For the Bath.

This is a fine mixture for the bath. It is sweet and refreshing to the body. Four pounds of fine oatmeal, two quarts of clean bran, one and one-half pounds of powdered arctic root, one and one-half pounds of almond meal, one pound of white castile soap, powdered and dried; three ounces of primrose sachet. Instead of placing in cheese-cloth bags, which is a wasteful way of using the delightful ment, sprinkle a little of the mixture on the moistened wash cloth.

This recipe, if rubbed well into the body, acts like magic. It certainly is simple and well worth trying. Mix a tablespoonful of lavender water with several times the amount of pure olive oil. Apply a little at a time and rub it well into the body with the entire hand, using a rotary motion. Keep the body warm while taking the treatment.

Gas Saved.

In order to economize gas, roast a small joint of meat over a gas ring instead of lighting the oven to do it. Well grease a saucepan or casserole, put the meat into it, with plenty of extra dripping, so that there shall be no risk of burning, put it over a gas jet turned very low and let it cook. Turn and baste the meat often, and it gets beautifully brown.

TILEFISH GAINS POPULARITY.

Bureau of Fisheries Aids In Extending Its Use For Food.

Noteworthy results have attended the efforts of the federal bureau of fisheries to popularize the tilefish as food, according to a commerce report. At the beginning of July, it is said, the tilefish fishery was eight months old, and during the period many Americans became acquainted with a hitherto neglected food resource. Prior to October, 1915, this fish was practically unknown in the markets.

"The fishery centers at New York," the report went, "but vessels from other ports engage in it as well. The largest number of vessels landing tilefish at New York in any one month was thirteen. From New York the fish are distributed over a wide area. In June one shipment of over 20,000 pounds was sent to Kansas City.

"The extent of the fishery from month to month has fluctuated, but the general tendency has been upward. The receipts of fish in June were about twice those of the preceding month, and reached a total of 1,128,000 pounds in twenty-six trips. The prices received by the vessels for the eviscerated fish have varied from 2 1/2 to 7 cents a pound, averaging about 5 cents. The monthly receipts at New York, in pounds, were: November, 150,500; December, 170,200; January, 308,000; February, 468,000; March, 332,000; April, 614,000; May, 504,000, and June, 1,128,000. The total for the eight months was 3,888,700 pounds.

"Adding to these the small lots of tile fish landed in October, 1915, during the progress of the publicity campaign conducted by the bureau, and the various amounts brought into Atlantic City and other points, it appears that the total quantity of tilefish caught and sold to June 30 was 4,030,000 pounds, with a value exceeding $200,000."

PERISCOPE ON RAILROAD.

Chicago Elevated Men Find New Use For Submarine Eyepiece.

Because new buildings have shut out the view of a curve from a switch tower on the Northwestern elevated railroad system in Chicago there has been built a giant periscope from the top of the tower, which permits the towerman to see around the curve.

The Scientific American contains a description of this newest use for the submarine eyepiece. It says:

"In Chicago a huge periscope is serving in a most peaceful capacity. The four track structure of the Northwestern elevated system bends around in approaching the Clark street station, where a switch tower stands. Buildings recently erected have shut off the view of approaching trains to the towerman; but, undaunted in their work, the railroad men have erected a huge periscope twelve feet in height on the roof of the signal tower. The periscope is of sufficient height to clear the intervening buildings and furnish the towerman with an unobstructed view of the tracks to the south."

Eating Like a Bird.

Birds can eat and digest from ten to thirty times as much food in proportion to their size as men can. If a man could eat as much in proportion to his size as a sparrow is able to consume he would need a whole sheep for dinner, a couple of dozen chickens for breakfast and six turkeys for his evening meal. A tree sparrow has been known to eat 700 grass seeds in a day. Relative to the bird's size, these seeds were as big as an ordinary lunch basket would be to a full grown man.
