

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Just Once! Try "Dodson's Liver Tone" When Bilious, Constipated, Headachy—Don't Lose a Day's Work.

Live up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel, because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into your bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Listen to me! If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning, because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and cannot salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.

Evening Frocks Have Novelty

Silhouette is Made a Feature of the Latest Edict of Fashion Leaders.

"VAMPIRE" EFFECT IS SEEN

Changes in Costumes Which Are to Be Considered "The Thing" Have Been Many and Varied—Reflects a Serious Part of the New Styles.

Whatever we may do about house and street frocks, it looks as though the new silhouette for the evening will struggle itself into first place. It is neither medieval nor first empire, but it has enough of both in it to be entirely lovely.

Anything that makes the figure bulge at any part of its length is wrong. Probably, this is a good summary of the truth to be remembered by the woman who goes shopping.

The large majority of the evening gowns would make one believe that the popularity of Theda Bara in the moving pictures had revived the vampire in social life. It has been quite some time since fashion allowed women to have clinging clothes that swirled around the ankles, outlined the hips, neglected to cover the upper part of do first-class duty this winter, unless one is skillful at alteration.

This argument may seem to prove unwise according to the shop windows and the gowns that hang in glass cases in dressmaking places. There are skirts that are bunched at the waist and there are others that have two frills standing out from waist to hem, but these are not in leonine era, and not direct from Caesar.

Now, against all these incoming fashions, how does a short, ruffled tulle gown, bunched on the hips, appear? If you can soften the lining, fluff the hips and add a train of velvet or satin pendant from the waistline at the back, you may be able to bring this frivolous frock into the stately silhouette; but as the season progresses, gowns will grow longer and narrower, and the straws show that the wind blows in this direction.

French Street Suit.

As long ago as last July, those who watch straws, rather than snap windows, insisted upon the fact that even street suits should maintain a straight silhouette. Every woman in France, smart and otherwise, had removed all manner of stiffening from her skirts as early as July and allowed the fullness to fall into the figure as softly as muslin, and yet the American dressmakers and tailors insisted upon fluffing the tailor-made skirts out from the waistline and hips and putting into them an unnecessary amount of fullness.

Manufacturers continued to make stiffened petticoats, and those who were interested in crinolines advanced them weekly as an aid to the new styles. Now, who wants a petticoat or a bit of crinoline? The latter is tabooed and the former is discarded or ignored.

The manufacturers in France have seen to it that the new fabrics carry out the new silhouette. They are not able to flare. They are too soft. They are woven so that they will reveal, rather than conceal, the lines of the figure. The skirts are not narrow, but they are not unusually full, and they hang limp from the waist.

The women of France also lengthened their skirts on the first of July and this is a sure forerunner of what the body and were followed by obedient trains that crawled in a serpentine manner to give emphasis to the vampire effect. And in addition to this silhouette, there are sequins and glittering scales of red, yellow, blue and black that are used to cover gowns, intricate, swirling designs of metal thread, hems heavily weighted by gorgeous jewel work and girdles made of sinuous, glittering metals that have no substance and body, but only color and price. There are waving, floating draperies that reach to the fingertips instead of sleeves. There are gorgeous jewels worn with these gowns, gems that are seductive and mysterious and full of warm tones.

For two years we have exposed ourselves below the knees, and this season we expose ourselves above the waist and cover the legs. It is never a question of modesty with fashion; it is a question of which part of the body shall be uncovered, and there was a brief period during last winter when the scarcity of material above and below the waistline arrived at such a proportion that one was shocked into wondering what would be eliminated further. There were gowns worn by young girls in public which reminded one of the remark made by a witty French woman, who said that if her skirts were made by Callot and her bodices by Poiret, her costume would consist of a girle.

Last Season's Fashions Dead. If a woman is able to struggle through the next few months without buying new clothes and still remain sufficiently in fashion, she will have to piece all her ruffles on her street clothes. There are few evening gowns on this continent that will be able to we will do by Thanksgiving. There is not any strong evidence so far that women have ripped out the hems of their skirts, but in a few weeks the skirt that we wore last winter will look absurdly short and there will be an uncomfortable feeling that will demand the addition of a band of velvet or fur. If the hem is not wide enough to be used to lengthen it.

The season has been seething for three weeks, and the experts are able now to divide all the new French gowns into classes.

JEWELS MUST SUIT GOWNS

"Choose your new jewels to suit your new fall gowns." The edict reads, "or," it adds to the contrary, "choose your new fall gowns to harmonize with your cherished pendants, bracelets, rings and brooches." Anyway, it means, be sure not to forget that your jewels are intended to be worn with your new gowns, and when you think of one also remember the other.

It may seem odd at first to say, "I must have new jewels to wear with that Oriental-looking affair," or "My set of amethysts never will blend with that silk of green-blue sheen, so I will choose a purple-blue shade instead." But it becomes second nature after a while, and you will no more think of selecting your jewels in a haphazard, happy-go-lucky manner than you would think of being careless about the color or fit of your socks and slippers or the style and shape of your hat.

You are to have a dozen glorious creations for your evening needs this coming fall or only a single simple frock to meet all obligations, the rule holds and the principle is the same; for one little pendant has just as much right to be appropriate as have a whole set of fine jewels.

A dainty little maid with an eye for the future and a love of the artistic fitness of things has chosen her birthday jewelry to match her next winter's dance frock. "For," she said, "I have determined on pink for my 'best' this autumn, and why should I be forced to give thanks for turquoise or lapis when coral is what I want and really need? Yes, pink coral is my choice, and I shall have it mounted in a pretty silver necklace." Wise she was, and so you will be, if when you decide upon your fall wardrobe, you give a little time and thought to your jewels.—Jeweler's Weekly.

Cardul Wins Suit.

After a trial in the United States District Court of Chicago, before Judge Carpenter and a federal jury, the jury found the American Medical Association guilty of libeling Cardul, the woman's tonic, which they had denounced as a "nostrum."

This is a vindication of the medicine and a proof that it has merit, which was recognized by a jury after a trial of three months, one of the longest civil cases on record.

Many doctors and chemists testified on both sides and the evidence totaled nearly four million words.
