Sheep Brecders' Association.

The annual meeting of the Shiawassee county Sheep Breeders' and Wool Growers' association was held at the Court House, Corunna, on Tuesday. The day was Litterly cold, but the attendance at the meeting was good, citizens being present from every part of the county; from outside the county there were present, R. B. Caruss, of St. Johns; D. P. Dewey and Geo. W. Stuart, of Grand Blanc, and that "hustler of hustlers," Robt. Gibbons, editor of the Michigan Farmer. The programme arranged, was carried out only in part, owing to the absence of Hon. Wm. Ball, who was to have delivered an address on the "Sheep Industry in Michigan," and the un-avoidable failure of others to prepare papers. In his paper on "The Outlook for Merinos," Mr. Gibbons ex plained the causes of the low prices of sheep, wool, etc., and how, as the full in a future issue. The opening address of the president predicted a bright future for the breeders of Merino sheep, and urged all to keep their flocks and improve them. The Question Box, under the management of J W. Hibbard, proved to be one of the happy hits of the occasion, and questions of every kind were discussed in detail. The election of officers resulted in the re election of the old ones as follows: president, J. E. Gilmore; vice president, E. S. Burnett; secretary and treasurer, Ed. O. Dewey; director, Amos Parmenter. It was decided to hold the annual Shearing at Corunna, on April 27.
