Friday evening Miss Titcomb, sister of Mr. Ed. Titcomb, left for the coast on her way back to Boston. Mr. Titcomb accompanied her as far as Tucson. The young lady had a delightful visit in Nogales.

Las Dos Naciones Cigar Co. will soon commence the erection of a factory building on the Jones lot on north Morley avenue recently purchased by the company. This company under the management of Wm. Schuckmann is forging to the front and is a credit to Pima county.

Before Santiago, Chaplain Brown of Arizona, was seen to seize the carbine of a wounded trooper, as the fight began to grow fierce, and work his way to the front of the fighting line. Colonel Roosevelt remonstrated: "According to the articles of war, chaplain," he said, "you are not allowed to handle firearms." "—the articles of war!" came the quick response. "Here's where I'm needed now." And there he stayed.—S. F. Chronicle.

One of our exchanges gets off the following: A couple were recently married and the bride invited an aunt to the wedding. The cards were well affairs, and in one corner bore the inscription: "Children not expected." After scanning it closely over her specs, the old lady said: "That's all right, but they'll have 'em just the same."

A gentleman went into a hotel in the eastern part of the state, says an exchange, and told the landlord that he wanted to stay all night. "You can't do it," replied the landlord, "my rooms are all taken." "Well," said the traveler, "I cannot stay out in the rain, can't you let me stay some way?" The landlord scratched his head and then replied: "Well, there is a room upstairs with two beds in it, with a curtain between, there is a lady in the north bed, but the curtain will answer the purpose of a double room, maybe." "Oh, thanks," replied the traveler, as he picked up his grip and started upstairs. The landlord showed him his bed and bade him goodnight and went down stairs. Pretty soon down came the fellow with his shoes in his hands, collar and necktie ditto, and his hair standing on end. "Why—why—why—th—that woman in the other bed is dead!" "I know it," said the landlord, "but how the devil did you find it out?"

HIT BY THREE BULLETS.

Captain McClintock's Leg in a Big Wooden Box.

When the news came that several of Arizona's wounded soldiers had reached the vicinity of New York, after their fierce battles in Cuba, City Recorder Jobs, among others, wrote to his family in New Jersey to look up the sufferers and do what was possible for their encouragement. The Republican publishes the following letter which he received:

"Captain McClintock was awfully glad to see us and you would think he had always known us instead of meeting us under those unusual circumstances for the first time. His leg had three bullets through it and the holes are still open. For thirty-six hours he lay on the battlefield and he says only God knew what he suffered. In that engagement there were 4,000 Spaniards and 900 of our men. His leg is done up now in a great wooden case and he has to lie right still all the time, but he is so brave and cheerful and all the attendants in the hospital think a great deal of him. I am sure I don't know how long he will be there, for the leg has not commenced to heal yet.

"Major Brodie had been there, too, but his arm recovered sufficiently for him to leave and he has gone to Nova Scotia with his wife."

Accidentally Killed.

Judge J. S. Wood received a letter yesterday from H. Pendergrass, dated Crittenden, August 18, in which the writer states that Sam C. Moss was accidentally killed on Thursday and that he (Pendergrass) had communicated with relatives of Moss with a view to administering upon the estate of deceased. It would appear from the inventory that Moss had been possessed of mules and teams to the value of $1,000.

This fact would give color to the idea that Moss was a freighter on the Crittenden, Harshaw and Washington Camp route, but nothing in the letter throws light upon the cause which led to the sudden taking off of Moss. The great register does not show the name of S. C. Moss and well informed persons living here do not possess any knowledge of the man, his antecedents or the character of work he conducted.

It was learned later that Moss was dragged by an animal, and being unable to extricate himself, his death resulted.—Tucson Star.

DISGUSTED ROUGH RIDERS.

The Tampa Contingent Outspoken in Their Disappointment.

The following from a correspondent in Washington voices the opinions of all the Rough Riders who were left behind to look after the horses at Tampa.

About the most disgusted men who have been in Washington since it was known that the fighting was all over were several members of the companies of Rough Riders which were left at Tampa when their companions went to Santiago. These men enlisted solely because they were assured that they would be sent where fighting was going on and kept there. The Tampa contingent has gone to Montauk to the companies that have returned from Santiago. How these men who remained in Florida feel about it may be judged by these remarks made by one of them who stopped over in Washington a day: "All we have to regret is our inability to get to the front. To my dying day the recollection of that disappointment will rankle, and there are hundreds who feel the same way. We do not blame anybody in particular. It was just our hard luck. We have been told that we can go down to Cuba with the army of occupation, but there is no solace in that. Some of us have given up positions paying as high as $3,000, and we went from motives of patriotism. We went to fight, but fate was against us and now we will go back as quick as we can to our private business. Excuse us from the army of occupation. Few of the volunteers will willingly go with that army."

M. E. C. SHULTS, of Winterset, Iowa, inventor and manufacturer of Shults' Safety Whiffletree Coupling, writes of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure: "Two years ago an attack of LaGrippe left me with a weak heart. I had run down in flesh to mere skin and bone. I could not sleep lying down for smothering spells; frequent sharp darting pains and palpitation caused a constant fear of sudden death, nothing could induce me to remain away from home over night. My local physician prescribed Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and in a few days I was able to sleep well and the pains gradually lessened, and finally ceased. I reduced the doses, having gained fifteen pounds, and am now feeling better in every way than I have for years."
