D. A. Brakeman, postmaster and merchant at Waverly, has announced himself as a candidate for commissioner at the primaries. Mr. Brakeman is a progressive man and one who would take an interest in the welfare of the county should he be chosen to fill the office to which he aspires.

P. S. Weittenhiller returned home Wednesday after an absence of several weeks spent in the middle western states. He finds conditions quite promising in that territory and looks for considerable activity in real estate in this section as a result of many from the middle west coming out to invest. Mr. Weittenhiller thinks that when the railroad gets to Crane Creek we will have no further trouble in getting people in and the subsequent development of this big agricultural section.

Judge H. C. Levens has announced as a candidate for county judge. He was judge of this county for one term and is therefore familiar with the duties of the office. Having his business in such shape that he can devote his entire time to the office should he be elected is a matter that will bring him support, as it is to the best interests of the county to have a judge right at the county seat and always in a position to care for probate other business coming before the court. Another matter that is of particular interest in the roads. By his devoting his spare time to roads it will bring this important work more directly under the supervision of the court. Judge Levens enjoys the confidence of a large number of substantial men throughout the county and they have confidence in his ability to give good service should he be elected.

The Times-Herald raised the salary of the stock inspector to such an amount in its report of court proceedings that one of our good citizens who always has a grouch when the court, or any one else for that matter, spends a dollar, is said to have suffered a stroke of apoplexy. The compositor added one too many ciphers was all that was wrong with it.

The Monday morning exercises at the public school last Monday were given by the third grade and Miss Hodder had her pupils render a "Dixie Land" program that was very entertaining and interesting. She had recently received a box of southern vegetation from a relative and this proved a great help to her pupils, none of whom were familiar with the tropics. The orange blossoms and other specimen received were much admired. The Monday morning exercises of the public school are of a character that reflects the practical training our school children are receiving under the able instruction of the present corps of teachers.

Chas. Owen was down from Silvie during the week.

NOTICE.
