New York Correspondent:

Y readers to be put up in a better way, than the huge, old-fashioned pills. No gripping, no violence, no reaction afterward that sometimes leaves you worse off than before. In that way they cure permanently. Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're tiny, sugar-coated granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts—the smallest in size, the easiest to take, and the cheapest pill you can buy, for you're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

There's nothing likely to be "just as good."

Treating Ailing Women by Letter

Most cases of Female diseases can be treated as well by us through the mails as by personal consultation. In writing for advice, give age and symptoms of your complaint, state length of time you have been suffering, and what means you have tried to obtain relief.

Mrs. Pinkham fully and carefully answers all letters of inquiry, and charges nothing for her advice.

All correspondence is treated strictly confidential. Your letters will be received and answered by one of our own addresses.

ons. The reverse side of the velvet is rose satin. The bow under the ear, of course, shows both shades prettily. The rose color matches the pink tip of the dear little ear, and the green just brings out the blue of the eyes and the pale-yellow hair over which it has crossed. It is all the better if the hair is the sort that will brighten against the silvery green of the coat. A brilliant yellow will seem a little vivid. Beddied chestnut is charming under this bonnet if you are careful to get just the right rose color. For a brunette, change the rose color for scarlet, and make the blonde feel herself beaten on her own ground. It is so nice to beat a person that way.

The familiar hat with twisted brim, white catie over some faces, is not becoming to all. Such exceptions will find a welcome suggestion in the hat of my fourth cut. The brim rolls evenly up a little near the edge, and is a good deal wider in front than at the back. The crown is very small, and narrows toward the top, and the green just brings out the blue of the eyes and the pale-yellow hair over which it has crossed. This one is not a particularly high, however. That is a charm of the model—it is extreme in no way. The under side of the brim is light brown, the upper side and the crown is dark brown. A soft light-brown scarf

SPAIN'S NEW MINISTER.

Senior Henry Dupuy de Lôme and the Long Diplomatic Career.

Henry Dupuy de Lôme, the new Spanish Minister to this country, comes of a distinguished ancestry, and has already, at the age of 41, achieved a renowned reputation. His family is French, his ancestry dating back to Hugo Raimundo Dupuy, who served with Godefroy de Bouillon, and one of whose many estates was that of L'ome, which was added to the family name. Senior de Lôme studied in the famous college of Barcelona, and subsequently pursued the study of law. Entering a diplomatic career, he was employed in the Spanish State Department in 1869, and in 1872 was made third secretary in the Ministry of State. In the following year he was attached to the Spanish legation in Japan; in 1875 was sent to Brussels; in 1877 became Secretary of Legation at Montevideo; in 1880 was advanced to the Secretaryship of Legation at Buenos Ayres, and was for a time charge d'affaires.

In June, 1881, he became Secretary of Legation at Paris, and in October of the year following became First Secretary of Legation in Washington. At the time of the suicide of the minister, Senior Barca, he was charge d'affaires, and his services were largely appreciated in connection with the adjustment of the filibuster troubles.

In 1884 he was transferred to Berlin as First Secretary; in 1886 he was the Spanish delegate to the International Congress for the consideration of commercial questions of importance. In the same year he became the representative of Spain in Montevideo, where his services commanded wide commendation. After serving for a time as chief of the section of commerce and consulates in the Spanish Ministry he has now been made Minister at Washington. Thus he has for twenty years been continuously engaged in the diplomatic service of his country.

Duties of the Waitress.

Although every housekeeper may have some methods peculiarly her own in the matter of waiting upon the table, still there are some customs that are almost universal in refined households, writes Maria Parloa in her valuable department, "Everything About the House," in the Ladies' Home Journal.

If the water has not already been poured, the waitress pours it as soon as the guests sit down at the table. If there be raw oysters, they should be served first. Usually they are arranged on the plates and placed at each person's seat before the guests come in.

When the oyster plates have been removed the soup tureen and hot soup plates are placed before the hostess. The waitress lifts the cover off the tureen, inverting it at once, that no drops of steam shall fall from it, and carries it from the room. The hostess puts a ladleful of soup into each plate and hands it to the waitress, who places it before the guests, going in every case to the left-hand side. Some hostesses always serve the guests in rotation before the host, the vegetables being placed before the hostess or on the sideboard, as one chooses. The waitress passes each plate as the host hands it to her. She then passes vegetables, bread, sauce, etc.

The salad is to be served by the hostess. After that the table is brushed and the dessert is brought in and placed before the hostess. The coffee follows. If fruit be served it is passed before the coffee.

Finger bowls are brought in after the made dessert has been served. A dainty dilly is spread on a desert plate and the finger bowl placed on this. The bowl should be about one-quarter full of water. Each guest lifts the bowl and dolly from the plate and places them at the left-hand side. The dolly is never to be used to wipe the fingers.

A good waitress will not pile one dish upon another when removing them from the table. She should be provided with a tray for all the smaller dishes, and should remove the plates one or two at a time.

A Great "Honor."

In the years of his highest reputation, Daniel Webster was favored with a degree of personal adulation and "todying" which was not altogether agreeable to him.

It is related that on one occasion, when a public reception was given to him at a hotel in Boston, a particularly obsequious old officer-serker was introduced. The man flattered Webster and ground his own ax, bowing and scraping until the great man was tired of him, and bidding him good-day, settled down into the nearest chair.

But the man, instead of passing on and giving a chance to the next comer, lingered near, and seemed to have something still on his mind, though he looked very blissful. Webster observed this, and said, not very good-naturally:

"May I ask you, sir, if you want anything more of me?"

"Oh, no, no," said the man, smilingly; "only, perhaps I may be permitted to remark that I am proud to say that my hat is having the inestimable honor to occupy the same chair with Daniel Webster!"

Webster had, as a matter of fact, sat down on the man's tall beaver hat, and crushed it out of shape—Youth's Companion.

Put your name to your letters. At one notice seems to be insufficient to print a second and last notice, to say that with all due appreciation of good intentions, we wish the writers of anonymous communications, if they will write them, would send their epistles to other journals. Somehow we feel we have had our share. Even where the writer thinks to serve a good purpose, it is yet folly to address this paper anonymously, for how can we get further information, if desired, to secure an explanation that a hastily constructed sentence may render necessary? As for correspondents who fear that the revealing of their names would affect them in their business we say to them once and for all, we never disclose names given us in confidence. But we must insist upon a distinct personal address, failing to give which it will be as useless hereafter for any one to address this journal in the guise of anonymity as for a young Parsee to attempt digging away the Himalayas with a salt spoon.—Christian at Work.

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient relief, but now there it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

Do Not Blow Out a Light.

If your wick is dirty, if your oil is poor, if your spark doesn't fit its slide tightly, then sparks may drop from the wick into the oil chamber, or the wick may fall through its tube into the oil. The greatest danger with an oil lamp is in blowing it out; don't do that, but turn it out.—New York Sun.

A Canal Reopened.

Health is largely dependent upon a regular habit of body. The bowels act as an important canal for the carrying of waste matter of the system. They, together with the kidneys and pores, are outlets for debris whose presence is fatal to the body's well-being. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is no violent purgative, but a gentle laxative admirably adapted to the wants of the constipated. It never gripes and weakens the intestines as all drastic cathartics do, but produces an action akin to that of an effort of nature. Biliousness, indigestion, with their associate manifestations, constipation, are speedily and completely remedied by this fine corrective, which also conquers malaria, sick headache, kidney and rheumatic trouble, and checks premature decay.

Short of Young Men.

So serious are the results of the absence of the summer resort, young men from Estill Springs, Ky., that the managers advertise their promise to "give to the first young man with a dress suit who applies his board for a week free of cost."

$100 Reward.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure. It is Catarrh. It is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh is a disease of the bladder, and is a constitutional ailment. It is a disease that is not cured by any of the ordinary remedies, but is cured by the use of the "Cure for Catarrh," which is a new and powerful medicine. For the Good of Others

Rev. Mr. Williams' Heavenly Indorsement of His Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee Street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an

and worth, from which he or his family have been specially benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from catarrh of the bladder, and has been cured by your Sarsaparilla. I have no hesitation in endorsing its merit."

Put your name to your letters. At one notice seems to be insufficient to print a second and last notice, to say that with all due appreciation of good intentions, we wish the writers of anonymous communications, if they will write them, would send their epistles to other journals. Somehow we feel we have had our share. Even where the writer thinks to serve a good purpose, it is yet folly to address this paper anonymously, for how can we get further information, if desired, to secure an explanation that a hastily constructed sentence may render necessary? As for correspondents who fear that the revealing of their names would affect them in their business we say to them once and for all, we never disclose names given us in confidence. But we must insist upon a distinct personal address, failing to give which it will be as useless hereafter for any one to address this journal in the guise of anonymity as for a young Parsee to attempt digging away the Himalayas with a salt spoon.—Christian at Work.

It is better to take Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil when that decline in health begins—the decline which precedes consumption—rather than wait for the germ to begin to grow in our lungs. "Prevention is better than cure;" and surer. The saying never was truer than here.

What is it to prevent consumption? Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING; free.

Saccharine

Saccharine is the new product that is 223 times sweeter than sugar. It is a product of common coal. Besides this, there are some fifteen other substances all obtained from this commodity, all useful in the arts and the sciences, running from ammonia and common pitch to naphthalene. Most of our colors are derived from this source. In fact, the product is being analyzed from day to day, and every week almost something new is discovered or some new use found for an old one. A few years ago people used to say that there would shortly be nothing left to discover. Since that time the whole domain of electricity has been opened to the use of man and the industrial methods of our fathers have been revolutionized. Among these discoveries is that of HEID'S GREAT COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE. Formerly our fathers thought that it would be impossible to have a cough remedy without the use of opium in some form. But modern science has shown that not only is opium unnecessary, but it is positively injurious, in treatment for colds, or maladies that arise from colds. Get this great remedy of any dealer. The small bottles cost 25 cents, the large ones 50 cents.
