUTE. Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 28.—Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama, is here for a few days. He declines to be interviewed, but has said that he is en route to Hawaii and that his visit to the islands is purely for private business and has no political significance.

AFTER A THIEF. San Francisco, Aug. 27.—Frederick May, who fled from Germany with nearly $1,000,000 entrusted to him by clients, is supposed to be in Australia. The steamer Mariposa, which has arrived here from Australia, was carefully searched before her departure, the Australian authorities suspecting that the criminal would attempt to the United States.

Life and whose honesty has never been impeached. True, Col. Lamb was a Reed man, but no one worked more faithfully for the election of McKinley after he was nominated than our State chairman. We recognize him still as our chief man, and the convention, which he will call will continue him as our leader. The masses of Republicans in this section demand a State convention. We are entitled to recognition, for this section, Southwest Virginia, is far ahead of any section in the State in wealth, in industries, in thrift. A section where the whites are largely in majority and where the Republicans in all national elections float a victorious banner. Give us a State ticket. We want to continue the fight, for the battles of the past reveal an increasing Republican tide. Let the young blood of the party have something to fight with, and with anything like a fair vote and honest count we will land Gen. Walker in the chair now occupied by Gov. O'Ferrall.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Letter From Colonel Lamb to a Lynchburg Republican.

Lynchburg, Aug. 28.—A prominent Republican received the following letter from Colonel William Lamb yesterday: "It will never do to allow the Republican party to be destroyed by office seekers. The party must stand on its own feet, and there it was found by Mrs. Hankins, who returned home about 10 o'clock last night. Hankins has a bad record. In August, 1872, he had a difficulty with James A. Jackson, at Callands, and cut Jackson to death. NATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE, ROANOKE, VA.—THE COMING SCHOOL OF THE SOUTH.

We have never had better prospects for both day and night schools since the establishment of the National Business College of Roanoke, Va. Our increase has been as follows: Seventeen students August, '94; 63 August, '95; 105 August, '96, and 196 August, '97. We expect 250 students for next year. We are rearranging our rooms in larger proportion that we may accommodate next year's students.

We are glad that Roanoke seems to show her appreciation of our work, and why should she not? Last year we had 196 students; a large number came to us from out of the city. The student pays us for his course or courses according to one or two years, from $70 to $150 per year, while he pays to the city from $135 to $275.

We have a well disciplined school with high grade, careful instructors. Our line of work is good. Many schools claim to educate a man in from three to six months, but we cannot do that, nor can they do it well. We have placed within our school the normal English courses. We build a good foundation. We have furnished employment to more young people than any other business in the city and that has proved to be a good thing. For evidence of what we are to our students inquire of their success. Read our catalogue.

We are encouraged in our enterprise by having the support, influence and endorsement of the best business and professional men of our city. We have the good will of our patrons and the assistance of our graduates, who are filling with honor positions of trust and great responsibility in this and other sections of the country.

In the future, as in the past, we shall continue to labor earnestly for the interest and advancement of our students, that we may continue to merit and receive the liberal support and confidence of those who fostered and encouraged us when we had but a small school. Send for catalogue.

CHAS. E. ECKERLE, President, Roanoke, Va. Bonner's restaurant is growing in popularity, as evidenced by the large number he feeds every day. Nice fresh oysters can be had, as well as everything that is good to eat.
