RAKED BY MORLEY

The British Statesman Talks About Tipperary.

BALFOUR'S RULE HOTLY BERATED.

The Whole Trouble at Tipperary Charged to the Police—What Magistrate Caddell Says—The Dillon Trial—A Wrathful Empress Tears Up a Big Check Intended for a Church.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—John Morley, speaking at St. Helena last night, asked the co-ercionists that constituency and of the whole country whether the state of Ireland to-day was what they had bargained for when they voted for the present government? As an instance of the situation in Ireland he would cite the fact that when John Dillon went to address his constituents a week ago he found the station surrounded by military and police, and was advised by the local authorities to be careful in his language or the meeting would be dispersed. This meant that "loyal" magistrates would judge his speech; and this meant bayonets and clubs.

Rose-Colored Pictures False. What reason existed why an Irish orator should not be allowed to address his constituents untrammelled? The Tipperary prosecution had blasted the hopes of the Unionists, for it had given the lie to their rose-colored pictures of the success of the government's Irish policy. The last fortnight's proceedings would cause all the Nationalists, lay and clerical, to rally in a common cause and would close up any gap that might have appeared in the ranks. The criticisms which had been passed upon Morley's action in going to Ireland were inspired by a dog-in-the-manger policy. Balfour would not go himself nor permit any one else to go. The speaker went to Tipperary because he felt that the proceedings there marked the turning point in the great battle, and because he felt that the government was about to drive a nail in its own coffin.

The Riotous at Tipperary. Morley proceeded to describe the assault made by the police upon the crowd at Tipperary, and said that the clubbing had no provocation but the cheers of the citizens in his honor. He explained the circumstances of the assault, and declared that such violence was wholly unwarranted. The crowd at the court house was a harmless and insignificant one, O'Brien, Dillon and Harrington urged that the public be allowed to enter the court-room, but the police responded only with blows.

Police Did the Rioting. "I, myself," continued Morley, "saw one man knocked down who was standing perfectly quiet, and had not made a disorderly sound or sign. It was a piece of sheer brutality. I saw no stones thrown at the police, as has been alleged. Two English constables would have done all that was necessary to guard the access to the court and peaceably preserve order. The rioting was wholly on the part of the police." Morley's statement showed that if Balfour produced in the house of commons what had been published as the official version of the affair, Morley would take direct issue with it, and insist that it was false from beginning to end.

Severe on the Irish Secretary. Morley was very severe in his reflections upon Balfour. He said it was no wonder that in regard to the secretary's methods the Irish do not respect the law and do hate the government.

Col. Caddell, the presiding magistrate at the Tipperary hearing, asserts that John Morley himself appealed to him to exclude the crowd from the court house.

The Trial of Dillon Et Al. The trial of Dillon and his confederates made poor progress. Healy, counsel for the defendants, announced that he proposed to refer the question of Mr. Shannon's eligibility to sit in the case to the high court of justice at Dublin. He insisted that they had the best of reason to doubt the fairness and impartiality of Mr. Shannon, and wanted the case suspended until the appeal could be decided.

It is likely that the last has not been heard of the collision between the police and the people in front of the court at Tipperary last Thursday. It is reported that the government intends to prosecute many of the persons who were present in the crowd for inciting a riot. Harrington, member of parliament for the middle division of Tipperary, who received a severe blow over the head from a policeman's club, is mentioned among those likely to be prosecuted.

AN EMPRESS IN DUDGEON.

Stupid Clergymen Lose a Liberal Gift from Royalty.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—A curious contretemps happened to the empress during her visit to Breslau. The empress having expressed a desire to visit the famous Elizabeth church, the trustees hastened to summon all the members of the clergy and the church choir to receive her, and at the same time ordering the doors closed to the public. The empress arrived only to find the doors of the church locked. The gentleman in attendance repeatedly knocked for admittance, and could hear voices and footsteps inside, but no one came to his bidding.

Cost Them Five Thousand Marks. The empress waited in her carriage for a few minutes, and then drove away in high dudgeon, tearing up a check for 5,000 marks which she had intended presenting to the church. The clergy and choir waited for the kaiserine until 10 o'clock at night, and then sent to the palace to make inquiries, when they were informed that the contretemps was owing to their own stupidity. They excused themselves by saying that they thought the knocking at the door was the act of the public.

A Stock Yards Fire Licks Up $750,000 Worth of Property. CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—More than one-half of the extensive stock yards plant and property of the Anglo-American Provision company was destroyed by fire yesterday. The most conservative estimate of the loss is $750,000, the highest nearly $1,000,000. Prior to its acquisition a few months since by an English syndicate with a capital of $500,000, the property was owned by the Fowler Bros. Considerable mystery surrounds the origin of the fire. Flames were discovered in the engine room shortly after 1 a. m., and the private fire company maintained by the Anglo-Americans fought them for some time before calling for reinforcements from the city.

A Big Fry of Pork and Sausage. Before these arrived the flames had spread to warehouses E, F, and B. In the packing house were 9,000 dressed hogs, which had been slaughtered during the past two days, while on one floor of the adjoining warehouse there were 200,000 pounds of sausage in process of curing. On the other floors of this and the adjoining warehouses were stored the product of 93,000 hogs, together with an immense quantity of beef. With this material to feed on the fire raged furiously for hours, and although twenty-six of the city engines were called into requisition, it was not till late yesterday afternoon that it was brought under control. At one time it was feared that the conflagration would cover a greater portion of the packing house district.

A Heavy Loss from Idleness. Several thousand live hogs were with difficulty saved from the warehouse F. The loss proper is fully covered by insurance, but the loss resulting from the suspension of business will be enormous, as the concern has been killing from 4,000 to 7,000 hogs daily and proposed to increase the number to 12,000 in two weeks. Thirteen hundred men are thrown out of employment. A searching investigation into the origin of the fire is to be made. General Manager Stobo places the loss on buildings at $75,000; machinery, including three less machines, $30,000, and stock nearly $900,000.

EIGHT PERSONS KILLED.

Frightful Wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio Road. ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 29.—About 1 o'clock Sunday morning a most disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio near Pleasant Valley, a short distance west of this city. Orders were given east and west bound freights to pass at Black Hand, but Operator Kealy at that place failed to deliver the order to the east-bound train. Later he saw his mistake and telegraphed the operator here that there would be a wreck pretty soon, and left his post. He is a mere boy. Both engines and a number of cars filled with oats, coke, and merchandise were piled up in the greatest confusion.

The List of Killed.

Eight men were killed, as follows: John Buckingham, engineer; William Firestone, fireman; Freeman Keller, brakeman; John Cochran; Ben Smart, Gratto; Glen Bash, Zanesville; George W. Stoneburner, Zanesville; Tom McCrary, not found; one unknown. John Kemp, an engineer, had his leg cut off and Fireman Wilson a hand smashed. Trains are running by the way of the Panhandle between Zanesville and Newark. Those not employed on the train were beating their way from Columbus.

Has Fasted 183 Days.

ALLENTOWNS, Pa., Sept. 29.—One hundred and eighty-two days of involuntary fasting, without a morsel of food or a drop of water, is the record thus far made by Leigh county's now famous but most unfortunate invalid Mrs. Adam Wuehler, up at Whitehall. Her condition has changed but slightly for the worse since last Saturday. Her strength, however, is slowly but inevitably ebbing away, and her sufferings are extreme.

At times she is rational, and expresses her wishes to the family in a faint whisper. Her last request to her attending physician, Dr. Seiger, is that he keep doctors and other people from coming to the sick-room and offering her food and water. Accordingly the physician has so arranged that all medical visitors and others must first apply to him and obtain a pass before they can be admitted. Dr. Seiger is of the opinion that Mrs. Wuehler may survive another month longer.

Three Men Crushed to Death.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 29.—The wall of a tenement house adjoining the tannery of James Callery & Co., River avenue, Allegheny City, fell with a crash Saturday, burying seven workmen in the ruins. John Faevalle was taken out dead; Matthew Voswell and Joseph Vogle died within a few minutes after reaching the hospital; Joseph Mackowitz and George Radey were seriously hurt, and another man employed on the building is missing.

The Election in Idaho.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Oct. 1.—The state election took place yesterday. The returns in the office of the Republican state committee from various precincts show that the Republicans have a majority of nearly 2,000 in the state. Shoup's majority will reach 2,500. The Republicans will have, on all extremely conservative estimates, thirty members of the legislature, and the Democrats nineteen, with five doubtful.

Congressman Lawler for Sheriff.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The Democratic county convention yesterday afternoon nominated Congressman Frank Lawler for sheriff. Other nominees are as follows: For treasurer, Charles Kern; county clerk, Carl Harting; county superintendent of schools, Mrs. M. A. Mulligan; probate judge, James H. Ward; county judge, Frank Seales; judge superior court, G. H. Kuttelle and W. E. Hughes.

Took Over Five Thousand Ballots.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Hon. Josiah Patterson was nominated by the Tenth Democratic congressional convention yesterday on the 5,059th ballot. Up to this ballot two other candidates had held the field equally, when they were prevailed upon to withdraw, and at the suggestion of Patterson's name, his nomination was made unanimous. The convention had been in session about a month.

Confirmed by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The senate in secret session Saturday confirmed the following nominations: Envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary, E. Bard Grubb, of New Jersey, to Spain; Edwin H. Conger, of Iowa, to Brazil.

By material disease, the human machinery cannot half perform its office. Digestion, secretion, excretion are disordered, the blood becomes watery, the nerves feeble, the countenance ghastly, sleep disturbed and appetite capricious. Terrible is this disease, and its consequence. There is, however, a known antidote to the miasmatic poison, and a certain safeguard against it. In malarious regions of our South and West, in South America, Guatemala and on the Isthmus of Panama, as well as in transmarine countries where the scourge exists, the inimitable preventive and remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has, during the last thirty-five years been constantly widening the area of its usefulness, and demonstrating its sovereign value. Liver complaint, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney trouble, rheumatism and debility are all remedied by it.

E. W. Allen, auditor of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, located at Marquette, has resigned.

Worth Its Weight in gold.

If a price can be placed on pain, "Mother's Friend" is worth its weight in gold as an alleviator. My wife suffered more in ten minutes with either of her other two children than she did altogether with her last, having previously used four bottles of "Mother's Friend." It is a blessing to any one expecting to become a mother, says a customer of mine.
