Kingman was treated to many amusements yesterday during the tie-up of the eastbound passenger trains. A company of musicians held merry at the Crystal Confectionery and other places, while the majority of the marooned people took in the town. Among the passengers were Mrs. John Derr, who at one time lived in Kingman, Mr. Derr being a merchant tailor. The couple removed to Prescott, where Mr. Derr died some years ago. Mrs. Samuel Hill, of Prescott, was also among the passengers, being the guest of Mrs. J. P. Gideon. All seemed to enjoy the time spent in our little city.

INVESTMENT IN OIL BRINGS HIM WEALTH

George W. Mark, who is in Texas looking after mining affairs for Mohave county people, has sent us the following communication, which may be of interest to people residing here: "A fellow named Le Blanc, a miner and prospector working in Nevada, was persuaded to purchase a $1500.00 interest in an oil corporation with its principal holdings in Comanche County, Texas. Le Blanc, being desirous of knowing the true value of his investment, decided to come to Fort Worth with the view of selling out his holdings. He found that he was allied with one of the principal and successful operating companies and, after going over the situation, he decided not to sell. "Now then here comes the remarkable and interesting feature of the story. Le Blanc owned four partially developed mining claims in Nevada, and the other day he chanced to mention the fact to a Mr. Walker, whom he casually met in one of the principal hotels here, with the astounding result that within two hours after the meeting he consummated the deal and sold the claim for $20,000.00. They left for Nevada within six hours after the deal was begun."

A Place in the Sun for Your Family Washing

Pure sunlight and fresh air are the greatest of all purifiers—we use much of both in the laundering of your family bundle. It is more important, too, than you may have thought. Having the washing "done out" by the laundress under conditions that are not always of the best is often false economy. Isn't it most comforting, and isn't it safest for your health's sake to send your family bundle here, where there are clean, contented, competent folk; where there is cheeriness and hominess; where there's fresh air; where there's spic-and-spanness comparable with that in your own home? From these wholesome surroundings we return your family bundle finely finished, daintily fragrant. Protect your own and your family's health; get economical wash-day service; send your family bundle to us. Telephone Blue 84.

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
STATE OF ARIZONA
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
A PROCLAMATION

No greater responsibility rests upon the American people than a thorough awakening of the individual to his or her personal responsibility as a citizen. Every citizen must learn that when he speaks of the necessity for action by the Government, he is talking of his own individual responsibility since he can honestly say, with the French king: "The Government, why, that is myself!" Every citizen must learn to feel that every call for a right or a privilege on the part of any individual is predicated upon that individual's responsibility and obligation to the country.

Representatives of thirty-three states and fifty national organizations met in Washington in March, 1920, at the call of Franklin K. Lane. They agreed that the hope for a better and stronger Americanization of the people of the United States could arise only from a better and stronger sense of the personal responsibility of each citizen for the lifting to a higher plane of the citizenship and the civic conditions of his own community; to bring this condition to pass would require a closer relationship among the individuals of the community.

Arizona, in company with her sister states, hopes to be able to secure a more complete national unity and more effective constructive action through closer and more complete organization of the units of the various communities. As to the initial step towards securing these better conditions that all want and hope for, three days have been set aside for encouragement of Community Organization, as follows:

Saturday, June 12th, NEIGHBORS' DAY.
Sunday, June 13th, COMMUNITY SUNDAY.
Monday, June 14th, FLAG DAY.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, THOMAS E. CAMPBELL, Governor of Arizona, acting through the authority vested in me by law, do hereby urge upon each community of the State, the arrangement of fitting programs for the promotion of neighborliness and the discussion of how best the organization of the community can most thoroughly insure for each member an equality of responsibility and representation as well as that theoretical equality before the law which is the foundation of our system of government.

With this in view, I would call upon the heads of civic and commercial organization of each community to appoint the necessary committees for insuring effective programs as follows: NEIGHBORS' DAY—Saturday, June 12th.—It is hoped that use can be made of the Saturday half-holiday to arrange a meeting at which every man, woman and child of the community will feel that he is represented. This can be done, probably, through a program of songs and addresses bearing upon the importance of each element of our population in the betterment of local and national conditions and the responsibility of each individual man, woman and child of the community for the accomplishment of the best possible results. The slogan for NEIGHBORS' Day is: "Hello, Neighbor!"

COMMUNITY SUNDAY—Sunday, June 13th.—All religious bodies, whether meeting on Saturday or Sunday, are asked to cooperate in using this day to center the country's thought on the spirit of good will or "neighborliness", and to arouse men and women of all faiths to the spiritualizing effect on individuals arising from participation in unified neighborly activity. I hope that every clergyman in the State will prepare a special sermon for this day, emphasizing the need for a widespread manifestation of this spirit and for the creation of more definite channels for its expression.

FLAG DAY—Monday, June 14th.—This should be the climax of the three days for the betterment of Community Organization. I would urge a general display of flags, remembering that the Flag symbolizes unity and freedom which is the spirit of neighborliness and the spirit of the American system of government. It is especially urged that the evening of Flag Day be devoted to a Town Meeting of the kind familiar to every American community fifty years ago. The town meetings were held for the purpose of discussion and action. Each meeting should be prepared to discuss: First, How the people of that community can make themselves individually more actively useful to the government of the municipality, state and nation; Second, Local community needs and how the neighborhood can best mobilize itself to meet them.

The purpose of these Neighbors' Days is to start a movement of permanent, constructive value. We hope to have every good American greeting every other good American in his community with a friendly smile and "Hello, Neighbor."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.

Done at Phoenix, the Capital, this, the 29th day of May, 1920.

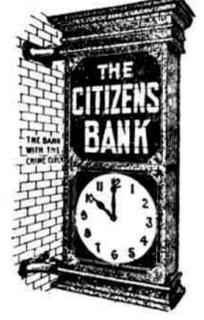

THOMAS E. CAMPBELL,
Governor of Arizona.
MIT SIMMS,
Secretary of State.

Mrs. Don M. Stewart, of Antioch, California, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hubbs in Kingman. Mrs. Stewart was formerly a resident of this place and has a host of friends who are welcoming her.
