THE ENTERING WEDGE.

From present indications the Portland Oregonian and the old machine politicians of the Republican party of Oregon will hold a convention, under the name of an "assembly," next year to try and decide upon the candidates they will support for state and congressional offices.

It will be a fatuous proceeding as far as party good is concerned. The Oregonian has already served notice it is not a Republican newspaper; therefore it has no business in a convention or assembly of that party.

The old gangsters who are foremost in this so-called "assembly" business are, most of them, the same gang that helped to defeat Cake for senator. They are the rule or ruin fellows and any party is better off with them out of it.

It doesn't take very much perspicacity to see this "assembly," fathomed and promoted by enemies of the direct primary, is but an entering wedge by which it is hoped to split the supporters of people rule and nullify the primary by indirect means, knowing they could not overthrow it by open battle.

Pearly's "proof" that Dr. Cook did not reach the North Pole is no proof at all. It would not be even admissible evidence in a court. Pearly has proved himself of a low, envious disposition and one who would stoop to anything in his own interest, not caring whether the truth was brought out or not.

Watch out! The Indians, the goosebones and other signs and wonders are predicting a long, hard winter. Let it come. This county is well fixed for even one of the "old-fashioned" variety.

BANK GUARANTY WINS.

From the Baker City Democrat. It seems pretty evident now that those who opposed the bank deposits guaranty plan which was a part of the Democratic platform in the last national campaign will have to hunt up new arguments with which to combat that policy should it ever become an issue in the future.

Up to within the last week or so they cited that while the scheme would no doubt work all right in the case of small failures, the failure of the larger banking institutions in a state which had adopted that policy would "show it up as a delusion and a snare."

But a $3,000,000 failure in Oklahoma last week demonstrates that the new law does hold water. No sooner was insolvency discovered than the state bank examiner took charge and quietly began to pay out the depositors in full.

There was no excitement, no riots, no worry, no suffering, no record of suicide.

The bank examiner just took charge and paid off the depositors as they presented themselves.

Of course that wasn't satisfactory to everybody. There were some people who objected to the plan merely because it was working so well. So these people got out a federal injunction restraining the state official from complying with the state law.

It happened that there was a loophole in the injunction and that a public servant found it and continued his work until every creditor was satisfied.

Of course the carping critics will not admit that the scheme is a success, not yet.

"Wait till a lot of the banks fail," they say.

As a matter of fact the conditions—even should the failure of a lot of banks at the same time, a coincidence that can hardly be considered as a logical contingency—the condition of the depositors would not be any worse than with no guaranty at all.

But what's the use of considering such a fatuous speculation? It is not about as useful as that old argument about the number of angels who could stand on the point of a needle, by which Duns Scotus gave us the legacy of his name as a "padding" to our language.

BOOSTER PLEDGE.

On my word and honor, I hereby declare that as long as I am a resident of this community, it will be my constant aim to boost all the time and every time. I will do what I can for any public work that has the good of the community as its object. I will submit and abide by majority rule and will not knock and sow my head off if things are not done my way. I will take no radical or extreme position on any question before the people and will have due respect for the opinions of my friends and neighbors when their opinions are opposed to mine. I will always try to say something good about my town and my people, or I'll keep my "bazoo" shut, and "cut it out" like a man. I realize that if this community is good enough to live in and make money, it is the proper place to spend my money in, especially when I am patronizing legitimate industries. I will do all within my power to foster, promote, build up and support every legitimate industry or enterprise in my home town.—Optimist.

A good pledge for any community to stand by; and just now, as Aso is in soon to vote on the sale of bonds, looking to the taking on of a water system in this city, it might not be a bad idea for our people to go to memorizing this booster pledge.—Sentinel.

Monmouth has found the way to keep a town on the move upward. That is home manufacturing. Cannery, flour mill, creamery and room for more. They make demand for labor and labor is what makes towns out and country acres valuable.

According to the records of the Government Forestry Service and the State Board of Forestry, Oregon, has been remarkably fortunate this summer in escaping the usual heavy toll taken by forest fires. The season has been marked by less destruction of timber than in the past decade. Fires this year have been few and widely separated while losses have been small. This is thought
