Plants That Intoxicate.

Bumblebees, butterflies and beetles are habitual drunkards. In some of the southern states insects alight on certain plants, drink heartily from the blossoms and fall to the ground stupefied.

THE BEEHIVE.

Contract the space in the hive to the size of the colony. A good and fertile queen keeps the hive full of bees during the season.

Do not offer to feed liquid food to bees in winter; it is almost sure death to a colony.

Bees abhor being molested at night, and no work can then be done with them with any satisfaction.

In every case where comb is to be built furnish the bees with foundation, using full sheets in the frames.

Clipping the wings of the queen prevents losing first swarms by absconding, but does not always prevent losing the queen.

Bees seem to seek naturally a span between two combs, and the queen seldom goes to the outside comb of a hive unless she is compelled to for want of room; so that a nucleus of two or three combs is better than one.

Prepolis is the gum or varnish that bees collect for varnishing over the inside of their hives, filling cracks and crevices, cementing loose pieces of the hive together and for making things fast and close generally.

It collects in time in old hives and combs.—St. Louis Republic.

The Rogue Saved the Judge.

A judge of the English high court was once arrested on suspicion of having burglarious designs on the house of a friend in Mayfair.

The police officer charged him in the police station with loitering with felonious intent, and the prisoner's description of himself as one of her majesty's judges was received with a grin of sarcastic derision.

At that moment an old offender was brought in who happened to catch sight of his lordship's face, which he had good reason to remember.

"You here, my lord!" he exclaimed, with unfeigned astonishment. "Well, this beats cockfighting."

The rogue's unsolicited corroboration of the judge's declaration saved the situation, and his lordship was allowed to depart in peace.

Sweet Consolation.

GOLD DUST.

Housework is hard work without Gold Dust?

Washing Dish Cloths

Kitchen cloths must of course be washed daily, otherwise they harbor grease and odors and become unhealthful. They should be made of knit crocheted-cotton, in a square of suitable size. When you wash them, if you will add a tablespoonful of

Gold Dust Washing Powder

to the hot water it will cut the grease and clean them in half the time; dry them out in the sun-shine and air.

The above is taken from our free booklet "GOLDEN RULES FOR HOUSEWORK." Send free on request to THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston.
