RIBELIN, STONE & WALKER

Kidnapping Near Lawton.

Buell, the little three year old son of Mrs. Arthur Nesbitt, was kidnapped from her temporary home two miles south of Lawton about 5 o'clock Thursday evening of last week. Mrs. Nesbitt had secured a divorce from her husband in New Mexico and came to Lawton August 17. Her husband soon followed and was the one guilty of the kidnapping. He secured the services of E. N. Andrews of Lawton to drive a car for him past the farm where he picked up the child and they went west and south into Texas. Andrews says Nesbitt was going to take the child back to its grandmother at Albuquerque, N. M.

E. N. Andrews was arrested in Lawton Saturday on a charge of kidnapping and Arthur Nesbit was arrested Monday at Albuquerque, N. M., on the same charge. Nesbitt is fighting requisition papers to be brought here.

Farm Sold.

Monday a deal was closed wherein H. L. Barrett of Ponca City sold his farm one half mile west of Elgin to Robert E. Whalen of Greeley Center, Neb., possession to be given Jan. 1, 1914. This is the farm occupied by T. Schoneboom and joins T. P. Fenton on the west.

Mr. Whalen and Mr. Fenton were old neighbors in Nebraska, living on adjoining farms, and this sale was made through Mr. Fenton. Along in the summer he wanted to return to Nebraska but after his wife returned from a visit up there and described their crops, he decided Oklahoma was good enough for him and to recommend to his friends.

A Runaway.

About four o'clock Sunday afternoon the black horse of R. M. Young took a little run from the rear end of the Weber store building north to the livery barn. Seeing he could not hold him Mr. Young jumped out of the buggy near telephone office and let him go. He went along the south side of the residence south of the livery barn and tore down the porch; went in the south door of the livery barn where he left the buggy and went out the west door. Not much damage was done to the buggy and harness.

New Firm In Elgin.

The first of this week a deal was closed in which R. M. Young and E. R. Wolcott purchased the stock of goods and fixtures of J. P. Kennemur at cost and carriage. Invoicing was commenced at once and the new proprietors are now in full swing under the firm name of Young & Wolcott.

Mr. Kennemur has been engaged in the mercantile business here for about three years and during that time has made a large number of friends by his courteous treatment and square dealing. He expects to take a rest for two or three months and then go into some kind of business in a larger place.

The members of the new firm are not strangers here. Mr. Young has been connected with the Weber Hardware Co. for about one year and started to handling the farmer's cream which has been a great benefit to Elgin. Mr. Wolcott has lived here for several years and is known as a pusher in everything he goes at.

These two young men conducted a stand here the 4th of July and if they sell goods all the time like they did that day, they will set the fastest pace ever seen in Elgin.

McPherson Bound Over.

At the preliminary hearing in Justice Harper's court at Lawton last Friday, E. McPherson was bound over to the district court which meets in November on a charge of forging the name of J. H. Crawford to a note for $324.

His bond on this charge was fixed at $500 and the evidence on this charge was taken as sufficient evidence on the other charge of selling forged paper, the bond on the second charge being fixed at $300, a total of $800.

Five witnesses were placed on the stand by the prosecution but Mr. McPherson did not go on the stand in his own defense.

H. P. Wettengel testified as to the note in question being in the assets of the Bank of Elgin and J. H. Crawford testified that he had never signed the note or any note of that amount.

Miss Christine Humphries testified as to the writing of E. McPherson in the discount register in entering the name of J. H. Crawford and that the endorsements of three names, A. L. McPherson, O. A. McPherson and E. McPherson, on the back of said note were all in the hand writing of E. McPherson.

Chas. Crabtree, assistant cashier of the City National Bank and Guy C. Robertson, cashier of the First National Bank at Lawton, both testified that the writing of the signature on the note in question was not the writing of J. H. Crawford, that it was the same handwriting as that in the discount register and that on the back of the note.

On the same day H. S. Green, went before Justice Harper and swore out two warrants for Mr. McPherson, one for forging a note and the other for offering the note for sale. The amount of the bond on these two charges has not been learned.
