The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."
We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever known.
It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

Petition for Change of Road.

The petition for changing the route of Aunt Flat road through the Bookout place north of Enterprise was very largely signed this week. The new route will shorten the road over a mile and besides do away with several heavy grades. The present road lies over hills where the grades reach as high as 11 per cent, while no grade on the proposed route will be over 3 per cent. It is supposed Mr. Bookout will vigorously oppose the changing of the road as the new route cuts through his farm.
