GERMANS OCCUPY FRENCH POSITIONS

Paris, May 19.—By an infantry attack in which two new divisions took the lead, the Germans during the night occupied a French work south of Hill 287, it was officially admitted today. Otherwise the Germans were repulsed in attempting to throw the French from Avocourt wood, northwest of Verdun.

The infantry fighting was preceded by terrific artillery battling. When the German charge started both the Teuton wings were abruptly halted and the attackers gained only in the center, where French works were occupied, the statement said. The French retained the German fort in the Verdun region which was captured by them yesterday.

In the Argonne forest a German assault near St. Hubert was stopped. Two German aeroplanes were shot down. French defenses in the Vosges district, at Gerardmer, were shelled heavily.

1846, she was united in marriage to Herbert Jillson, the issue of the marriage being two children, a son and daughter. Her husband dying, she was thrown upon her own resources in supporting herself and children. After several years of widowhood, she came to this valley, in which her parents were living, having preceded her a few years, in the winter of 1858. In a few months following she engaged in business in Phoenix and afterward in Ashland, in Jackson county. On the 1st of September, 1867, she was united in marriage to A. N. Jones, of Cottonwood, California, and settled on a farm adjoining her father's, which she had acquired by her industry and business ability. In the fall of 1880, having sold her farm, she purchased the Wilderville farm of Mr. Wilder, and with her husband moved to the same. In 1884 she was again bereaved by the loss of her husband, her daughter-in-law and her two children by an inscrutable movement of Providence in their death by drowning in the Applegate river. Since that time she had lived on the place alone until the marriage of her daughter Edwina, the only issue of her last marriage, to C. F. Lovelace, when she passed its superintendence over to her son-in-law and lived with them until the time of her death, which occurred on the 16th inst.

She is survived by her daughters, Mrs. Lovelace of Wilderville and Lavinia Jillson of Everett, Mass.; three brothers, George W. Hoxie of Williams creek, this county, J. M. Hoxie and C. H. Hoxie, both of Wilderville.

In her early womanhood she united with the Methodist Episcopal church, in which communion and fellowship she died.
