Visitors were present from Saginaw, East Saginaw, Alma, St. Louis, Bay City, Ithaca, Ionia, Flint, Lansing, Lapeer and other places. The work of the third degree was successfully carried out. A banquet followed the lodge work.
Detroit Journal: Ed. Wiswell is the largest man in the Detroit base ball team, and weighs nearly two hundred pounds. He was born at Owosso, on August 18, 1864. As a boy he played ball, and was well known as a hitter and long distance thrower. In 1887 he joined the Big Rapids, team, and pounded out a great many runs for them, attracting the attention of the Bloomington people, who hired him for 1888 to play left field and to catch. He made a good showing, and was signed by Manager Leadley, of Detroit, on account of his hitting powers. He has the record of making one of the longest hits on a ball field. He is a left-handed batter, and uses an exceptionally heavy bat. In the games thus far played he has done good work, and has shown up strong as a thrower. He is also a good base runner.
