ELECTRICITY

FOR LIGHTING

Is only expensive to people who are wasteful and careless. To you who are naturally careful, it does not come high.

It is economical because it can be quickly turned off when not needed. With gas or kerosene there is the temptation to let light burn when not needed to save bother of lighting and adjusting. In some homes the electric light bills amount to only one or two dollars per month. You can probably get some kind of artificial light for less money than electric light, but does it save you anything when it limits opportunities for work and recreation—ruins your eyesight—smokes your walls—mars decorations and increases household work. You could probably save a dollar tomorrow by going without your meals but it wouldn't be economy. It is not so much what you save, but how you save that counts.

WILLAMETTE VALLEY CO. RATES—Residence on meters, per Kilowatt 15c; Residence, flat per month, 15c per 50c. RATES FOR BUSINESS HOUSES—25c per drop and 5c per Kilowatt up to 10 drops; over 17 1/2c per drop and 6c per Kilowatt. A drop figure 15c or less. For power rates apply at the office. We are always ready to explain the "ins and outs" of the lighting proposition to you, call on us or phone to us, we are never to busy to talk business.

Trusses That Fit

If you are ruptured the Smithsonian is the only truss for you to use. One of our customers, after trying every truss for years with no satisfaction, wore a Smithsonian about two years and was entirely cured of his rupture. Another customer a Gentleman Eighty years old had for years suffered torture from wearing trusses that did no good, we fitted him with a Smithsonian truss and today he is going about his usual vocation with ease and comfort.

Did you ever know of any other truss equally as good?
No matter how long standing your rupture, we can certainly do you good and in most cases effect an entire cure.

COUNTRY IS LOSER

Higher Wages in Cities Attract Trained Teachers.

The absolute need of a state system of training teachers is shown by the experience of the local school board. The Pendleton teachers who are being called to more responsible and more remunerative fields of labor are the ones with normal school training and whose success has proved the worth of such training. As the supply of normal trained teachers in the state is limited, and as some of these are being drafted into other states, it is evident that the schools in some sections of Oregon must suffer. These teachers must be recruited from the ranks of those who have not been especially trained for the work in hand. Fortunately for Pendleton the loss will not be felt so keenly here, at least for some time to come, as it will be in the small towns and country districts. Being able to pay large salaries, the local school board has been able to choose from the best teachers available in eastern Oregon. It is vacillating, indeed, in the present instance, one of those recently elected comes from the Willamette valley, while another comes from Chicago.

Thus while Seattle, Portland and Spokane frequently call upon Pendleton for the best of her teachers, Pendleton in turn calls upon the best that are to be found in the small towns and country districts, with the result that the direct loss is passed on to the latter. The small towns and country districts are therefore the ones which will be compelled to put up with non-normal teachers.

In discussing the proposition this morning, City Superintendent Landers declared that the need of a system of state normal schools is unquestionable. He was of the opinion that the state's educational standard will suffer unless some provision is made for the training of teachers at state expense.—East Oregonian.

JUDGE NOT IN RACE

Henry L. Benson Will Not Seek Nomination for Governor.

"I am not a candidate for the republican nomination for governor of this state and I will not be," said Judge Henry L. Benson, of Klamath when shown an article in the Oregonian which stated that he would be a candidate at the coming primaries. Continuing, Mr. Benson said: "The statement that my brother's health is such that he will have to drop out of politics is without foundation. He is now under treatment for an affection of the skin on his face, but this is yielding to the treatment of his physicians, and I expect that very shortly he will be as well as ever. My brother, who is now acting governor of this state, will be a candidate again for the place of secretary of state, and will remain a candidate. I have no idea how this story got started in Portland, and can say positively that it is nothing, absolutely nothing, to the report that I will be a candidate."

OUR MARKET LETTER

Receipts and Sales at Portland Union Stock Yards.

PORTLAND, OR., June 11—Receipts at this market for the week ending today were: Cattle, 2654; calves, 295; hogs, 1259; sheep, 6153; horses and mules, 47.

The cattle market for the week has been steady to strong, with the recovery of from 15c to 25c from the break of last week. The sheep market has been strong to higher, while the hog market assumed a steady position after the decline of the first part of the week. The demand for cattle and sheep has been brisk.

Happenings of interest to the livestock trade has been the retirement of William Shepherd, a long-time cattle buyer at Portland, to look after his own interests. The establishment of a horse and mule market is also worthy of note, and horse and mule raisers of the Pacific Northwest can take advantage of this opportunity of disposing of their surplus draft animals.

Representative sales have been as follows: Steers, $5.55 to $5.90; cows, $4.25 to $5; calves, $5 to $6.50; hogs, $9.25 to $9.70; lambs, $4.50; sheep, $4.50 to $4.75.

MONUMENT UNVEILED

Monmouth Woodmen Honor Memory of Dead Neighbor.

With appropriate ceremony the monument erected at the grave in commemoration of the late H. D. Whitman, by the Woodmen of the World, was unveiled last Sunday by the members of Camp No. 43.

Mr. Whitman was a member of Monmouth camp for a number of years, having filled the chair as Counsel Commander for several terms, and was captain of the degree team which was successfully drilled, and which won several handsome prizes in the county and was one of the best drilled teams of the state, having given exhibition drills at Portland and other places. He took a great interest in Woodcraft, and his work still lives and keeps him in remembrance while he reposes in the sleep called death.—Monmouth Herald.

Clearing High School Site.

The work of moving the James Howe residence from the lot to be occupied by the new High School building is progressing rapidly. The house will be moved by its new owner, Hon. M. M. Smith, to the lot just north of the I. D. Smith property below the hill. The moving will prove a difficult task, as the truss will have to be built for the house to rest upon. The building will then be lowered by degrees until it rests upon the new foundation. Spectacularly heavy timbers are being used by the contractor in moving the heavy structure.

MANY ATTEND PICNIC

RICKREALL ARTISANS ENTERTAIN THREE THOUSAND GUESTS.

Heavy Showers Interfere With Morning Program, But Sun Shines Brightly in Afternoon.

The Artisan picnic held at Rickreall, Saturday, came near resulting in failure because of the heavy downpour of rain, which began late Friday evening and continued without ceasing until Saturday noon. In the early afternoon, however, the sun broke through the clouds, and while the ground was a little too damp for comfort, ideal outing weather made it possible for the good people of our neighbor town to carry out the greater part of the excellent program prepared for the entertainment of visitors.

Extensive preparations had been made by the Artisans to make the affair successful, and they had every reason to believe that it would be the best picnic of the year in Polk County. Even with the unfavorable weather prevailing, the program was one of the best ever enjoyed by a public gathering in the county. The greatest disappointment of the day was in the attendance. The crowd was estimated at from 2500 to 3000 people, whereas it is certain that no less than 5000 people would have been present had the usual sunny June weather continued through the week.

Despite the dark and gloomy morning, many people took the optimistic view of the situation, and equipped with overcoats and umbrellas in true Oregon style, gathered in the new park on the bank of the LaCreole River below town to await whatever was to occur. The program which was to have been given was delayed, and the picnicers retired to the only sheltered place of amusement on the grounds, the merry-go-round, and spent their time and money, while the rain poured in torrents on the outdoors. Between showers the Dallas band gave concerts, and in this way the time was passed until noon. At the approach of the dinner hour, the people spread their noisy table cloths on the wet grass and enjoyed their luncheon in true picnic style.

Good Weather in Afternoon.

Soon after the noon hour, the clouds began rolling away toward the Cascade mountains and the sun came out bright and warm. A band concert drew the large crowd to the speaker's stand and the program which had been scheduled for the morning was begun. Following the band selection, the large audience arose and listened to the singing of "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner" in a most inspiring manner.

Arthur Allen, President of the Day and one of the most effective workers for the success of the picnic, delivered the address of welcome. In a pleasing manner he told of the purpose of the picnic and traced the growth and development of the Artisan lodge from its humble beginning to the proud position it occupies in the fraternal world today. Mr. Allen's excellent address follows:

Words of Welcome.

"Fellow Artisans, ladies and gentlemen—It is with pleasure that we members of the United Artisans and citizens of Rickreall welcome your gathering with us today on these grounds and in this beautiful grove of trees, many of the tallest of which were planted where they are now growing by one of Oregon's brave heroes of the past—Colonel J. W. Nesmith—a man much loved and highly honored in his day; a man who worked hard and faithfully for the good of our grand old State, and whose name shall ever be written upon the pages of Oregon history. He is now sleeping just there beneath the turf on the banks of this quiet river.

"Our chief purpose in giving this picnic is to attract you from your business cares and to afford you a day of recreation and pleasure, and to promote the interest of the Order of United Artisans—one of the strongest fraternal orders in the land today. Being organized, as it was, 15 years ago in the City of Portland, it is the product of Francis I. and C. L. McKenna, two prominent business men of Oregon's metropolitan center.

"It is an order run on safe and conservative business lines, and has always had at its head some of the shrewdest business men to be found on the Pacific Coast, among whom we may mention Judge Ballinger, now Secretary of the Interior of our National Government.

"The order was started in the midst of hard times, the first meeting being held November 1, 1894, and for several years after that date the American people experienced the hardest times known since the foundation of the Government. But today, after years of distress, it has over $500,000 of assets. It has paid out over three-quarters of a million dollars to the beneficiaries of deceased members. It has the largest reserve fund per capita of any order in the United States, and has lodges all over the Pacific Coast and a few in the Eastern States.

"Since time immemorial, it has been the custom of the higher classes of societies and fraternal orders to assemble with their hosts and the invited public for a day of recreation and pleasure on some well-selected ground; on the banks of some flowing stream or river, or in some park adorned by the beauties of nature and placed in a high state of perfection by the hand of man. In this day and age, we should not be prone to neglect this duty we owe to ourselves and to our fellow citizens, for such gatherings as this inspire us to higher citizenship. The true the course of the business world seem to involve themselves more stringently upon us as time rolls on, but by comparing the statistics of today with those taken from time to time in the days of our forefathers, we find we are living in a day of far greater prosperity than they.

"Since the beginning of time, a great many men in all vocations of life have failed of success, and a great many more shall fall clear on down to the end of the world. Corporations have failed and become bankrupt; fraternal organizations have failed; nations have failed, have rebelled, and have been

ALL HOMES CAN HELP

PROMINENT OREGON EDUCATOR HAS NEW PLAN.

Professor Alderman Would Give Pupils Credit in School for Work Done at Home.

Here's hoping that the Weather Man may be more considerate in his treatment of the Artisans of Rickreall on the occasion of their annual picnic next year.

Professor Alderman would give pupils credit in school for work done at home.

EUGENE, Or., June 11—(To the Editor)—That civilization is founded on the home, all will agree. The school should be a real helper of the home. How can it help the home? How can it help the child? How can it help the child to do his home duties, so that they will be efficient and joyful home helpers? One way is for the school to take into account home industrial work and honor it. It is my conviction, based upon careful and continuous observation, that the school can greatly increase the interest of the child by making it a subject of consideration at school. A teacher talked of sewing, and the girls sewed. She talked of ironing, and they wanted to learn to iron neatly. She talked of working table, tools, and both girls and boys made bird-houses, kites, and other things of interest. A school garden was planned in a city, and one of the boys was employed to plow the land. Seventy-five children were watching for him to come with the team. At last he came driving around the corner. He had managed a team. He drove into the lot, and a hundred and fifty eyes looked with admiration at the boy who could unhitch from the sled and hitch on to the plow, and then as he "man fashion"—lines over one shoulder and under one arm—drove the big team around the field, all could feel the children's admiration for the boy who could do something worth while. I have seen a girl who could make good bread or set a table nicely, get the real admiration of her schoolmates.

The school can help make better home builders. It can help by industrial work done in the school, but of that is already receiving consideration by the press and in a few schools, I shall not in this short article treat of it.

Beautiful Musical Numbers.

At the close of Mr. Allen's address, John Orr, Rickreall, favored the audience with a vocal solo. Mr. Orr's splendid voice was never heard to better advantage, and his song is voted one of the very best numbers on the day's program.

Miss Penn, of Salem, read a humorous selection and was heartily applauded. Her selection was quoted by Miss Swartz, of Salem, and following this number Ivan Martin, also of Salem, delivered a burlesque political speech in which he imitated a German to perfection. Miss Hall Morrison, one of Polk County's sweetest singers, gave the next number. The Willamette University male quartet sang a selection and received a double encore.

Talks for Better Government.

Hon. C. N. McArthur, private secretary to Governor Benson, and a leading Polk County citizen, gave the address of the day. He delivered an interesting and enthusiastic address, speaking of political and industrial conditions in America today and of the spirit of graft which is seeking to corrupt the country. In eloquent words, he urged all citizens to take a broader view of the situation and to study conditions as they exist, to the end that better and purer government may result. Mr. McArthur held the rap of the attention of his hearers for the brief time he occupied the platform, and after the conclusion of his address was roundly applauded by his old-time neighbors and friends.

The Willamette Quartet then gave several humorous musical numbers. A short, impromptu address by Ralph Allen and music by the band closed the musical and literary program, and the crowd adjourned to the ball ground near by to witness a game between the Dallas College team and a picked nine from Salem.

Ten-Inning Game.

The ball game had not progressed far until the wisdom of the picnic management in selecting these two teams to furnish a red-hot contest became apparent. First one team would lead, and then the other, and it was not until the last half of the tenth inning that the contest was decided, Dallas winning out by the close score of 10 to 9.

The college boys started the scoring in the first inning and made three runs before their opponents had answered one. Dallas, however, was not destined to remain long in the lead, for Salem hit a batting cap later in the game and scored five runs. Dallas next secured two runs, leaving the score 9 to 3 at the close of the ninth inning.

In the tenth inning, with two men on base, Ray Boyden drove out a hot liner that brought in the winning run for the Dallas team.

Minor Sports End Program.

The balloon ascension proved a disappointment to the large crowd which remained on the grounds on 8 o'clock in the evening. The balloon went up, but the aeronaut failed to accompany it. The huge hot-air bag had no sooner left the ground than the man in the parachute, for some reason best known to himself, cut himself loose on base. Ray Boyden, the pilot, was not destined to remain long in the lead, for Salem hit a batting cap later in the game and scored five runs. Dallas next secured two runs, leaving the score 9 to 3 at the close of the ninth inning.

In the tenth inning, with two men on base, Ray Boyden drove out a hot liner that brought in the winning run for the Dallas team.

Credit for Work at Home.

But one says, "How can it be brought about? How can the school give credit for industrial work at home?" This may be accomplished by printed slips asking the homes to take account of the work that the child does at home under the instruction of the home, and explaining that credit will be given this work on the school record. These slips must be prepared for children according to age so that the child will not be asked to do too much, for it must be clearly recognized that children must have time for real play. The required tasks must not be too arduous, yet they must be real tasks. They must not be tasks that will put extra work on parents except in the matter of instruction and observation. They may well call for the care of animals, and should include work on the both boys and girls. Credit in school for home industrial work (with the parents consent) should count as much as any one study in school.

To add interest to the work, exhibitions should be given at stated times so that all may learn from each other and the best be the model for all. The School Fairs in Yamhill, Polk, Benton, Lake, Wasco and Crook Counties, together with the school and home industrial work done at Eugene, have convinced me most thoroughly that these plans are practicable, and that school work and home work, school play and home play, and love for parents and respect for teachers and fellow-pupils can best be fostered by a more complete cooperation between school and home, so that the whole child is taken into account at all times.

L. R. ALDERMAN.

Better Luck Next Year.

Although the condition of the weather on Saturday was anything but favorable, the Artisans deserve great credit for making their picnic so successful as it was. The afternoon program was enjoyed by all, and the forenoon, although wet and disagreeable, was looked upon as a joke rather than as a misfortune.

The Artisan who worked so hard and faithfully in preparation for the affair should be given great praise. The program they had arranged showed the expenditure of a great amount of time and money, and they

POPULAR COUPLE WED

Miss Inez Allen Becomes Bride of Mr. Ernest Nelson.

The wedding was a quiet home affair. Mr. Ernest Nelson and Miss Inez Allen were married at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Allen, near Oak Grove. The Rev. David M. Metzger, of Dallas, was the officiating clergyman.

The wedding was a quiet home affair, no one but the members of the family and the Reverend and Mrs. Metzger being present to witness the happy ceremony. The bride was prettily dressed in a gray traveling suit. The parlor where the ceremony was performed was daintily decorated with roses.

In the dining room, the decorations were elaborate, green ribbons and white lilies forming the color scheme. From a great bouquet of white lilies in the center of the table, the most beautiful flowers were banked in profusion all about to both ends of the festal board. A beautiful wedding dinner had been prepared, and a happy hour was spent at table, after which the young couple left on the afternoon train for Oswego, where they will visit a few days with Mr. Nelson's parents.

Mr. Nelson is a civil engineer and is employed by the company in the construction of the railroad between Portland and Tillamook. His bride is a daughter of one of Polk County's prominent pioneer families, and is an amiable and accomplished young woman. Since her graduation from Dallas College in 1904, she has taught school with marked success. It was while teaching in Bay City last winter that she became acquainted with the young man who was to become her life companion.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will be at home to their friends at Nehalem, Oregon, after June 20.

MRS. FERGUSON DEAD

Daughter of Prominent Polk County Family Passes in Portland.

Mrs. C. E. Ferguson, of Seattle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ground, of Monmouth, died yesterday of tuberculosis at Oak Grove Sanitarium, aged about 36 years.

At Mrs. Ferguson's bedside when the end came were her father and mother and Mrs. David Foulkes, of this city, a sister. Her other sisters—Mrs. Thomas E. Zieher, of Tacoma; Mrs. J. K. Johnson, of Independence, Oregon; and Mrs. M. A. Ford, of Portland—also had been with the stricken woman for several days prior to her death.

As Miss Blanche Ground, Mrs. Ferguson was known to a host of friends in Polk County, where she resided prior to her marriage.

She will be buried today at River-view, following funeral services which will be conducted by Dr. Hinson, of the First Baptist Church, at Finley's Chapel, at 10:30 a. m. The bereaved husband arrived in Portland only yesterday, having been on the road in Eastern Washington at the time of Mrs. Ferguson's death.—Saturday Oregonian.
