Neglecting an Opportunity

St. Augustine, Fla., April 16, 1909.

Editor of THE FLORIDA STAR

During the month of March we sent to every hotel and boarding house in Titusville a copy of the communication attached hereto, but up to the present time we have received replies from only a few.

It occurs to me that you might like to call attention in THE FLORIDA STAR and the East Coast Advocate of these people to the fact that they are neglecting an opportunity to get excellent free advertising. We get out 100,000 of the booklets referred to, which are thoroughly distributed all over the United States as far west as California, and we cannot understand why the hotel and boarding house people of Titusville make it necessary for us to call their attention a second time to this unusual privilege.

It is quite possible that a notice in THE FLORIDA STAR and the East Coast Advocate will let them see that in failing to give us the information asked for they are not only depriving themselves of a certain amount of publicity, but that it also works to the disadvantage of the entire East Coast of Florida. Very truly,

J. D. RAHNER,
General Passenger Agent.

LATEST NEWS AND INCIDENTS

Personal Paragraphs About People that Travel Here and There

Rev. L. D. Geiger, one of the most prominent Baptist ministers of Florida, died very suddenly at his home in Apopka Tuesday night.

Dr. M. Souvielle, of Jacksonville, spent a part of Tuesday and Wednesday at Hotel Dixie on his way to Oak Hill, where he has large land interests.

Mr. K. W. Head gave up his position as teacher in the Titusville high school last Friday to accept a position on the Chattanooga Times, for which place he left last night. Miss Susie Gladwin has taken charge of the two grades taught by Mr. Head for the remaining three weeks of the present term.

Mr. J. D. Vann, of Shiloh, paid THE STAR office a pleasant call Saturday and presented us with a fine bunch of Bermuda onions, grown on his place. Mr. Vann is anxious for the passage of a fish law that will protect our fish and may be summoned to the state capitol almost any day to give his views on this subject before the committee on fisheries.

Dr. B. F. Johnson, of Richmond, who is canvassing Florida for A. B. Caldwell, publisher, of Atlanta, spent a few hours here Wednesday on his way to Fort Pierce. He made the trip from Jacksonville in a Reo touring car. His chauffeur reports poor roads between Jacksonville and St. Augustine, and also between St. Augustine and Ormond near Roy and Dinner Island; also between Oak Hill and the Brevard county line. We hope to see these bad places all made into good roads before another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Battle and son left Titusville Tuesday morning for Pasco, Fla., where Mr. Battle is engaged in the lumber business. Their friends were expecting that Mrs. Battle and Master Frank would remain here until sometime next month, but Mrs. Battle's daughter, from Atlanta, had agreed to come to Pasco, which cut short the stay here of a few weeks. Mrs. Battle leaves reluctantly and hopes that she may reside in Titusville again soon. She was restored to health by the equable climate of the east coast during her stay here of a little over a year.
