CONVERSION IS ESSENTIAL THING

Plunging at once into the psychological side of his subject last night, Evangelist Mathis told how you may know when he is converted. "Conversion is not a minor step in life, it is the really essential thing—it is the major step. It works the magic change in the heart, and then the change without will follow as surely as the day the night. You are either serving the devil or the Lord, and conversion means a right-about-face. How can one tell when he has this newness of life, you ask. I will answer by saying that you will know even as Saul of Tarsus knew, and if you answer the Voice as he did with the cry, 'Lord, what will you have me to do?' and then follow the light given you, the fact of conversion in your life will have become evident. Do not think that because you do not experience the same kind of conversion that Paul had, that you are lacking in its fullness, for temperament of the individual enters largely into this phase of the great miracle. I am glad I live in an age when it matters not what the denominational life may be—we all work for one end, the salvation of souls. It is not the will power that keeps some in the darkness—it's the won't power. This good old book tells me that if you seek Him you shall find Him. Listen to this wonderful invitation: 'Him that cometh to me I shall in no wise cast out.' On invitation six more went forward, expressing a desire for this change in their lives.

Mathis Says
"Conversion isn't just simply wiping your eyes and blowing your nose a few times; conversion means something."

"If you never start to be a Christian until you understand everything that is in the Bible you never will start. Walk in what light you have and it won't take long to get somewhere."

"There is no honest man but what would find God if he sought Him."

"The longer you put it off the less the chances are that you will ever become a Christian."

"The difference between a moral man and a Christian man is this: the moral man lives a self-centered life and the Christian man lives a Christ-centered life."

STREAM OF MUD FLOWS DOWN MOUNT LASSEN

Redding, Cal., Nov. 1.—A steady stream of mud is flowing from the crater of Mount Lassen, California's volcano, down the northwestern slope into Manzanita lake, according to advices received here today from that vicinity. This is declared to have been going on for weeks, and it is predicted that eventually the lake, which is a quarter of a mile long and an eighth of a mile wide, will be filled up.

CHIHUAHUA CITY LOSES COMMUNICATION NORTH

El Paso, Nov. 1.—Chihuahua City is cut off from communication with the northern Mexican border today. Villista bandits are reported to have cut the railway and telegraph lines within one hundred and twenty-five miles of Juarez yesterday, and train service between border points and the Chihuahua capital has ceased for the present.

MAKING TEST RUN ON DOROTHEA MINE

The Dorothea, a gold mining property on Coyote creek, in the northern part of Josephine county, is commencing a test run of its five-stamp mill, and if satisfactory results are obtained will install a larger mill and operate upon extensive lines. The Dorothea is owned by Mrs. J. F. Reddy, that lady having purchased it early last spring. It has 3,000 feet of underground work, with good ore bodies in sight, and the work is being directed by Andrew Praier, a mining engineer from Spokane, who is employing 10 men at the present time. A thirty-day run will determine the quality of the ore in the mine and the most profitable methods of handling it, after which it will be placed upon a permanent operating basis. The Dorothea is located near the Greenback, one of the famous producers of a few years ago.

MORE WAR WITH BITTER WEATHER

Berlin, via Saville, Nov. 1.—Repulse of British troops north of the Somme was announced officially by the war office today.

"The weather is growing brighter in the Somme district, and in several sections lively artillery action was begun," said the statement. "In the evening hours the English advanced from Courcellette and, with strong forces from the line of Guedecourt, began the attack. North of Courcellette the attack was unable to advance against our fire. West of Transloy it broke down under losses, in some places in hand-to-hand fighting.

"Army group of the crown prince (Verdun)—The artillery duel on the east bank of the Meuse was only temporarily active."

A supplementary statement declared that artillery activity was strong only north of the Somme, and added that Fort Vaux came under heavy fire of French guns on the northeastern front of Verdun.

MANY ELECTION BETS IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 1.—A cool million or more has poured into the New York betting ring in presidential wagers so far, according to Wm. Marco, of Wasserman Brothers, brokers, today. He sized upon the betting thus far as being "quiet and heavy," with the emphasis on both the "quiet" and the "heavy." "At the outset," he said, "the bettors were so sure of Hughes' election that they were willing to offer almost any odds. For that reason they were giving 2 1/2 to one, or two to one, for awhile. The Wilson money became plentiful and a lot of folk, especially the little fellows, got scared and hedged. That made the odds shift round until they got to even money. "Now they hedged by betting on Wilson. The odds are shifting again. All the bets are not getting into the papers, either. I know of one bet of $49,000 on Hughes."
