Bird Yoas is in from his fine stock ranch in the Santa Rita mountains, not far from Tubac. He reports good rains in his section of the county and cattle in splendid condition. Bird is a brother of John Yoas, the Canillie stockraiser.

A number of complaints have been made to the city authorities to the effect that strange men are seen almost every night in the residence portion of the city. An effort will at once be made by the proper authorities to put a stop to these mid-night prowlers.

At today's school election one member of the board of trustees will be elected. There are only two candidates for the position, T. J. Wylie and A. L. Gustetter. Either will make a perfectly good trustee. Go to the school house and give your friend a vote.

Z. O. Stocker, a well known American, who for a number of years has been farming down on the Yaqui river, near the town of Cajeme, arrived at the border yesterday with two carloads of hogs, which will be crossed to-day and shipped to Tucson butchers.

Lieutenant Richard Fleischer of R. Fleischer & Company, haberdashers, has this week been in El Paso on business for his firm, which recently sold many uniforms to the constitutional army in Sonora. The lieutenant is daily expected home.

Mr. Charley Buffett of the Alamo Cattle Company, has returned from a successful business trip to Sonora south of Cananea. The Alamo Cattle Company has a concession from General Carranza of the Constitutionalists, to export fifty thousand and cattle from that state.

Frank Reagan was here Thursday and yesterday from Patagonia. Frank and his brothers, James and Lee are interested in very valuable gold placer mines in the Altar district, on which machinery is now being installed. Town Marshal Wright is also interested in the property.

Tomorrow afternoon, on the local diamond, the Tuna Lax will cross bats with the Selagons. A side bet of two hundred dollars has been hung up, and Ed. Butler of the Tuna Lax, says the money is sure to go to his side of the argument. The game will be called at 2:30, sharp.

Attorney Gerald Jones, one of the attorneys in the Richardson-Heney case now being tried in superior court, before Judge W. A. O'Connor, is a guest at the Montezuma hotel, from Tucson, being associated with Senator Ives, Heney's attorney. Col. Richardson is represented by Williams and Hereford.

"Uncle" Tom Wills of the Huachuca mountains, where he is interested in a gold prospect said to possess great merit, has been a county seat visitor this week. "Uncle" Tom says just as soon as he receives the returns from a shipment of ore, he's going to invite his friends to a regular old-fashioned "house-warming."

O. J. Omstead, manager of the Dominguez Builders' Supply Company of this city, was a visitor in the city a couple of days this week, from Patagonia where he is putting the finishing touches on the handsome new brick school house.

This week Nogales has been honored by the presence of a number of distinguished attorneys-at-law, among whom were Senator Eugene S. Ives and Hon. Frank H. Hereford of Tucson, Hon. Jack Williams of Bisbee, and Hon. George Cass of Douglas. These bright legal lights were here on superior court business.

Ed. F. Bohlinger, the well known Patagonia mining man, is attending court as a witness in the Richardson-Heney case. Probably no man in Santa Cruz county has a better knowledge of the Patagonia mining district than Ed. Bohlinger, who for a long time has been associated with Colonel Richardson and A. E. Crepin.

W. H. Barnett of the Happy Jack Mining Company, is here from Patagonia attending court as a trial juror. He stated that he hoped soon to resume active operations on his company's properties which are located in one of the richest mining sections in the state. Mr. Barnett is manager of the Happy Jack Mining company.

A. Venater, of Venater, Oregon, has returned to his northern home, but just as soon as he can settle up his business there he will bring his family to Nogales, where he will reside. When in Sonora recently Mr. Venater purchased a thousand head of cattle from the Giroux Cattle Company. The cattle will be fattened before shipping to the States.

John McCarty, who is dry farming over in the Elgin country, after spending a few days in the city, on private business, returned home yesterday. John says "batching it" on a ranch, no matter how good the ranch may happen to be, is not his idea of life, and in the near future he is going to change things a bit. He refused to mention any names.

C. C. King, secretary and treasurer of the Verde Mining Company, has returned from his company's excellent mining properties situated on the west side of the Patagonia mountains, a short distance from Nogales. During the illness of Captain P. J. McIntyre, the company's general manager, Mr. King has been a very busy man. After transacting business here for his company, he will return to camp.

E. B. Holt, president and manager of the Cerro de Plata Mining Company, is a visitor in the city, having arrived last evening from the mines. He reports everything in his section of the country quiet and operations at his camp progressing in a very satisfactory manner. At his company's big silver producer everybody is well, prosperous and happy. With plenty to do, nobody has time to think about or discuss the civil war in Mexico.

Congressman Carl Hayden has introduced a bill in congress for an appropriation for the building of the San Carlos dam. The bill provides for the storage, diversion and development of water for the irrigation of approximately forty thousand acres of land on the Gila River Indian reservation and for the irrigation of approximately 55,000 acres of public and private lands in Pinal county. The limit of cost shall not exceed the sum of $6,311,983.

Hon. Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, and his brother G. Ben Heney of Fairbank, Arizona, are guests at the Montezuma hotel. The gentlemen are interested in a big law suit being tried in Superior Court. Francis J. Heney has an international reputation as a lawyer. He is being prominently mentioned as a candidate for governor of California at the coming election. G. Ben Heney has many years conducted a big mercantile business at Fairbank.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Mira Monte Sanitarium company, held last Tuesday in this city the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: L. W. Mix, George Fiedler, E. K. Cumming, E. A. Titcomb, A. L. Gustetter, H. W. Purdy, C. H. Hector, Theron Richardson, and Geo. B. Clark. The officers elected were President A. L. Gustetter, Vice President L. W. Mix, Secretary Geo. B. Clark, Treasurer E. A. Titcomb.

Messrs. Fain and Farrell, two prominent American mining men, who are working gold mines in Sonora, are guests at the Montezuma hotel. Mr. Farrell for a long time was assistant mine inspector. He has recently been quite ill, at Bisbee, but is slowly regaining his former excellent health, to the delight of his numerous friends throughout the state.

Several carloads of Mexican cattle on which ticks were found, were denied admittance to the United States the forepart of the week. The cattle were not unloaded from the cars and were sent south by the authorities. Every precaution is taken by the authorities to prevent cattle with ticks from crossing the international line, and importers of Sonora cattle should assist the authorities in every possible way. In the long run they'll save money.

John Cave, president and Frank Curtis, manager of the mining company owning the El Oro mines near Poza, Sonora, Mexico, are in the city, Mr. Cave coming from Los Angeles and manager Curtis from Tucson, where they reside. El Oro mines were operated several years ago under the management of John Henderson, who at that time was president and principal stockholder in the company, then known as the Coast Line Copper Company.

Many political exiles, supposedly Huertistas, are being deported out of Sonora, at this port. Monday a special train reached the border with thirty-five "undesirable Mexican citizens." Yesterday morning another consignment of professional, business men and ranch owners were escorted to the international line by order of the constitutionalists. Every hotel and rooming house in Nogales is crowded. Constitutionalist or federal, all are welcome.

Captain Lon Haley, one of the oldest passenger conductors in the service of the Espee, who for many years has been running between Nogales and Tucson, is taking a well-earned rest. Captain Haley has during many years of service endeared himself to both the traveling public and officers of the great corporation to which he has devoted the better part of his life. We join his host of personal friends in the wish that we will soon again see the captain "on the job."

One night this week a midnight thief broke into Billie Colburn's wet goods emporium under the Lyric and carried off an armful of Billie's best. George Rafael, night manager at the International Cas Company's plant, on his way home from work saw the thief leave the place and immediately gave chase. He was about to capture the thief, when he turned and fired a pistol at George, who at once retreated for reinforcements. A suspect has been arrested.

Colonel R. R. Richardson and his partner, Mr. A. E. Crepin, motored down from Patagonia last Thursday and have since been guests at the Montezuma hotel. Messrs. Richardson and Crepin own some of the best mining property in Arizona. They were the lucky owners of the now famous Three R mines which they sold to N. L. Amster, the Boston millionaire for $550,000. Both gentlemen have many friends in Nogales who are always pleased to welcome them to our little city.

Senator Bo. J. Whiteside of Patagonia, has been in attendance at superior court this week as a trial juror. The senator is an old-time friend of Hon. William Powers, mayor of Patagonia, the second city in the county, who last week honored Nogales with his presence. Senator Whiteside has unbounded faith in the future of the Patagonia and Santa Rita mining districts, and said Patagonia, situated as she is, in the heart of the greatest mining district in the world, is the gem of the southwest.

Yesterday Walter Holt, secretary and treasurer of the Cerro de Plata Mining Company, returned from San Francisco, where he had been to purchase mining machinery for his company, which owns and is operating the great Cerro de Plata silver mines situated in Sonora, a short distance south of the international line. A portion of the new machinery has been shipped; the rest will follow at an early date. With the installation of the new machinery at Cerro de Plata, Mr. Holt says that camp will be a "hummer."
