CAMERON TELLS WHY HE SHOULD GO TO U. S. SENATE

A large audience greeted the Congressional Party composed of Hon. Ralph H. Cameron, Candidate for U. S. Senator, James R. Dunseath, candidate for Representative in Congress, Edw. J. Flannigan, candidate for Supreme Court Judge, and Chas. W. Fairfield, candidate for State Auditor, who presented the issues of the campaign from the Republican standpoint.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Harding-Coolidge Club of Kingman, and R. S. Adams, introduced the chairman of the meeting, R. L. Anderson, to the audience.

The first speaker to be introduced to the audience was Charles W. Fairfield, who in few well chosen remarks set forth the qualifications possessed by him for the office for which he was a candidate. Edw. J. Flannigan, of Bisbee, candidate for the office of Judge of the Supreme Court, followed with a statement of his position in reference to the office he sought.

James R. Dunseath, candidate for Representative to Congress, made a special plea to his audience for the waiving of party lines for his election, and to settle the matter on a business basis. "With a Republican administration assured at Washington, by the election of Senator Harding of Ohio," said Mr. Dunseath, "it will be for the best interests of Arizona, to send men to Washington who are in hearty accord with the administration and obtain for Arizona the things she is entitled to, and should receive for the development of her unlimited resources."

Mr. Dunseath stated that he was in hearty accord with the movement for the enactment of such laws that will give to the soldier of the late war such assistance and relief they may ask, and especially mentioned the withdrawal of the lands near Parker for the benefit of those ex-service men who desired to establish homes on this land.

The League of Nations, was condemned by both Mr. Dunseath and Mr. Cameron, who followed him in the speaking program.

In his statement to the audience, Mr. Cameron, asserted that he was entitled to the full credit for obtaining statehood for Arizona, and gave the history of the fight to obtain this boon for the state. He resented the assertions that he was a carpet-bagger. "A man who has spent thirty-seven years in this state," said Mr. Cameron, "and who has had a home in the state during all of this period, and paying taxes in the state is not in the class of a carpet-bagger, especially in comparison with a man who has no home in this state and even hasn't a little hut in Arizona, but spends all of his time while in the state, at the Old Pueblo Club at Tucson, and the rest of his time on his farm in Kentucky."

Going into the projects of reclamation and road building planned for the state, and the greater development of Arizona, Mr. Cameron carried his audience along with him, and in an earnest plea for the setting aside of political lines and affiliations, asked for election on the broad issue of a Greater Arizona. The party leaves for Parker this morning.

ELECTION RETURNS TO BE RECEIVED HERE

Both the Beale Hotel and the Harding Republican Club are arranging to give the people of Mohave County the returns of the election on November 2. Each place will have a wire run in and an operator on the job, to give the public fast service.

Returns will be received from all over the United States, as well as Arizona.

The public is invited to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded, to get the returns early and fast.

ARMISTICE DAY LEGAL HOLIDAY

Armistice Day, November 11, has been declared a legal Holiday by Governor Thomas E. Campbell. A celebration will be arranged in Kingman though the particulars have not yet been worked out. The plans for the day will be announced in next week's issue of the Miner.

RECORDER OF PHOENIX SHRINERS TEMPLE HERE

H. B. St. Clair, recorder of the El Zaribah Temple of Shriners, at Phoenix, was a Kingman visitor this week.

Mr. St. Clair was very enthusiastic over the new temple at Phoenix, and rightly so, for it is sure going to be a fine building. The building itself is 100 by 188 feet and about three stories high. It is constructed of reinforced concrete with steel and brick. At one end is a large stage and at the entrance a reception room and a lounging and reading room.

There will be a banquet hall 40 by 150 with a modern kitchen in connection.

The auditorium will be 100 by 110 feet without a pillar or post in it. This room is the second largest of its kind in the west. It has a seating capacity of 2500.

The next ceremonial comes February 22, at which time the new temple will be dedicated.

DEMOCRATS ENTHUSE LEARN POLITICAL LORE

A good house greeted Charles B. Ward and Sidney Osborn at the Elks Opera house last Tuesday evening, where these gentlemen addressed the voters on the important issues of the campaign. Hon. Ad. Cornwall was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers. Mr. Osborn is well known in Kingman, having appeared here several times as a candidate, while Mr. Ward talked to the people of Kingman and other parts of the county a few years ago on Liberty Loans.

Mr. Osborn was the first speaker of the evening and he devoted his attention to the campaign of Governor Campbell. His attack on the attitude of the governor was along the lines of the failure of that gentleman to point out to the public one thing that has been done by the State Land Commission in which he did not participate affirmatively. If the things done by this land board were wrong, then Gov. Campbell was more than wrong to allow it to go through without a single protest and with his every vote in favor of the wrong. He (Campbell) had been in office two years and had allowed all kinds of wrongs to go unrighted, but if he is again returned to office he will see that nothing wrong is done again. He accuses Mitt Simms, who was not present when many of the acts complained of were put through, with dereliction of duty, when the fact is that Campbell was present at all the meetings, voted on every lease, signed every order, lease and deed, and yet came out without knowledge that wrong was done so far as he was concerned. Campbell, chairman of the State Land Commission, whose duty it was to see that every lease was right and proper, and whose duty it was to see that every deed was for value received to the people and who failed in that duty according to his own statements, was now trying to shirk the duty and place the blame on the shoulders of his opponent. The business of calling the State Land Board together devolves on the governor and the past two months the governor has not had time to attend to important matters that have gone over since last May. He is a patriot by word of mouth, but not by action.

Charles B. Ward, who is regarded as one of the best speakers in the state, talked interestingly on the League of Nations, and the relations of the United States to our neighbors over the seas. His talk was not only interesting, but thoroughly instructive. Having a grasp of political conditions and being conversant with all details of the League of Nations subject, he soon had his audience under the spell of his oratory. He showed how Mr. Wilson, prior to going to France, had taken up the matter of a bringing together of the nations of the world in a pact that would make future wars impossible or almost so; how he had called in the big men of the republican and democratic parties and submitted a rough draft of what he thought a League of Nations should be; how this draft was submitted to Pres. Taft, Elihu Root,

NORTHERN ARIZONA FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS HERE THIS WEEK

By CORA A. PARKER.

The Fourth Annual Meeting of the Northern Arizona District Federation of Women's Clubs was called to order nine a. m. Wednesday morning, October 20, 1920, by the President, Mrs. Timerhoff of Prescott, in the spacious auditorium of The St. Johns Methodist Episcopal Church in Kingman.

Rev. Thos. H. Dodd, offered prayer, and invoked Divine blessing on the wonderful work being done by the women of Arizona. Mrs. C. A. Warren, President of the Thursday Afternoon Club, then gave her address of welcome, assuring the visiting ladies that our efforts were entirely for their comfort, and voiced the feeling of all that we were happy to have the Federation ladies as our guests.

Mrs. H. D. Ross of Phoenix, Past State President, delivered a splendid address on the music we should enjoy in our lives, our homes, and our schools. She told us of the 200,000 members in the 600 Musical Clubs of the United States; of the wonderful uplifting influence which real high class music brings to everyone, advising us to organize such a club, or to work with the music department of our own club, and try to put inspiration for better music into the hearts and minds of everyone.

Mrs. Ross spoke of a Musical Club in any city as a business asset, in that it brought high class talent and was a splendid means of advertising. We enjoyed her wonderfully instructive and entertaining address, and we hope to be able to put many of her ideas into practice this year. Mrs. Ross invited us to send a delegate to Phoenix, November 8, at which time, she desires to effect a State Organization for the music of Arizona.

At eleven-thirty the morning session adjourned, and the delegates and Kingman ladies repaired to the Hualapai Grill, where a three course luncheon was in waiting, and an informal social hour spent together.

The afternoon session opened at one-thirty when Mrs. C. L. Lewis gave us a rare treat in her fine rendition of Chopin's "Valse Brillante Opus", and graciously responded to the storm of applause which greeted her conclusion of the piece, by playing the "Song of the Brook."

The Northern Arizona District Federation was fortunate and honored in having with them, Mrs. Flannigan, State President of Women's Clubs, who gave an address covering the aims and pleasures of organized club work, a resume of last year's accomplishments along the line by the Federated Clubs of the State, delivered in her usual charming manner, interspersed with happy stories, and closing with an earnest appeal for all to cooperate towards the desired end, in our important National affairs at this time.

An address by our District President, Mrs. Timerhoff, on "Women in Home and Club," reached the hearts of all women present. In her fine manner, showing great comprehension and much preparation of her subject, Mrs. Timerhoff had a special message for each one present.

Beginning with the statement, "That whatever difference of opinion may exist concerning the range on women's intellect, there can be no question as to her superior moral status. We all know that what makes women independent and influential, is real usefulness."

Stepping out in independent thought, President Timerhoff closed with these words:

"Women are coming right legally to the front—you puny men step aside, crawl under something, climb a tree, the women are coming! The old sewing circle and gossipy tea on the roll of Today have no part. When women convene now, in language choice they converse on Ethics and Art."

Having with us Mrs. Guild, formerly State President of Federated Women's Clubs, but who is now holding the responsible position of first lady aid to Governor Campbell, in the great cause of Republicanism, Mrs. Guild kindly consented to talk to the Federation for a few moments.

She was the only lady delegate from Arizona to the Republican convention in Chicago, and related to us many events of that wonderful meeting. Very happily and interestingly, Mrs. Guild described her visit to the National Bi-ennial Meeting of Federated Women's Clubs held at Des Moines last June. 1000 delegates sat in the Convention Hall, enjoying rare treats in speeches from the foremost workers of the Country. Among them was Jane Adams of Chicago.

Mrs. Guild returned from Des Moines, and later attended the National Meeting of the Council at Washington, D. C., coming away greatly impressed with the wonderful business organization behind the National Women's Club Work, and telling us there was only one flaw in their whole entertainment, and that was administered by a small bell hop who said, "O, dear, last week it was the Preachers, and now it's the women."

Mrs. Guild made us very proud of our Arizona in many ways—particularly in the announcement that Arizona is the only State in the Union having a perfect Club plan. It is now called the "Arizona Plan," and may be adopted Nationally. For example, each member of the Thursday Afternoon Club is affiliated with the National Federated Club, through the District Federation, which belongs to the State Federation, which in turn is a member of the National Federation, whereas in other states, if a woman so chooses, she may belong to any

HOT BASEBALL GAME TOMORROW

A baseball game is scheduled for tomorrow, and it is said it will be a hot contest.

The participants will be the married men on one side, known as the "Life Termers," and the single men, known as the "Romeos," on the other. We do not know whether this is to settle a grudge of some kind or not. Of course it might have been that the Romeos have made some slighting remark about these said Life Termers as to their ability as ball players.

Anyway they are going to the mat or we should say the bat to settle this question. There will be three games played, the first one coming Sunday at 2 P. M.

Abie Bale who is captaining the Romeos, has been feeding his gang raw meat all this week and Curley Fennel, who is in charge of the Life Termers, is not saying anything but look out, for he casts a wicked eye.

Following are the line-ups as furnished the sporting editor of the Miner:

LIFE TERMERS: Price, c; Knorr, p; Robinson, 1st; Fennell, 2nd; Ferrar, ss; Harris, 3rd; Jones, lf; Davidson, cf; Adams, rf.
ROMEOS: Smith, p; Bale, c; Hays, 3rd; Grantham, ss; Hammer-slaw, 2nd; McKesson, 1b; McMillan, cf; Webb, lf; Devine, rf.

FAIR GREAT SUCCESS REPORTS L. H. FOSTER

The Northern Arizona Fair which was held in Prescott, the past week was a great success in every way. The attendance was good and the features were far above those of other years. This big fair is growing in popularity and the people back of it should have far better support than they are given. Prescott has been one of the real progressive cities of the north part of the state, its men and women standing for the building of the whole state along lines of clean business, and old Mohave always has a warm feeling for their success.

L. H. Foster, who represented Mohave county at the fair, is quite enthusiastic over the big exhibits, the clean races, and the enthusiasm of the people attending the show. While Mohave county was unable to send many visitors to the fair, their good wishes for its success was conveyed by those that did go. It is to be hoped that another year will see a good highway between Kingman and Prescott over which hundreds of cars will be driven to carry many more hundreds of visitors.

LEAGUE OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN MEETING WED. NIGHT

The League of Republican Women will hold a meeting next Wednesday evening, October 27, at Republican Headquarters in the Armour Building.

There will be five minute talks by some of the women on the following topics:

1. Why am I a Republican?
2. Why am I not a Democrat?
3. Why do I vote for Harding?
4. Why do I not vote for Cox?
5. What is the matter with Article X of the League of Nations?
6. What is the matter with President Wilson?
7. What is the principal National Issue?
8. What is the principal State Issue?
9. What will you do when the house is divided?

There will also be a sample ballot explained so that we may avoid mistakes in voting. The League of Republican Women will also give an Elephant Tea on Monday afternoon, November 1, at the Republican Headquarters, from three to five o'clock. There will be music and other entertainment. All the ladies of Kingman, whether Republicans or Democrats, are invited to come in and take tea.

WOMEN ADDRESSED BY MRS. H. A. GUILD

Mrs. H. A. Guild, of Phoenix, one of the speakers sent out by the National Republican Organization, addressed the Kingman Women's Republican League, at Harding Republican Club's rooms in the Armour Building, Thursday evening.

There was a good attendance and the message delivered was a clear, logical statement of the reasons why the women should support the Republican Candidate, both National and State. There was no effort at oratory, no attack upon the honesty or purpose of the present Administration or of the President, and no appeal to the prejudices of the audience. Mrs. Guild did not even refer to the League of Nations. Her remarks would have made a strong impression upon any body of fair minded, level headed business men.

The keynote of the address was the great economic questions which are pressing upon the people of the United States and of the world today. The great leaders in all constructive, progressive movements are naturally affiliated with the Republican Party. To illustrate, the speaker traced the history of the two great parties from the time of the adoption of the Federal Constitution in 1789. She said:

"One party led by Hamilton, Madison and others, stood for a strong central government, with powers to carry into effect the will of the people. The opposition was against Centralization in the Federal Government, and worked for the retention of all of the power possible in the states. So, at the very beginning two parties were formed."

"In time the Federal Party became merged into the Whigs and in 1865, into the Republican Party; while the Anti-Federalists became the Democratic Party. The same distinction which originally divided the people, has at all times since, characterized the two parties. The one has always held for a strict construction of the Constitution with limitations upon thoughtless demands for legislation, the other standing for a loose construction of the Constitution."

"The great economic questions growing out of the Civil War were entrusted by the people to the Republican Party. So, in all great financial crisis, and at the present time, the people of this country have become discouraged at the efforts of the Democratic Party to rescue them from the entanglements and disturbances caused by the World's War, and are turning to the Republican Party for relief."

The speaker said that Senator Harding was a true and tried American, able and ready to lead the people in the adoption of policies and measures to aid the peace of the world, and to establish confidence and progress in our domestic affairs.

Governor Campbell, the speaker declared, was a courageous and able leader, and stood for the rights of the people in the development of our natural resources; that he was known and respected for his ability and patriotism. (Continued on Page 10)

FRED LEWIS CLAIMS REWARD FOR MURDERER

Fred Lewis, who recently caused the arrest of the negro murderer, Mose Gibson, at Topock, is in Phoenix seeking the reward offered by the state and Maricopa county for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of the Earhart family. Gibson, before his execution at San Quentin prison, California, confessed that he had murdered Earhart and wife, and therefore it would be impossible to bring the fellow to trial in Arizona. Gibson also murdered Roy Trapp in California and it was for this murder that he was convicted and executed. Gibson also confessed to the murder of other people, and it is probable that Lewis will get all the rewards offered.

Mr. Lewis stated that he was reading of the foul murder of Mr. Trapp and looking up from his paper he saw Gibson, and made a mental note that the fellow bore the description of the murderer. The negro wanted to buy a ticket to Albuquerque and while talking with him he advised the officers at Needles to come on first train to Topock and make the arrest. This was done and the negro immediately confessed to his various crimes, acknowledging readily that he killed the rancher at his California home. It is to be hoped that Lewis will get the reward, as he surely is deserving of it. The officer at Needles is said to be a claimant also to the reward, owing to the fact that he was the arresting officer. The fact really is that at the time of the arrest the Needles officer was not acting in an official capacity, as he lost that distinction when he crossed the bridge into Arizona to make an arrest, and it is also well assured that an officer called upon to make an arrest cannot successfully set up that it was due to his official position that the man was brought under arrest.

NEAL AND MARTEN ON SUCCESSFUL HUNT

Ivan Neal and Bob Martin returned this week from a successful hunt in the Bear Creek country. They each landed a buck besides having all the mountain trout they wanted to eat while they were gone.

MARRIED
H. A. Dameron and Mrs. Rena Lamb were married here last Saturday by Justice of the Peace J. H. Smith. They are both from Prescott.
