ARIZONA NOTES.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

Redskin against paleface will be the situation in the San Xavier marathon Thursday afternoon, October 27, when the fleet-footed Papago and Pima youths line up against their white competitors for the long ten mile grind on the half mile track at the Southern Arizona fair.

Jerome reports that within the last six months the express and telegraph business of the town has more than doubled. To accommodate the traffic a new building is being put up between the Miller store and the United Verde Hospital. It will be 20x50 feet, and will house the express company and the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The reports which have been sent in to District headquarters of the Forest Service for Arizona and New Mexico indicate that the Forest fire season is practically closed for this year in the two states. In ordinary seasons there is but little danger of bad Forest fires in the fall of the year, with the exception of the extreme northern forests of New Mexico.

Plans for the vast amount of tailings now on the dump below Hayden are being prepared by the Ray Consolidated Copper company which owns and operates a 100,000 ton concentrating plant here. The new plant will have a daily capacity 6,000 tons of tailings and will employ between 200 and 300 men. It will be located on the bank of the Gila river, close to the tailings dump, which consists of millions of tons with a low copper content.

Application has been made to the State Corporation Commission by the New State Telephone and Telegraph Company for permission to dispose of its property to the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company. The application will be heard before the commission, at Phoenix, Monday, October 16th. The New State company is a local system, operating in Cochise county, with central office at Dragoon. D. A. Adams is president of the company.—Benson Signal.

Unprecedented prices of mohair are being received by Yavapai goat raisers at the present time. Shipping early in September from Kirkland valley, at a price of 38 cents per pound, the highest ever paid. Consignments total over 60,000 pounds from two localities of this county, of the season's clip, and which next year it is stated will be swelled to over 75,000 pounds. The healthy outlook of the industry is reflected in many new investors coming, as well as old-time goat men enlarging their holdings.

Arizona has no local facilities for marketing or manufacturing livestock products. It happens that fully five times as much hog products are consumed in the state as are produced here. On the other hand, more sheep and cattle are produced in the state than are consumed. Thus it is shown that we should at least have market facilities for collecting, killing and preparing the animal products for market locally to supply the products used at home. At the present time very few of the towns or cities use local meats but ship them in from eastern markets.

Governor Hunt returned from a tour of the north on Tuesday to attend to official business. He will be one of the principal speakers at the big rally in Phoenix Saturday evening in which all state candidates will participate. Everywhere throughout the north were big crowds to meet the democratic candidates and were well received. The governor is popular throughout the entire state and many guesses are made that he will carry every county. Some people believe Campbell has a slight chance to carry two counties.—Pima and Yavapai.

TICKET WELL BALANCED.

Arizona democrats present a state ticket that is well balanced, every one on the list being peculiarly fitted for the position to which he aspires.

Senator Ashurst and Congressman Hayden have been both able and vigilant; they have been faithful and will be even better equipped because of service when they begin their next term of office. They know how and they do their work well.

Henry D. Ross, who runs as a non-partisan has done such good service that he will be returned without question.

Gov. Hunt, head of the state ticket is a big number on the platform. His policies generally are approved, while his honesty, and conscientiousness is never doubted, even by those who oppose his policies.

Sidney P. Osborn has given an excellent business administration of the office of secretary of state.

David F. Johnson is so thoroughly qualified for the office of treasurer, being an unusually good accountant, that his selection was a fortunate one. The treasurer has so much to do with loaning money of the state, and Mr. Johnson is thoroughly familiar with land values.

Jesse L. Boyce, the jolly, good natured candidate for auditor, has all the necessary business qualifications.

For tax commissioner, Chas. R. Howe is an ideal man, an expert accountant, a heavy taxpayer and one who feels a real interest and keen responsibility in discharge of his official duties. He possesses every qualification necessary in the highest degree.

Amos A. Betts, who is at present rate expert is thoroughly qualified for the office of corporation commissioner, having had many years of ripe experience in that line.

Prof. C. O. Case has brought the schools of the state to such high degree of efficiency that it would be to the injury of the service to make a change. The superintendent of schools acts in dual capacity; being member of the board of pardons and paroles, with which work he is also familiar.

G. H. Bolin, present state mine inspector has given good satisfaction, and affairs of his office are kept up-to-date.

It will be seen by going over the entire ticket that the people made no mistake in primaries.

It is now only necessary to ratify their choice at the polls in November, and this the people will do without doubt.—The Messenger.

Trees Killed By Poisoned Mash.

Mr. W. E. L'Hame, of Cochise Arizona, writes the following in regard to the use of poisoned mash for destroying grasshoppers: "I will relate to you my experience with hoppers in my orchard this year, as it may prove valuable to some other farmer in the future. When fighting the hoppers I placed around every tree poisoned bran mash about every other day. So in the course of time quite a bit accumulated around each. As soon as the rainy season began the hoppers let up and my orchard made a new start. After a few days, however my trees began to die. A close examination showed that the rain water dissolved the poison and killed the bark where the trunk meets the earth. As long as the weather continued dry the poison was inactive, and it should have been removed before the rains came. I lost nearly 90 per cent of my trees, but I hope it will help some on else from similar mistakes."

Save the Nation From Prosperity.

Mr. Parker the vice presidential nominee for the progressive party says: "My unanimous, unsolicited nomination meant nothing to those men, whose action on June 23 showed they belonged body and soul to the republican machine, and had forgotten progressive principles, which were to them a temporary dream. They first deserted the republican party, damned the 'Old Guard' for every conceivable crime, pledged their honor and loyalty to progressive principles, and then deserted and betrayed the progressive party, and having again locked arms with the same Old Guard republicans, they so bitterly denounced four years ago, now have the audacity to appear before the people of the United States in the role of patriots, endeavoring to save the nation.

"To save it from what?"
"To save it from the prosperity which is so rampant from New York to California?"

"To save it from the farmers who are making large crops, for which they are realizing more satisfactory prices than ever before in their history?"
"To save it from the working men whose brain and brawn is needed in every state in the Union, and who are receiving more money than ever before in their experience with shorter hours of labor?"

"To save the country to them means to fleece it for their personal, political and financial gain."

"Such brazen hypocrisy from such men who must be judged by their past record cannot deceive the American people."

STATE FAIR NEWS NOTES.

Great will be the harness races at the Arizona State Fair to be held at Phoenix November 12th to 18th. Double the number of entries have been received for the different events than were received last year, and while it was almost impossible to fill some of last year's races, it seems this year as if there will be an overplus of entries.

It is not only in horse racing that greater interest is being shown. The automobile enthusiasts of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona are responding joyously to the call for the Tri-State races, and some speedy 'boats' are being stripped and tuned up for the track as well as the road race from Douglas to Phoenix.

The farmers in the Salt River Valley are taking greater interest in this year's fair than ever before, and the different counties of the state are laboring mightily to secure representations that will entitle them to prices for the best county exhibit.

From many different portions of the state have come requests for entry blanks of the Woman's Department, and the ladies will certainly be represented.

Cowpunchers from as far north as Montana and from the most southern portions of Texas are writing to ask for information and signifying their intention of entering the cowboy sports.

Cattle and sheep men are applying for stalls and pens and already new stalls are being erected to take care of the excess over last year.

WAGER HOLDS GOOD RECORD.

Victor J. Wager, who is out on the Democratic ticket for reelection to the office of county assessor has the distinction of being the only assessor in the state in whose assessments no changes were made by the State Tax Commission in the year 1915, and in 1916 only a few minor changes were made. At the annual state conference of supervisors and assessors, held at Prescott for the past two years and attended by representatives from Santa Cruz as well as from other counties in the state, the different county assessments are gone over with painstaking detail, and upon the recommendation of this body the State Tax Commission changes the assessments of the counties where they are found to be incorrect, and after the meeting of this state tax conference usually many changes are made in the levies of the different county assessors. But so very fair to all interests were the assessments of Santa Cruz county that no changes were made. Vic is very thorough in his work, and that the people of Santa Cruz county appreciate him will be shown at the coming election.—Patagonian.

The members of the State Board of Trade, which met at Prescott Tuesday, September 26th, expressed sincere appreciation of the hospitality accorded them. All the visitors spoke in the highest terms of the mineral and agricultural exhibits in the Chamber of Commerce. Andrew Kimball, vice president of the board and chairman of the State Horticultural Commission, declared that the display of preserved fruits and vegetables was one of the finest he had ever seen, and proved beyond doubt that Yavapai is destined to become a great agricultural, as well as mining district.—Yavapai.
