Rain a Big Help— Great benefit will result from the present rains, according to ranchers, while little damage will be done hay crops. About three-fourth of an inch of rain has fallen during the past two days and if the precipitation continues for two or three days more—and there are good indications of it doing so—fall plowing can be commenced. The moisture will help round out late pears and apples. The rain seems to be general over the south and west parts of the state.
