THE RAILROAD MAN AND HIS WATCH

No other class of people have to be so particular about the watches. Railroad men know what's what about watches, because in a sense it is a part of their business. Now when they buy a watch what make do they generally choose? USUALLY A "BALL" WALTHAM, ELGIN, HOWARD. What is good enough for a railroad man is good enough for anybody. We have all the above makes and will be glad to explain their good points to you. Prices that will suit you.

TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

Although it is impossible to secure exact figures at the present time, it is quite apparent that the deficit of $6000 in the territorial fair fund after the holding of last year, fair will be materially lessened when the books of the recent fair are checked, though there will still be a deficit of possibly $2000 or $3000

The H. H. McNeil company, and the Arizona State Press, both of Phoenix, through their attorney, P. H. Hayes, have filed a petition in the district court praying for a temporary injunction restraining the Printing Pressman's and Assistants' Union, No. 250 et al., from interfering with noon union employees of the petitioners.

Monday and Tuesday were redletter days in the history of this valley. They marked the beginning of the end of a twenty-five year struggle for an adequate irrigation system here, by bringing together, in an equitable understanding, the conflicting interests that held the solution of this water problem in check. The sky has been cleared and the star of hope now shines forth in the heaven of promise "like a diamond lit lantern by angels out-hung."—Florence Blade.

Henry S. Griswold, the veteran bicycle dealer of Phoenix, through his attorney E. E. Marks, has just received from the commissioner of patents at Washington, D. O., a United States patent for a tire healing compound. Mr. Griswold's claim for his compound among others is that it has a preservative effect on the rubber of tires and makes them longer lived.

Leading mining men of the country are flocking to Mohave county, Arizona, as a result of the wonderful showing the mines of that district are making. Mohave county is fast becoming recognized all over the country as one of the best mining districts in the United States and the latest developments promise to place the mines in the class of Goldfield.

The work of repairing the reclamation levees between Yuma and the international line is progressing rapidly and in good shape. Those farmers in the valley who have seen the work that has been done are enthusiastic in their approval of its completeness. More than 150 Indians have been employed on the work with a good many teams and scrapers. A road has been cleared on the side of the levee twenty feet wide, so that it is possible for one to drive down to the line alongside of the levee. Some who have seen the work pronounce it the best looking piece of work they have ever seen.—Yuma Sun.

Last spring D. O. Davis, at his ranch 18 miles north of town near the stage road crossing of the San Pedro river, discovered that bats ate mosquitoes, and at dusk would devour swarms of them so quickly that one could sleep comfortably out doors. Now it has been verified at a Texas U. S. experiment station and the government is paying 25c a pair for bats.—Benson Press.

Work on the Territorial highway from Roosevelt to Globe is nearing completion. The road has been graded almost to the city limits. The city has made all necessary surveys and is ready to take up the work when turned over by the Territory, which will be within the next five or six weeks. When the highway is finished there will be a fine automobile road all the way from Globe to Phoenix.

Emerson Gee, who has an option on the McKesson mines, at Little Meadows, for himself and associates, arrived in Kingman from Los Angeles yesterday and is getting things in shape for active work on the properties. Mr. Gee is one of the best mining operators in the business and it will take him but a short time to get under the ground with shaft and drift to find out just what the mines contain.—Miner.

M. G. Greenwald of Phoenix is opening in a small way a new industry in that city. During the past season he has shipped sweet myrtle and date palm branches from there to Chicago, New York, Cincinnati and other places for use in the Jewish synagogues, which heretofore imported this greenery used in their religious worship clear from Palestine. They are learning that they can get equally as nice myrtle and palms here as anywhere, and at less cost.

Owing to a protest made by American miners in the state of Jalisco, Mexico, against the law recently passed by the state legislature placing a new tax on all ores and mill products, Gov. Miguel Ahumada has temporarily repealed this law. The interests claim that practically all of the mines of the state are in a development stage, with a few exceptions, and that such a tax will be very detrimental to the industry if levied before the mines are placed on a paying basis. A committee representing the mining interests has been appointed consisting of Jas. H. Howard; Dwight Furness, Antonio Perez Verdia and James P. Harvey, who are making a canvass of the state to ascertain what the result of the enforcement of such a law would be.—Mining Science.

Arizona's Wealth.

Publication of the census returns for the Territory of Arizona presents opportunity for figuring out a per capita mineral wealth that is probably not exceeded in any part of the world. The official figures place the population at 204,534, which, by the by, is an increase of 66.2 per cent in ten years, and we already know that the production of copper for last year was close to three hundred million pounds and the total mineral production in round figures, worth $45,000,000. Thus it is easy to arrive at the conclusion that every man, woman and child in the new State theoretically produces an average of 1,466 pounds of refined copper a year, at 13 cents a pound, about $190 58, while the production of other mineral brings the total annual creation of new wealth up to the respectable total of $225 per capita. Consideration of these figures tends to make some of us wonder whether Arizona or the United States is getting the best of a bargain by which The Flag is to bear another star in honor of the greatest copper producing territory on earth.—Los Angeles Mining Review.

Great annual sale is now on at The Red House. Great Bargains in all departments.
