Impartial as an Author.

It is said in compliment to Blaine as an author that in his book, "Twenty Years in Congress," he displays great candor in speaking of his Democratic opponents. Here is an specimen. He alludes to Thomas A. Hendricks:

He was but 31 years of age when first chosen, and his record in the house had not prepared the public to expect the strength and ability which he displayed as a senator. He was in the full maturity of his powers when he took his seat, and he proved able, watchful and acute in the discharge of his public duties. He was always at his post, and he was prepared on all questions, debated with ability, and rapidly gained respect and consideration in the senate.

"A deep water edition" of 12 pages is what the Galveston News announces, "devoted to the deep water interests of Galveston," to be issued (December 1) in time for congress. It is quite proper for the Texas city to long for deep water at the harbor entrance, but this new method of going for the old flag and an appropriation is rather surprising, to say the least.

Will you get there, Jimmie Blaine? You candidate for Maine? "I cannot tell you now. I'm making my best bow. This year's issue remember, I'll tell you in November."—Cincinnati Merchant Traveler.
