OWOSSO, MICH., DECEMBER 30, 1892

Grand Rapids Eagle: Suppose it could be shown that Mr. Luce was opposed to the re-nomination of Senator Chandler by the legislative caucus of 1875 would that prove his disloyalty to the republican party? And even suppose it an admitted fact—though the charge never had any truth in it—that Mr. Luce antagonized the re-election of the senator after he was fairly nominated, it can hardly be supposed that the most active advocates of Mr. Stockbridge in this city would attempt to make use of it as proof of disloyal'y. Whatever influence such a p'ea, if substantiated, might properly exert with republicans true and faithful to the cause, it is quite unavailable in this case.

The Lowell Journal believes that Hon. Cyrus G. Luce should be the next senator from Michigan, and among other reasons for that beilef cites these: "Of course it has no bearing on the case in hand, for Cyrus G. Luce should be elected to the United States senate on his own merits, but there has never been a farmer United State senator from Michigan, and only five times have farmers r presented this state in the councils of the nation. In view of the fact that the republican majorities come from the rural sections, would it not be a good idea to give them the representation? No one yet has said, or even thought that ex-Governor Luce wouldn't make as efficient and capable a representative as his contest-ant, and the people want him. He is one of them.

Rheumatism knocked higher than a kite. Mr. J. N. Bucher, Mmeral Spring, Ohio, deposes and says: "I have used Saivation Oil for rheumatism, and in one or two applications knocked it higher than a kite."

A Pleasant Wedding.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Mitchell, of Pittsburg, Dec. 22, was the scene of a pleasant event. The occasion being the marriage of their daughter Lena, to Mr. Charles Sager, of Bennington. The bride and groom are numbered among our best known and most popular young people, and have resided from childhood among us. At 12 o'clock the guests had assembled and the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. A. G. Wright, of Bennington. Congratulations, social conversation, and an elegant repast followed the ceremony. At two o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Sager took their carriage and were driven to Owosso where they took the train for Big Rapids to spend the holidays with friends of the groom. The presents were both numerous and cost-ly. There host of friends extend best wishes for a married career of unalloyed happiness and prosperity.

How It Ended.

The long and tedious suit brought by Dr. Stephens against Mr. and Mrs. Parm-ely for the possession of his child is ended, the doctor getting his son. The most important feature was the plea for Dr. Stephens made by Attorney Miner. He explained how the respondents had scoured the country, how they had followed Dr. Stephens in his travels, east, west, north and south; how they had followed him from his cradle to the present time for some evidence against him, and had failed. He showed that Dr. Stevens had built up his dental practice by hard in-dustrious work, and that if he had been a man of bad habits and immoral character he would not have worked for the best people of Owosso and gained a practice of four thousand dollars per year, and one which is not surpassed by any in this part of the state. He scored the idle gossip-ers and showed how they, by their foul and showed now they, by their four mouths, could injure the most innocent, and how they in this case had done Dr. Stephens a vast injury. This last point was confirmed by Judge Person, who in his fine talk said in regard to the suspicions that had been cast around Dr. Stephens in connection with the death of phens in connection with the death of his former wife, was wrong; that nothing had been shown against Dr. Stephens had been shown agninst Dr. Stephens that would give rise to a suspicion, and related a sad incident of his own friend, identically the same except one occurred in the night and the other in the day. Dr. Stephens not only got possession of his son, but was able to obtain an apology of Mrs. Parmely for the insinuations which she had made, bringing about a friendly feeling between them and relieving the dector of an unpatural and enoring the doctor of an unnatural and enormous burden. The child is allowed to visit its grandparents at all reasonable times, and Dr. Stephens is once more hap-py at home and in his office.
