From the Washington Star, July 24. A Man proposing to Marry another Man. Some time ago, it will be remembered, a singular case came up in the Richmond (Virginia) Courts, in which a young man named Lipscomb sued an other young man named Thomas Linton, for breach

Linton, it seems, was of such remarkably feminine appearance that his friends easily persuaded Lipscomb that he was a female in disguise, and so enamored did he become of Linton as to ask and receive a promise of marriage, which, of course, the latter was unable to fulfill. But, on attempting to explain why he could not 'come to time,' the fond "lover" wouldn't believe a word of it, and full in the belief that his enamorata was a woman, and nothing short, he sued for breach of promise The case created no little excitement in Rich-

Sagacious Doc .- A broker in Chicago has a dog, remarkable for its intelligence. Every Saturday morning the dog receives from its master a one dollar bill, which it carries carefully to market, and with which it pays its meat bill for the week. One day through press of basiness, the broker neglected to give Bepo his customary allowance, and through street and warehouse, mart and exchange, the dog followed his master, who wondered at such unusual attendance. At last, snugly ensenneed in his office chair, the broker had time to recollect the cause of honest Bepo's pertinacity, and, carefully taking a bill from his pocket, he threw it to the dog, expecting to see him depart as usual. But to his surprise and annoyance, the dog, placing his forepaw upon the note, gave four sharp backs in rapid succession, and continued this interesting performance until his master angrily snatched up the note, and found the cause of the noise explained-the bill was discounted for four per cent.

Alien Suffrage. Notwithstanding the fact that this question, during the last session of Congress, attracted as much of the serious attention of the Senate as any other single question that was present ed for its consideration; was warmly disthe Northern and Southern Senators; and is as prominently an issue before the people as any other question of the day, the democratic press has attempted to brand it as a humbug, as they do all questions, out of which they cannot make capital for themselves. They have sedulously avoided a discussion of its merits; and have, so far as they were their readers in ignorance of its nature and merits. At the outset of the canvass, Gen. Harris, while expressing himself content with the laws of Tennessee, making citizenship indispensable to suffrage, took bold ground in favor of alien suffrage, and defended it as a just ry if these indignant denunciations of the Finding the doctrine unpopular and loathsome tion of Georgia, does not savor somewhat of to the people, the redoubtable champion of dissatisfaction. the democracy, later in the canvass, changes his tactics, and defends the action of Congress, in organizing the territorial governments, allowing unnaturalized persons to vote in the first election, leaving it to the territorial Legislature thereafter to fix the qualification of voters. Is New York an American City?

It is hardly worth while to multiply words, or to waste breath in further demonstrating the now sufficiently self-evident fact, that a large proportion of the foreign population of this city are animated by a spirit of opposition to law, which, if not speedily suppre-sed, will render a standing army, to keep the peace, just as much of a necessity, here, as it is in point to the last, and would not suffer him to | the large cities of Europe. The spirit is imported from abroad, and it is a sorry reflection, that so far from meeting unanimous discouragement here it is directly strengthened and winked at by not a few native born demagogues, whose political ambition is too often paramount to the commonest obligaconservative democrat in the State from his the Continent in 1848, in wreaking its vengeance on tions of patriotism. The revolutionary frenzy on crowned heads and hereditary despotisms, forgot, in the progress of its excesses, to pay respect, or defer to, authority of any kind, and hence the paspowerful dictation of partizan leaders. If you are not, then give the street mobs, -sometimes organized, -sometimes unorganized, -as in Paris, and Berlin, in Vienna, and Rome. After the first flush of revolutionary success, those excesses naturally wrought a re-action. The substantial classes of France, Germany, Nashville organ denies that he ever favored worse things than the strong government of a King such a principle. That paper has shown a or an Emperor, - and hence, the heels overhead Rome, which had shown such a tendency to mistake License for Liberty,-and so mistaking, to de-Reign of Terror-was soon extinguished in the name of "Law and Order." Kings picked up their crowns again, and many of the restless spirits which to quit the Continent, or bazard the prospect of a inches deep, and another was wounded quite as ties, and intensifies its own shame. Here are of banishment beyond sea. In 1849 and 1850 it life-long sejourn in state prisons or in some place is well known, there was a wholesale emigration of persons of this description to the United States; many of them were notorious Red Republicans, and some of them-like Herr Hecker (who campaigned so zealously for Fr. mont last fall) - pushed their way westward; but the great mejority, believing that the revolutionary fires would again burst out in Europe, and wishing to be as near the conflagration as possible, made their headquarters here-and here they are. From 1850 to the present time, the German immigration has been steadily on the increase. German revolutionary ideas have likewise been on the increase. One of these ideas is, that the theatres, the dancing houses, and the lager bier saloons, should be kept open on Sun-Another of these ideas is that any attempt to close one or the other in an infringement of their "religious liberty," and, as such, ought to be resisted, -as it was resisted, the other day, in the 17th Ward, by stoning and clubbing the police. Never having been permitted any real liberty at home, -never having had the privilege of resorting to the ballot box to right, in a quiet way, a political wrong, they are unable to appreciate that sublime American principle, which teaches observance to all laws, -no matter how objectionable these laws may be, - until they are legally undone by the people themselves, in due time, at the ballot box. Being for the most part men of active, restless intellects, and carried away by the freedom of speech, here, which was forbidden at home, it is no wonder that foreigners of this description embark so largely in American politics. It is no wonder, either, that they should have loving overtures from a sec-Kentucky, and expressing sympathy with the Black | tional "Republican" party, which not only promises the freest play to the loose European notions of obligation to law, but actually numb rs among its eaders Apostles of Fourierism, Socialism, and other French and German sentimentalities, -in practice utterly incompatible with the well being of America. In this way, Foreignism is come to be a mighty power in this metropolis. It knows this, as well as we do, -and it begins to put forth its strength in a good, most ominous and forbidding form. The mob that got the better of the police, in the 17th ward, the other day, was a European, not an American mob. Threats against the policy were uttered in a strange tongue-by the same fierce looking men, who, in the some strange tongue, shouted so hoarsely for 'Fremont and Freedom," without knowing what Freedom was-last Presidential election. That Seventeenth Ward, remember, was for two entire days in the complete possession of this foreign mo ; the police had been beaten back and could do nothing-and when that mob at length dispersed, it did so with an apparent consciousness that it had for once got the better of the civil authorities, and was obliged to succumb, in the end, only to a threatened demonstration of artillery and bayonets .-Now,-these are ugly facts-not rhetoric-nor special pleating, -to promote any party or political purpose whatsoever. And the question which such troubles provoke must force itself upon every candid thoughtful mind. Is it not time-high time for Americans all to wake up to a sense of the dangers which threaten us by the fatal predominance given, and to be given by American Black Republicans to European Red Republicans? Are European assassins, who have not been long enough among us, to speak a syllable of English-are European assassins to sack our stores and shoot down our policemen? Is our city to be the common rendezvous of all the thieves, murderers and assassins who have been transferred to our shores from the jails of Paris, Antwerp, Hamburg, Berlin, Vi enna, Florence, Leghorn, Genoa and Rome?-be-
