CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER

It is reported in Washington that $700,000 has been subscribed by the Bell telephone interest to drive Lamar and Garland out and down Cleveland's administration.

From a special dispatch in our telegraphic column, it will be seen that the Mexicans want Mr. Geronimo. Cochise county also may very likely put in a claim to this gentleman shortly.

We have received number 1, of the Salt River News, a weekly, published in the beautiful and fertile valley of Tempe, Maricopa county. The first number is printed on the "half shell," owing to non arrival of material. The new journal starts in with a dig at Phenix and its "Grand" Arizona Canal.

A Washington dispatch says that the department of state has directed an investigation to be made, of the circumstances attending the killing of Captain Crawford, by Mexican troops. It is to be hoped that the investigation will be made thorough and that Crook's damnable policy in using Apache scouts will be fully ventilated.

Ex-Governor Smith, of Virginia, the father of Fred Smith of this city, is lying dangerously ill at his home in Warrenton, Va. This venerable statesman will be 90 years of age at his next birthday. He has filled various responsible offices with great credit and ability, and will leave as a heritage to his children a name as lasting and as honorable as any of Virginia's noble sons.

A great many hard things are being said of the Mexicans who attacked Crawford's scouts. It must be remembered that these people have suffered terrible provocation. How long would Americans have submitted to the same outrages from Mexican Indian scouts? As we remarked yesterday, had Crawford not been killed, the people of the territory would have been glad if the Mexicans had slain everyone of Crawford's scouts.

The Star has already commenced a hurrah for General Crook, for his glorious victory over Geronimo. Those jingoistic, fossil, journalistic parasites of the Star of Tucson and Courier of Prescott keep lading out nauseous eulogies on General Crook, one for the purpose of getting him to favor the removal of headquarters to Tucson and the other to try and induce him to keep them whiplike. These two journals ought to cease misrepresenting the sentiments of our people.

The terrible effects of the late cold spell in the east will do much to encourage immigration to this land of perpetual sunshine. Eighteen persons are known to have been frozen to death in Kansas, during the late storm. At Dodge city, two young ladies were frozen to death, while passing from their own house to another, on the same street, and two men in a stable were unable to reach their residence, fifty yards away, having to remain in the stable all night. Look on that picture and then look at Arizona.

The EPITAPH would be pleased to see Geronimo apprehended by the civil authorities and forced to stand trial like any other outlaw or murderer. It is a peculiar country where there is one law for a white man and another for an Indian when both are guilty of the same offense. Equality before the law is the boast of the American nation, but we dislike to confess that is an idle empty assertion and has no foundation in the administration of the laws of this territory. Probably there is no other portion of the United States where the military law predominates over that of the civil.

There is no doubt that Arizona's display at New Orleans has done much to attract outside attention to the resources of the territory. The New Orleans correspondent of a Cleveland paper says: There is an evident feeling in Louisiana, particularly here in New Orleans and more particularly still among Northern settlers, looking to emigration to the territories, New Mexico and Arizona seeming in favor. The Arizona commissioner hopes to win something of the possible fruits in return for his labors. As soon as these Indian troubles are over we look for a very large immigration of practical settlers from the east where they are just beginning to discover that we have advantages in soil and climate equal to southern California with land at one-fifth of the price asked there.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—The Sharon will contest was brought to a close yesterday, in the probate court, Judge Coffey declaring that Sarah Althea Terry had no interest in contesting the will, and it was admitted to probate.

Death of An Officer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—Lieutenant Commander M. Cutts, while on a visit from Mare Island to relatives in this city, was suddenly seized with interval hemorrhage on Tuesday night, from which he died last evening. The deceased leaves a wife and two children.

Some Weather.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Feb. 4.—Snow has fallen since Wednesday noon to a depth of twelve inches. All railroad communications are interrupted. Reports from the southwest portion of the state indicate unparalleled snow storms, and report snow two to three feet deep.

Recovered Stock.

WILLCOX, Feb. 4.—Captain Wood, commanding troop I, stationed in the Mule mountains, made a tour of the Sulphur Spring Valley yesterday, for the purpose of notifying the ranchers who have had stock stolen from them by the Apaches, to come at once to Fort Bowie and receive their property, as all of the horses stolen from the settlers had been recovered and are now in the hands of the authorities. Geronimo and the other nine captives 'camp to-night at Lang's ranch en route to Bowie.

Indignant Florida.

NEW YORK, February 4.—On Saturday evening the board of trade of Jacksonville, Florida, held an indignation meeting over the reports published by the Sun and Herald about the fruit prospects in Florida. A letter signed by all the principal citizens was telegraphed to Charles A. Dana, denying the statements made in his paper. They say more than half the orange crop was frozen, equivalent to a loss of a million dollars and some young trees were killed, but growers are not discouraged and the loss, though heavy, will be widely distributed and comparatively easy to bear.

Stanford on Pacific Railroads.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—A local paper has a long and interesting interview with Leland Stanford, under Washington date in which facts about Pacific railways and the Pacific slope are discussed. In answer to the question as to whether the building of several railroads to the Pacific ocean affected the Central Pacific's passenger and general transcontinental business, the governor said: "Yes, very much, indeed. Business across the continent does not give us much concern. The Central Pacific has become a California railroad in the main. For a little while we did have pretty much the whole business across the country. All was subject, however, to competition on the steamship route by Panama. Now there are to the Pacific ocean the Southern Pacific, the Atlantic & Pacific, the Northern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific. There are at least four other railroads dividing the business. The Atlantic & Pacific has its agents in San Francisco soliciting through business on the same terms as ourselves. You take a train to or from California and you will be apt to find a good many empty seats where years ago trains ran evenly full."
