RED PAMPHLETS YANKS SPURNED

Poison Propaganda to Russian A. E. F. Revealed by U. S. Secret Service.

Extracts from pamphlets, published by the English-speaking Communists in Russia, and distributed among the American troops in the North—now in the possession of the U. S. Department of Justice.

"Comrades! Drop this dirty work. Turn your guns on your real enemies, the sweaters and capitalists. "Come with us in the far nobler struggle to establish the triumph of labor the world over. (Signed) N. LENIN."

"East and Central Europe is aflame with the revolt. The exploiting class has in some countries fallen, and in others are on the point of falling. The dawn of the day of Labor's emancipation has come!"

"You have arms. You know how to use them. Will you, like slaves, use them in defense of your master, or will you use them to help your class be free? If the former, then you know that you will meet with determined resistance of the united revolutionary people of East and Central Europe, and History will be your judge. If the latter, then here's a hearty welcome into the ranks of international labor."

"We want you to understand that every country in the world—including your own—can become a socialistic state, a workmen's country, if only it follows the Russian example. Every nation in the world—including the 'yankee race'—can become a really free nation, if it only does away with the trusts, the money lords and the bloodthirsty exploiters. It is up to you American soldiers to do it! It is up to you to bring the great lesson of the Russian Revolution home to your tolling and suffering brothers. It's up to you to start it there—in your own America, you just start it—and your brothers will follow you! You just dare! You have nothing to lose but your chains. You have a world to gain.

"You just dare to take home with you the Red Banner of the Revolution—and inscribe upon it: "Down with capitalism! "Long live Industrial Freedom! "Long live Socialism!"

"You probably would let us alone and go home, if your officers would let you. But they do not intend to let you do so. You are under their orders, and they are under the orders of "higher ups," and those are under the orders of "still higher ups," etc. At the top of the whole pile are the wealthy capitalists who want to get their greedy hands upon the mines and factories, railways, etc., of Russia. That is the reason you are here to rob workmen and make millionaires richer.

"We know that you are bound, hand and foot by discipline and have been in blind ignorance of what you were doing here or why you came. The only way that you can do the decent thing is by breaking the discipline that drives you to this crime against your own kind, the working class.

"The war is over. There is no honest reason for you to submit to military orders. You are not fighting 'German militarism.' You are submitting to it when you obey the commands of your own officer.

"You can break away. We know that you can, for we did. You are powerful enough and numerous enough to arrest the officers or to do with them what you please. Or you can come over to us."

Her Impression She was a bright girl, but she had married a poor man. "Well, Mabel, dear," said a kindly old lady, a friend of many years' standing, "how do you find married life?" "Oh, sew-sew!" replied the young woman, with a sigh.—Pittsburgh Press.

It all started in that ultra hotel lobby. That's where she met the "city feller." No he's not the villain who sought to bring her downfall, quite another fellow that. He was the person who usually has a spotless reputation in the "movies." Things are delightfully mixed up in this play, so much so that it keeps you guessing and thrilling right up to the last.

A happy comedy proving that crowns don't matter, where love is king. In theme, plot and action the story, goes with zip from start to finish, in every foot of film. The actors are excellent. The big scene is inside of one of the big newspaper plants. A romance of two writers for this paper one of which is a fugitive Princess in disguise. Also Mutt & Jeff in their funny pranks and Ford Weekly.

Here we have a picture that it is a pleasure to guarantee and can easily say, that if you are not satisfied your money cheerfully refunded. It is this artist's best production and will make an everlasting impression on you and is bound to please the most fastidious person, and you should not miss this by all means. Seven acts of a powerful drama, with the sublime Nazimova. Also a Bray Cartoon.

A favorite western character in a thrilling story. She heard from his own lips his intention to kill the man she had traveled far to marry. She also heard the story of the massacre of his entire family and his new bride, while the peaceful tones of Wedding Bells, still floated in the air, and she refused to reveal his hiding place, even though her fiancé was the sheriff. Also a comedy.

Marry on Friday the 13th, when a black cat walked on her wedding gown and her hero spilled the salt? Never! Besides a dark man had entered her life. The stars failed to tell her what he would do there, but, goodness gracious, how mixed her horoscope. If you want to see Dorothy Gish "beat up" the "soup" in superstition, come to this one. Also a Pathe comedy.

This is from a novel by Eleanor Glynn, author of "Three Weeks". A story of a woman who said, "some day I shall be one of the greatest women in England", and through her power to attract men, this penniless beauty, reached the heights. Was her triumph worth the price she paid? An amazing story, full of pulsating and startling romance. Also a two part, slapstick comedy, with many laughs.

Here we have a picture which made a decided hit at the California Theatre, in Los Angeles, California. A society drama of the rich, in the big city, starring one of the best made screen actors of today. Story of a young, handsome painter with nothing but an ambition, who meets a love starved society woman who falls in love with his handsomeness. She takes him to the city and there the row starts.

WHY FOUNTAIN HAS LION'S MOUTH

(New York Sun) The water in a great many public fountains, whether for a man or beast, comes out of a lion's mouth. This is said to be the reason:

Among the ancient Egyptians the rising of the waters of the River Nile was the most important event of the year, since it meant life and prosperity to the whole nation. The rising always took place when the sun was in the constellation of Leo, or the lion; so the Egyptians adopted the shape of a lion as the symbol for the life giving waters of the Nile.

Sixty-three million dollars worth of passenger cars and motor trucks were exported in 1918, despite the greatly curtailed production.

COHENOUR ILL IN KINGMAN

The many friends of J. N. Cohenour in Mohave county will regret to learn of his illness at his home in Kingman, having suffered an attack of influenza. While he has a high temperature it is not thought that the disease will develop seriously.

One of Mohave County's old timers, Kean St. Charles, former editor of "Our Mineral Wealth" is again with us.

If matches are made in heaven then Lucifer must have been the first striking exception to this rule.—Cartoons Magazine.

OFFICE REMODELED

The law offices of Carl G. Crook have been rearranged in such a manner as to make them more convenient, the partition separating the two middle rooms having been taken out, thus making one large reception room with private offices on each side of it.

Doing Well

When mother and her brood started for town the weather was threatening, so she did not go unprepared. In due time they stepped off the crowded train at the South Station.

"Have you got all the umbrellas, Johnny?" was her first question. "I should say I had," said the boy. "I had three when I started and now I've got five."—Boston Transcript.

Subtlety

The six-year-old boy had told a fib, and had been commanded by his mother to go to bed in the dark.

He started reluctantly, and upon taking a long look at the dark stairway, turned to his mother and said:

"Mother, don't you think you'd better come along and see if I really go to bed?"—Pittsburgh Leader.
