ASK ZAIMIS TO FORM NEW CABINET

Revolution May Follow Constantine's Determination to Dissolve Parliament in Opposition to Venizelos

London, Nov. 6.—King Constantine of Greece has risked precipitating a revolution.

Athens dispatches today brought word that the Hellenic ruler had determined to dissolve parliament rather than turn the governmental power back to former Premier Venizelos, and that he would ask Premier Zaimis, retiring leader, to retain control pending a general election.

Under the present conditions in Greece and the Balkans it will require at least two months, it is believed, to prepare for an election, and these will be two of the most vital months in Greece's history.

Premier Zaimis will attempt to reconstruct the cabinet with the same ministers who recently resigned, but in addition is expected to appoint two Venizelos supporters, in an effort to unite all factions. It is probable that Venizelos himself will be one of the two, if he will accept the post.

The king plans to satisfy the war party leaders in this manner, but at the same time to deprive them of any real power by keeping them in a hopeless minority in the cabinet. Even if the war party wins the coming election, which Venizelos is confident of doing, the plan makes it possible for King Constantine to gain at least two months time.

It is believed that he hopes that the crisis in the Balkans will have passed before the elections can be held, so that a pro-war victory would be too late to accomplish anything.

All the political indications in Greece since the European war began have shown that Venizelos has a strong hold upon the people of that country. When Venizelos, as premier, attempted several months ago to plunge Greece into the war on the side of the allies, the king took issue with him and forced his resignation from the premiership. A general election was held and Venizelos was returned to power. He demanded that Greece fulfill her treaty with Serbia and aid the Serbs against the Teutons and Bulgarians. Again he quarreled with the king and resigned.

M. Zaimis was appointed premier, but his ministry lasted only a short time, a vote of lack of confidence having overthrown his ministry only this week.

FUNSTON THINKS BORDER TROUBLE AT DOUGLAS ENDED

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 6.—Doctors Thigpen and Miller and Chauffeurs Wilson and Hyland, reported killed by a Carranzista shell at Agua Prieta, arrived at Naco, Ariz., today. They said they had been detained by Villa "as a matter of military expediency."

General Funston, accompanied by his aide, Major Hay, leaves Sunday morning for San Antonio. Funston considers the border trouble at Douglas ended. He expresses himself as satisfied with the outcome of the attack from the standpoint of Douglas citizens.

General Obregon arrived this morning and proceeded at once to Agua Prieta for a conference with General Calles.

POLITICAL WAR IS DECLARED BY BRYAN ON WILSON

(By United Press Leased Wire) Washington, Nov. 6.—What promises to develop into one of the greatest political battles in the modern history of the United States was fairly launched today.

With Wm. J. Bryan's open declaration of war on President Wilson's preparedness program, the issues between the Wilson and Bryan factions are now before the country. In less than a month congress will reconvene and then the struggle will be precipitated in earnest. The contest will be between principles and personalities will not enter into it. Both the president and former Secretary Bryan are determined to avoid even the appearance of a personal breach.

It is freely predicted that each leader will carry his campaign to the "country." The nation, through its representatives in congress, will decide. It must determine the lesson that must be learned from the war in Europe, whether it teaches that the military preparedness, such as the European countries have maintained, makes for peace or provokes war.

Some believe that the president will be forced to seek the support of some of the republicans to win out with his militarist program.

These persons profess to foresee a great non-partisan fight, where party lines will be forgotten and principles only be debated.

EIGHT MILES OF RAILS LAID ON ALASKAN RY.

(By United Press Leased Wire) Seattle, Nov. 6.—With eight miles of steel laid on the Alaska railway and 305 miles more of roadbed ready for the rails, Thomas Riggs, Jr., of the Alaska Railroad commission, is in Seattle today. He says the entire project can be completed in three years if the commission is allowed $9,000,000 annually. The roadbed now completed lies between Anchorage and Matanuska Junction.

BULGARIANS CAPTURE SERB WAR-TIME CAPITAL

Nish Has Fallen to the Teutonic Ally and It Is Expected That Way Will Soon Be Open for Progress of Germans and Bulgars to March on to Constantinople and Relieve the Beleaguered Turks

Berlin, via Sayville, Nov. 6.—Nish, Serbia's war-time capital has fallen before the three days' pounding of the Bulgarians.

Official announcement of this important victory today caused jubilation here and led to the belief that before long the Germans and Bulgarians will sweep triumphantly into Constantinople to the aid of their Turkish allies.

At the same time it was announced that the Germans had captured Varvarin. This leaves only 35 miles to complete the rail connection across Serbia, since the Bulgarians hold the line from Nish southeastward to the frontier.

Though possibly the Serbs are between Varvarin and Nish, they are probably trying valiantly to escape the closing jaws of the German-Bulgar trap. Rail communication direct from Germany to Constantinople is deemed only a matter of hours.

With this established, Germany will be in a position not only to aid the Turks but likewise to get raw materials such as she herself desires. The German left wing is in touch with the Bulgars near Krivivir. The Germans have captured Kraljevo, southeast of Cacak.

In the capture of Varvarin the Teutons took 3,000 prisoners.

Nish presumably had been evacuated before the invaders swept into it, as the official statement told of capturing only 350 prisoners there. The Serbian resistance has now practically collapsed. The Germans covered 15 miles in the last day en route to Varvarin, as compared with only a mile a day at the start of the campaign.

MANY GIRLS LOSE LIVES WHEN FIRE SWEEPS FACTORY

(By United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Nov. 6.—Thirteen persons are known to have perished this afternoon when an explosion wrecked the Diamond Candy factory in Brooklyn and flames swept to a box factory adjoining. The total may possibly reach over a score. Upwards of 35 were injured.

A big crowd witnessed the thrilling leaps of girls trapped in the upper floors of the four-story building. Every one leaping thus was injured.

Scenes of the Triangle Shirt Waist factory fire were repeated. Through rolling clouds of smoke and flames, piles either of bodies or merchandise were seen on the fire escapes. Firemen played several streams on them.

Walls of the six-story building were awaying as the flames died down, and firemen refused to enter. It is believed that many bodies were piled up when tenants of the upper floors were cut off from escape down stairways because of the flames below. The fire started on the second floor, occupied by the Essex Shirt factory.

CLAIM 100,000 BULGARS LOST IN SERBIAN DRIVE

(By United Press Leased Wire.) London, Nov. 6.—The casualties sustained by the Bulgarians in their drive against the Serbians total 100,000, according to estimates by the authorities at Nish.

The Serbs admit that they have lost heavily also, though they gave no figures.

The Nish officials allege that the Bulgarians, like the Teutons, are shooting non-combatants, excusing the action on the ground that the victims have fired on the Bulgarian troops.

TIGERS LOSE TO HARVARD 10 TO 6

Fast Game on the Princeton Field Gives Victory to the Crimson by a Narrow Margin Before 40,000 People

Princeton, Nov. 6.—Tibbott's educated toe was unequal to the task of beating Harvard this afternoon and the crimson downed the Princeton Tigers in their annual gridiron contest by a score of 10 to 6.

A touchdown and goal in the first period gave the Cambridge team a lead which Princeton was never able to overcome. For good measure, Eddie Mahan, the Harvard captain, booted a goal from placement in the second period.

The Tiger kicker, Tibbott, on whom Princeton had pinned her hopes of victory, made a valiant effort to wrest victory from defeat and succeeded in putting the ball over the bars twice for field goals. But his team mates were not strong enough in the offense to register a touchdown and Tibbott's gallant efforts went for naught.

Princeton went into the game a slight favorite in the betting, but was outplayed almost from the start of the game. The only touchdown was registered in the initial quarter, when Harvard got a Princeton punt on the Crimson 38 yard line. A beautiful forward pass, Mahan to Hart, netted 30 yards and then Mahan slipped around the Tiger end for 10 yards more. On the next play King received the ball and the Harvard linemen opened up a hot attack through which King plunged for 30 yards and a touchdown.

Mahan easily out-punted Driggs, the Tigers' boasted kicker.

Forty thousand people saw the game.

Story of the Game
Harvard won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. Mahan returned the kick-off five yards and then punted to Tibbott in the center of the field. Mahan out-punted Driggs. He missed a goal by inches from the 50-yard line. The ball was put into play on Princeton's 25-yard line. Harvard received the punt in mid-field. She failed on a line drive and a forward pass. Mahan punted over the goal line. It was the Tigers' ball on their 25-yard line. Cornell

SMALL PAPER HAS ITS PLACE SAYS ASTORIA EDITOR

(By United Press Leased Wire.) Salem, Nov. 6.—There will always be a field for the small daily and weekly newspaper, John E. Gratke, publisher of the Astoria Budget, contended this morning before the Oregon State Editorial association. Regardless of the onslaughts of the greatest metropolitan dailies, he said the small papers will continue to thrive.

Gratke pointed out that the public will not tolerate the partisan writings of ten years ago when, he said, the republican newspapers would ridicule a democratic meeting and the democratic papers would do likewise in regard to a republican gathering.

In conclusion Gratke invited the convention to meet in Astoria next year.
