300,000 Maxwells to Date; 100,000 More This Year

THIS shows the rapidly growing appreciation of the Maxwell.

A desire for a car that has proved its worth in many latitudes and many longitudes.

A liking for the long run the tires give, for the definite and extended mileage from gas and oil.

A fondness for a car that expresses reliability in a most decisive way.

This year, more than any before, the 300,000 idea behind the Maxwell has increased in public favor.

And as a result less than 60% of those seeking a Maxwell will be able to have one.

100,000—one-third as many as are in existence today—are being built this year.

That means one every 1 1/2 minutes of the working day.

These new post war features, which have classified it as the Post-War Maxwell, are well spoken of everywhere. That's but one reason why the drift is towards Maxwell.

Compare it point for point with any car under $1200 and you will more readily understand.
