"Like Most Wives"

is the title of a dainty, little gem of a comedy,—clean, entertaining, diverting. It was written by Lois Weber for the Paramount program, and is worthy of Congreve or Sheridan. This excellent screen-brochure, together with an interesting —Animated Weekly, complete the STAR theater's six-reel program for tonight, of which —"Blackbirds," the Lasky-Belasco Paramount feature, with Laura Hope Crews, is the piece de resistance.

MISSIONS SUBJECT OF WOMAN'S MEET

The program presented yesterday afternoon at the missionary meeting of the Woman's association of the Presbyterian church was by far the best of its kind yet held, though the audience was not so large as ordinarily.

The meeting opened, as is customary, with a short devotional exercise, Mrs. H. S. Prescott leading. The program proper introduced various phases of the immigrant problem, terminating in an open discussion in which a number of speakers made a ready response.

The "really-true" story of an immigrant girl was touchingly told by Mrs. Pinkerton.

Mrs. Bestul's impersonation of "The Dago Man" was realistic, and Miss White's love song in Italian nothing less than delightful. Mrs. T. P. Cramer's practical view of the causes and effects of immigration, opened new channels of thought for her hearers. Mrs. Coustant's sketch from the Home Mission Monthly showed how some results are being obtained.

SOCIETY TO SEE PUGILISTIC MILL

New York, Mar. 24.—It begins to look as if the famous "Diamond Horseshoe" of the old Metropolitan opera house would be thrown into a cold and clammy shade by the array of socially-elect who will view the Jess Willard-Frank Moran 10-round fight through opera glasses at Madison Square garden tomorrow night.

It leaked out today that the list of rinkside reservations might look like a page from the blue book. Several hundred women will mingle their delicate perfumes with the aroma of ammonia and other well-known rinkside smells.

Among those who will be on hand to see the heavyweights pummel one another are Geraldine Farrar, the prima donna; Mary Pickford, the motion picture actress; David Belasco's daughter and many of their friends.

Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war, will be there. Also John McCormack, the Irish tenor, Jim Corbett, Robert Fitzsimmons et al.

Betting continues light. It is evident that when society begins leveling its battery of lognettes Willard will be a two-to-one favorite at the ringside.

BURNETT IMMIGRATION BILL MAY BE PASSED

Washington, Mar. 24.—Voting 282 to 74 for immediate consideration of the Burnett immigration bill, the house indicated that it would pass the measure today. The bill has been vetoed by both President Wilson and former President Taft, because it provided for a literacy test.

Opposing passage of the Burnett immigration bill, Congressman Bennett declared its passage meant war with Japan within six months.

Burnett replied that the bill was intended to keep out foreigners like those who participated in the Youngstown riots and the Lawrence textile strike.

"It is aimed," he said, "at the Industrial Workers of the World."

OBITUARY

Columbus Leroy Dillen

Columbus Leroy Dillen was born at Fennimore, Grants county, Wisconsin, February 8, 1856. In his early manhood he made his home in Boaz, Wisconsin, and was there united in marriage with Miss Naomi Smith, who survives him. They moved to Minnesota about 1880, and engaged in farming. After a short residence in that state, they moved to Liberal, Kansas, and resided there twenty years. During that period Mr. Dillen was in the mercantile business and for a number of years held the office of clerk of the county court.

At Liberal he became a Knight of Pythias and devoted a large measure of his time to furthering the interests of that order. When Mr. Dillen left Liberal the lodge showed their appreciation by giving him a paid-up policy for life.

In 1913 Mr. and Mrs. Dillen moved to Hugo, Oregon, where they still resided at the time of his death.

On March 7 Mr. Dillen went out from among us to that bourne from whence no traveler returns, sadly missed and mourned by the family and a wide circle of friends. His was not a career in the high places, but he did his whole duty as a husband, father, citizen and as a man. He had well-nigh compassed the toll of years allotted to man by the Psalmist when to him came the sun-mons which comes to all, and at the end of his earthly pilgrimage he was fully entitled to hear the commendation, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

Three daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Dillen—Mrs. E. A. Crothers, of Spokane, Washington; Mrs. George Barrett, until recently of Rupert, Idaho, and Mrs. S. S. Shoemaker, of Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Dillen's body was interred in the cemetery at Grants Pass, services being conducted at Hall's chapel by Reverend Douglas, who preached from the 90th Psalm. The services at the cemetery were conducted by the Knights of Pythias.
